INTRODUCTION.

THE aphorism—"Know thyself"—was held in great veneration by the ancients. It acquired the authority of a divine oracle. It was supposed to have originated from Apollo himself, and was inscribed in golden capitals over the door of his temple at Delphi. The duty it prescribes has a still higher authority, recognized, as it often is, in the Christian Revelation. But how can we fully know ourselves without some knowledge of those who gave us being, and of the circumstances which have made us what we are?

Though it be true that every man is an individual, and every man is responsible, and is held responsible before all tribunals, human and divine, as well as at the bar of conscience and common sense, for his own character and doings; it is also true that many different causes go to form a man's character, and serve to account in part, at least, for his actions. The Englishman, the Frenchman, the Spaniard, the American savage, as well as the New-England man, are to a very great extent what their ancestors were before them. The strongest appeals, next to those coming from the eternal world, arise from history. The strength of England is fed by memories of Agincourt and Waterloo; of the United States, by recollections of Bunker Hill and Gettysburg. What is thus true of nations is equally true of families. Not to dishonor their ancestors, operates powerfully on all young men of generous dispositions.

A desire to trace one's lineage and to perpetuate this knowledge, has always existed among civilized people, and to some extent among barbarians, from the remotest ages. It is a principle of our nature, implanted by the Author of our being, for wise and benevolent purposes. He has largely appealed to it in the revelation he has given us. How often did he set before his ancient people the example of their progenitors, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob! Indeed, the Bible, from beginning to end, may be regarded as a history, in the form either of narrative or of prophecy. The motives drawn from history are thus recognized as of paramount importance.*

Daniel Webster, a close observer of the motives and impulses which govern mankind, has said: "It is a noble faculty of our nature which enables us to connect our thoughts, our sympathies, and our happiness, with what is distant in place or time; and looking before and after, to hold communion at once with our ancestors and our posterity. There is also a moral and philosophical respect for our ancestors, which elevates the character and improves the heart." "Those who are regardless of their ancestors, do not perform their duty to the world."

* "To trace lineage—to love and record the names and actions of those without whom we could never have been, who moulded and made us what we are, and whom the very greatest of us all must know to have propagated influences into his being, which must subtly but certainly act upon his whole conduct in this world—all this is implied in ancestry and the love of it, and is natural and good."—Westminster Review, July, 1853.

The hand of that Being who controls all events, and rules equally in the affairs of families and of nations, can be seen in all the transactions and movements of human life; and it is indicative of an intelligent and pious mind to notice that governing Hand in all that takes place. In the Memorials which follow, it is not difficult to perceive, at almost every step of the way, that guiding, controlling Providence. This volume has not been compiled for the gratification of a mere idle, useless curiosity, but to preserve the memory of the process by which, under the blessing of God, the offspring of a poor and apparently friendless man, who landed on these shores two and a quarter centuries ago, with nothing to depend upon but his good name and the labor of his hands from day to day, have increased in number and in worldly goods to their present desirable position. To God be all the praise.

It is therefore extremely unreasonable for a man to pretend that he owes nothing to his ancestors, and cares not to know who or what they were. Such a man goes contrary to nature and to the principles which have operated on the minds of the wise and good in all ages. He cares more for the fleeting pleasures of an hour than for the generous impulses of the past, or the controlling influences of the future. Reverence for one's ancestors has ever been regarded as essential to a sound and virtuous character. The ancient heathen preserved with great care the effigies of their progenitors. Cicero appeals powerfully to this cherished sentiment in his most impassioned orations.

It is and must be exceedingly interesting to every thoughtful man, to consider what his ancestors were two hundred and fifty years ago, in contrast with the present. Our ancestors came to these shores to obtain relief from oppression the most galling and intolerable. They left the green fields of Old England for a howling wilderness. Influenced by the highest and noblest impulses, they came here to serve God and to extend the kingdom of his Son. They encountered hardship and suffering in almost every form. They struggled with difficulties and trials of which we can scarcely have an adequate conception. They were continually in danger from the tomahawk of the savage and from the perfidy of a corrupt and profligate court. Very few of them descended from the titled families of the Old World; yet theirs were an elevation of aim, a purity of purpose, a steadiness of resolve, a fortitude under trial, a sense of responsibility to God, never seen before. To have sprung from such men is a higher nobility than to have in our veins the blood of kings or princes. God was with them in an eminent degree, and through his blessing on their endeavors we are what we are.

Considerations such as these have prompted the preparation of this book. The Upton Family have done their part in the recovery of the soil of the new world from the neglect and waste of thousands of years, while trodden only by the foot of the wandering savage; and in working out those great problems of social life, which have made our nation what it is. They acted well their part in the Revolutionary strife, and in the struggle, scarcely less arduous, which lately ended in the triumph of universal liberty and equal rights. Many of them shed their blood on the field of battle. Let not their names be left to moulder in the graves where their mortal remains are deposited.

The reader should understand that for the erection of this monument to a worthy family, and for any satisfaction obtained by him from the ensuing volume, he is indebted to the generous spirit of the Hon. George Bruce Upton, of Boston. Too much praise can scarcely be bestowed on one who devotes the gains of an active life and an almost world-wide commerce to a commemoration of a large and respectable family. Let others follow an example so worthily set.

No efforts in the power of the compiler have been spared to procure the information requisite for this volume, and to have it authentic and reliable. With little or no exception it is based on public or family records, or the knowledge of persons now living. More than three years have been occupied in collecting the material and arranging it for the press. None but those familiar with such labors can duly estimate the care and the toil involved in such an affair. Journeys have been performed to different places. The records of many towns and counties have been carefully examined, and numerous letters written and received. The utmost care has been exercised to avoid errors; yet in a work like this, errors are unavoidable.

To the numerous correspondents who have furnished valuable information, the compiler tenders his hearty thanks. He is happy to say that in the great majority of cases he has found a ready coöperation in the persons, living in various parts of the land, from whom he has sought material for this work. The number is extremely small, not exceeding two or three, who have refused to answer the call thus made upon them. Still, the compiler regrets that from this or a similar cause, he has been compelled to omit notices of some branches of the Upton Family which are known to exist even in Massachusetts. EXPLANATIONS.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

THE plan of this volume is simple. A consecutive numbering runs through the whole, so far as the name of Upton is concerned, beginning with JOHN UPTON, the original emigrant, who is supposed to have come to this country not far from 1650. This numbering is found on the left hand of the page, before the name of each individual in the series of his recorded descendants. Thus, on page 34, are found ten children of William Upton^2, of Danvers, numbered from 25 to 34 inclusive.

This mark,† immediately following a consective number and preceding a name, denotes that a distinct and additional notice of the person to whom that number belongs is reserved for a separate and subsequent paragraph. The place where this promise is fulfilled may be found by looking for the same consecutive number in heavy type, like this, 28, in the middle of a line, and occupying a line by itself. Thus, Paul Upton, whose consecutive number, found on page 34, is 28, is afterwards found on page 51, as the head of a family.

Only one consecutive number belongs to an individual. By means of this, and in the use of a copious index at the end of the volume, he is immediately found, and his ancestry and posterity are easily traced.

If there be occasion to mention an individual elsewhere, his place in the series is indicated by his consecutive number in brackets: thus, [150].

A small figure after a name and just above the line, thus, Samuel Upton^3, denotes the generation in which the individual belongs, and serves in part to distinguish him from others of the same name.

The name at the head, or parent of each separate family, is found at the beginning of the notice of such family, printed in CAPITALS. It is found to be a great convenience to insert, immediately after the parent's name, the names of his or her American progenitors, thus: BENJAMIN UPTON^5, (Paul^{4}, Caleb^{3}, William^{2}, John^{1}). This device, now commonly found in books of Genealogy, was first used in one of the compiler's publications.

The families are ranged in the order of seniority, as they occur in the second generation.

When a town is named without any specification of State, Massachusetts is to be understood, unless the place be universally known.

Previous to the year 1752, two methods of reckoning time existed in Great Britain and her colonies. According to one of these methods, the year began on the 25th of March, and March was the first month, while February was the twelfth. This was the civil, legal, or ecclesiastical year. According to the other method, the year began, as among the Romans, on the first of January; this was the historical year, closing with December. In old records these two methods were frequently combined, thus: February 9, 1723–4, which means that the year was 1723 of the civil, but 1724 of the historical year. Where this practice of "double dating" is not resorted to, it is sometimes difficult to understand to which year the transaction mentioned is to be referred.

To find the name of an individual recorded in this volume: Suppose it to be John Upton, the father of Ebenezer Sprague Upton, a trader in South Danvers, now the town of Peabody. The name John Upton is of frequent occurrence in this book. This John was born in 1746. Find the name of John among the christian names of the Uptons in Index I., preceded by 1746, the year of his birth, and following the name is the consecutive number 96, which you will find in its proper place in the body of the work.

THE UPTON MEMORIAL.

THE family of Upton dates back in England as far as the time of the Conquest. At that time, or soon after, we find that family, then spelling their name De Uppeton, settled at Upton in Cornwall. From the extreme age of the original pedigree, still in existence at Ingmire Hall in Westmoreland, some of the earlier names and dates are illegible. But from the twelfth century, the descent continues, in an unbroken line, down to John Uppeton, de Uppeton, of Upton, Cornwall.

Arthur Upton, Esquire, of Lupton, elder brother of the chevalier John Upton, knight of Malta,* of whom we have the honorable record below, and grandson of John Upton of Lupton,

* "Le Chevalier Upton, commandeur Anglois, et un des plus braves chevaliers de l'Ordre, à la tête de trente autres, et suivi de quatre cents habitans de l'Isle, tous à cheval, se présenta fièrement au bord de la mer du côté du bourg, pour s'opposer aux descentes or L'Upton, in Devonshire, by Joan his wife, daughter and heir of Sir Wincomb Raleigh, knt., was the fourth in descent from the marriage of John Upton, Esq., younger son of John Upton of Trelaske, Cornwall, with Agnes, sister and heiress of John Peniles of Lupton. He [Arthur] married Gertrude, daughter of Hugh Fortescue, Esq., of Filleigh, and had issue as follows: —

I. John, his heir.
II. Henry, ancestor of the Uptons, lords Templetown.
III. Hugh.
IV. Arthur.
V. Anne.
VI. Elizabeth, married to John Hele, Esq., of Diptford, in Devon.

The eldest son, John Upton, Esq., of Lupton, in 1620 married Dorothy, daughter of Sir Anthony Rous, knt., of Halton, Cornwall, and had seven sons and eight daughters. Of the former, the eldest, Arthur Upton, Esq., of Lupton, married Elizabeth, relict of Robert Haydon, Esq.,

"The knight Upton, an English commander, and one of the bravest knights of the Order, at the head of thirty others, and followed by four hundred inhabitants of the island, all on horseback, boldly presented himself on the seaside near the city, to oppose any landing which the Turks might attempt to make, 1551."—[History of the Order of Malta, by Vertot.

and daughter of William Gould, Esq., and had issue: —

I. John, of Lupton, M. P. for Dartmouth, Devon, who died childless in 1687.
II. Arthur, who died unmarried.
III. William, who alone had issue.

The last named, William Upton, Esq., of Lupton, married Catharine, youngest daughter of Sir John Otway, of Ingmire Hall, and had issue.

The second, but eldest surviving son and heir, of this marriage, John Upton, Esq., of Ingmire Hall, married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Boucher, Esq., of Twickenham, county of Middlesex, near London, the favorite residence of Pope and of Horace Walpole.

We might continue the record of this family of Uptons down to the present day; but must content ourselves with saying that the family has continued to reside till now at Ingmire Hall, Kendal, Westmoreland, and that its marriage connections have been with families of eminent respectability. There are eight or ten other families, bearing the name of Upton, found in Burke's General Armory, from which the preceding details are derived.

Upton is also the name of a market-town in Worcestershire, situated on the river Severn, eleven miles south of Worcester, and 109 west-north-west of London.

It appears that the name of Upton is among the most ancient of English names. The family originated in Cornwall many hundred years ago, spread its branches through England, Scotland and Ireland; and in the arts of war, as well as of peace, has produced its full share of distinguished and substantial men.

The progenitor of the name in this country was JOHN UPTON, a Scotchman by birth, who came hither about the year 1652, and settled at what was then Salem village, but for more than a century past has been known as the town of Danvers, in Massachusetts.

In preparing this Memorial, no investigation has been made of his connection with the family of that name in Great Britain; it being sufficient for the present purpose to trace from him, as the original of the name here, the branches of what is now a numerous and wide-spread family.

FIRST GENERATION.

I.

John Upton,[1] as we have said, is the ancestor of all in this country who bear the name of Upton, so far as we have any knowledge. Tradition, apparently well supported, relates that he came from Scotland; but as the name savors of an English origin, he may have been born in some adjacent county of England, perhaps Westmoreland, where, as we have seen, the name has been found for two centuries, and which formerly belonged to the kingdom of Scotland. The time of his removal to America was a time of great commotion in the mother country; and there seems to be no improbability in what the tradition further relates, viz., that he was one of the Scottish prisoners taken by Cromwell, either at the battle of Dunbar, Sept. 3, 1650, or at the battle of Worcester, just a twelvemonth later.

It is a little remarkable, though perhaps of no special significance, that the battle of Worcester was fought very nigh the town of Upton; that Lambert, with a part of Cromwell's army, held Upton church in the face of the enemy during some days previous; and that Fleetwood, with a strong division, crossed Upton bridge, over the Severn, on the evening before the battle, to attack the Scottish posts about the suburb of St. John, on the west side of the river, a short distance below Worcester, and on the opposite side from that city.

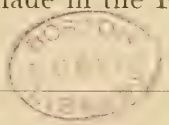
In the battle of Dunbar, ten thousand Scottish prisoners fell into the hands of Cromwell; in the battle of Worcester, about seven thousand, many of them persons of quality. Hundreds of them were sent to this country; but whether John Upton was one of them, we have no means of ascertaining.*

* "Two hundred and seventy of these Scottish prisoners were sent to Boston, where descendants of some of them still dwell. They were cared for in their poverty by some countrymen of theirs already established in that place."—[Palfrey's Hist. of N. E., vol. ii: p. 280, note.

A list of the 270 Scottish prisoners sent over in 1652, or rather in 1651, may be seen in the Genealogical Register, i: 378, 379; also in Mr. S. G. Drake's valuable work, entitled "The Founders of New England:" Boston, 1860: pp. 74—76. It is copied from a list found in Suffolk Registry of Deeds, vol. 1: fol. 5, 6. It is headed "A list of the passengers aboard the John & Sarah of London, John Greene, master, bound for New England, Gravesend, 8 Nov., 1651. Sent by order of Parliament dated Oct. 20, 1651." To the list is added, "Entered and recorded at the request of Mr. Thomas Kemble, 14 May, 1652. Edward Rawson, Recorder." The vessel was con-

Tradition also reports that his wife's name was Eleanor Stuart, a woman of Scottish birth, and a strong adherent of the unfortunate royal house of that name. We are told that she had anticipated his coming, and was here on his arrival. How much stress should be placed upon these traditions, we cannot say. We know, however, from his will, that his wife's name was Eleanor.

It seems quite probable, from these traditions and for other reasons, that he was of the Scotch Presbyterian church, and that for this form of Christianity he retained a strong preference till the close of his life. It is pretty certain that he was not a member of any Congregational church, for, though a man of comparatively large means and of good character, he was not admitted a freeman of the colony till April 18, 1691, after the Revolution in England, and after some modifications had been made in the Freeman's Oath in Massachusetts.



signed with her passengers to Thomas Kemble of Charlestown, by John Becx, Robert Rich and William Greene, of London. The names are for the most part unquestionably Scotch; but John Upton is not among them.

From a letter to Cromwell, written by Rev. John Cotton of Boston, July 28, 1651, it appears that a consignment of Scottish prisoners had arrived at that place previously to the date of this letter.—[See Felt's Eccl. Hist. of N. E., ii: 47.

We first meet with his name on record under date of December 26, 1658, when Henry Bullock of Salem, for the consideration of four pounds, conveys to John Upton, "sometime of Hammersmith,* forty acres of upland within the limits of Salem," bounded north on land of Daniel Rumboll, south on land of Thomas and George Gardner.†

From the mention of Hammersmith in this document, we are led to the conjecture that John Upton had some connection with the Lynn Iron Works, but of what nature we are not informed. The "Company of Undertakers" failed in 1653, and their entire property in Lynn and Braintree was attached, and came into the possession of Thomas Savage, Henry Webb, and other gentlemen of Boston, who had advanced money for the undertaking. This may have caused some change in John Upton's affairs.

As children were born to Mr. Upton as early as 1656, we infer that his marriage with Eleanor

* Hammersmith was the name given to the Lynn Iron Works. These works were within the present town of Saugus, about eight miles from Boston. They were established in 1645, by a "Company of Undertakers" in London. About the same time, or a year earlier, iron works were also commenced in Braintree, on the other side of Boston, by the same company.

† Essex Registry of Deeds, Salem District, lib. 2 : 46.

took place about 1655, and that he may have been born about 1625 or 1630.

His next purchase of land is dated April 6, 1662, when Daniel Rumboll of Salem, blacksmith, for ten pounds sterling, conveyed to "John Upton of the same place, husbandman," fourscore acres of land as it now lies bounded out by the town of Salem, it being a great lot formerly granted and laid out to the said Daniel by the said town, which said land is situated and lying in the liberties of Salem, and is bounded south on land of said John Upton, formerly bought of Henry Bullock: on the west, north and east on the common, i. e. on the common land,—land not yet granted.*

John Upton made another purchase of land 1671. We find a deed dated Nov. 27 in that year, wherein James Hogg of Salem, planter, for twenty pounds, conveys to John Upton of Salem, forty acres of land in the bounds of Salem, bounded west and north with land of Lieut. George Gardner, and of the said John Upton, and John Robinson, Richard Hollingsworth †

† Richard Hollingsworth was the father of Mary, the wife of Philip English, a wealthy merchant of Salem, who was, during the delusion of 1692, accused of witchcraft, and, with his wife, kept in and John Tompkins ; east with the farm of Joseph Pope deceased.*

The documents already quoted make it appear that John Upton owned about one hundred and sixty acres of land, lying in the south-west corner of what was long known as "Salem Village," most of which is now included in the town of Danvers. His land lay together, and joined the farm of Joseph Pope, whose widow, Gertrude, owned and occupied that farm in 1672 ; and whose great-granddaughter Hannah married Israel Putnam, July 19, 1739. His land also joined the land of Thomas and George Gardner, sons of Thomas Gardner, and brothers of that heroic captain, Joseph Gardner, who fell in the assault on the Narragansett fort, Dec. 19, 1675. His land, we may also say, was near the south line of the present town of Danvers, about half a mile from the present line of Lynnfield, one mile south of Ipswich River, and two miles west of what has lately been known as the Newburyport turnpike. It was about two miles and a half from the spot where he afterwards lived in North jail nine weeks in Salem and Boston.—[See Upham's Salem Witchcraft, vol ii : pp. 128, 136, 142, 478.] Hollingsworth probably lived within the present bounds of Salem.

Reading, and the residence of his great-grandson, Benjamin Upton, Esq., of that town. He had for neighbors, the Popes, the Gardners, the Flints, the Walcots and the Smiths. Giles Corey, who was inhumanly pressed to death in 1692, for refusing to plead to the charge of witchcraft, lived within two miles of his house. Bald Hill rose about a mile east of his dwelling.* The homestead of John Upton, in Danvers, has continued in the possession of his descendants to the present day, unless sold since 1849. At that time it was owned by Mr. Eli Upton.† Two houses have been erected on the spot.

During the latter years of his residence there, Salem Village was disturbed with controversies about boundaries with the neighboring towns, especially with Topsfield, and with that part of its own town which now constitutes the city of Salem, and with strifes and dissensions among its own people. Discord, mutual distrust and fierce passion prevailed through the entire community. Wrong and injustice inflicted by neighbor upon neighbor for many years, and the unhappy state of feeling thus engendered, prepared the way for the scenes of 1692, at which the world still stands aghast. We find no evidence, however, that John Upton or any of his family were involved in these unhappy transactions. Indeed, long before the delusion of 1692, John Upton had removed from the place, leaving his sons William and Samuel, loving brothers as they were, to occupy his farm in Danvers. Within six years after his settlement in that place, he had made large purchases of land in North Reading, two or three miles from his house.

1664, Nov. 10.—There are of this date two deeds on record, in the Middlesex Registry, of land sold to him by Thomas Clark of Reading. The consideration in each is the same,—twenty-one pounds; the area in each is about the same, in the one case being two hundred and seventy-seven acres of upland and nine acres of meadow; in the other, two hundred and seventy acres of upland and ten acres of meadow; all in Reading. The boundaries are almost precisely the same, though somewhat indefinite. In both cases, Ipswich River runs along the southerly side of the meadow. In one case, a highway ten poles broad bounds the upland on the north, and another of the same width is on the south.* This land was in the north-east part of what is now North Reading.

1667, April 1.—Isaac Hart of Reading, for a cow received in exchange, sells to John Upton, whose residence is not given, forty acres of upland in Reading, which was sometime in the possession of George Lilley, bounded east with land that was Thomas Clarke's, west with land of Nicholas Browne, and north and south with a highway. Also thirty-one poles of meadow.† This land joined the previous purchase on the west.

1668, Feb. 1.—Jeremiah Sawin of Reading, for 22*s.* 6*d.*, sells to John Upton half an acre and seven poles of meadow, lying on the north side of Ipseage River, also a quarter of an acre and twenty-eight poles of meadow on the north side of said river, all in Reading.‡

Following this are four deeds of land, mostly of meadow, on the north side of Ipswich River, in Reading, dated in the years 1668, 1669, 1672 and 1673, conveyed to John Upton by Thomas 1676, March 30.—Matthew Edwards of Reading, for thirty pounds, sells to John Upton fifty-seven acres of land in Reading, adjoining to the farm that was Mr. Bellingham's farm. . . . . and so on to Salem line.*

The deed last quoted points out pretty definitely the location of John Upton's possessions in North Reading. A farm was laid out by the General Court of Massachusetts, Nov. 5, 1639, for Richard Bellingham, who had been Deputy Governor, was then an Assistant or Senator, and afterwards Governor, consisting of 700 acres of upland, and "about 100 or 150 acres of meadow" beside. This farm was sold March 9, 1660, to Bray Wilkins and John Gingle, for 250 pounds. This magnificent area extended about two miles in length along the Reading line. It included Will's Hill; was reputed then to belong to Salem Village [Danvers]; in 1728 it was included in the town of Middleton.†

* Ibid., 6: 359.

† Upham's Salem Witchcraft, i: 144, 240.

1677–8, March 18.—Thomas Hodgman of Reading, for five pounds, sells to John Upton forty-seven acres of land in Reading, bounded east on land of John Upton, north by a highway, south by a highway.*

In the previous deeds of land in Reading, sold to John Upton, no mention is made of Mr. Upton's residence. The next deed settles this point.

1678, Aug. 7.—Captain George Corwin of Salem, for £2 12*s.* current money of New England, sells to John Upton of Reading, one acre and twenty-five poles of meadow in Reading, lying below a bridge called by the name of Andover bridge, near to the land of John Upton, and bounded south on Ipswich River.†

Hence it appears that John Upton began to live in what is now North Reading, and on the north side of Ipswich River, some time previous to August, 1678, but after 1671, when he was a resident of Danvers. In the intervening years, and indeed since 1664, he was adding largely to his property in Reading.

1691, May 27.—John Person of Lynn, yeoman, and Tabitha his wife, for twenty pounds current money of New England, sells to John Upton, senior, of Reading, yeoman, 120 acres of upland in Reading, bounded south with a highway, north with Swan Pond.§

farm, also a tract of land and meadow bounded east by the Gusset, south by Swan Pond.*

1687, July 20.—John Scollay and John Ross, senior, of Malden, for £30, sell to John Upton, senior, of Reading, 172 acres of upland and eight acres of meadow in Reading. The meadow lies on both sides of Martin's River.†

These numerous conveyances of land show that John Upton was an active, energetic, enterprising man; and very successful in the management of his affairs. He began, probably, with nothing; and, by good economy and careful diligence, acquired a handsome estate. This will also be manifest when we come to his will, which appears below. He was admitted freeman April 18, 1691. He died July 11, 1699, aged, as we suppose, a little more than seventy.

His will is dated November 16, 1697; it was proved July 31, 1699; recorded in the Middlesex Probate Records, vol. 9: pp. 531—536. It is here given in full, copied verbatim et literatim from the record, not only as a relic of the olden time, and as a curiosity worthy of preservation, but also for its intrinsic importance, and the ancestral interest it possesses.

WILL OF JOHN UPTON. 1697.

In the name of God, Amen. The sixteenth day of Novemb^r, in the year of our Lord God one thousand six hundred ninety and seven I John Upton sen^r, of y^e town of Redding in the County of Middlesex in the Province of Massachusetts Bay in New England husbandman being very weak in body, but of p^rfect mind & memory thanks be given unto God therefore, calling unto minde y^e mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed unto all men once to die do make and ordain this my last will and testament.

That is to say, principally and first of all I give and recomend my Soul into the hands of God that gave it, and for my body I commend it to the Earth to be buried in a Christian like and decent manner at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the Generall Resurrection I shall receive the same by the Almighty power of God. And as touching the worldly estate that it pleased God to bless me with in this life, I give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and forme:

Imprimis. There is a further token of his cherished remembrance of the Fatherland; we mean the entail of the testator's land attempted in the tenth article. Attempts of this nature have not unfrequently been made, but to little purpose. The practice of entailing estates was never consonant with the genius of the people of this country, the policy having always existed here of favoring the free alienation of all kinds of property. For a long time past, entailed estates either have not existed here at all, or it has been easy to convert them into estates in fee simple by familiar forms of conveyance. It is understood that by far the greater part of the land disposed of by the foregoing will now belongs, in the absolute manner, to persons who are not descendants of the testator. The effect of this entailment, however, was to keep his descendants for several generations in the immediate neighborhood of Reading, until there were several hundred of the name of Upton borne upon the records of that and the adjoining towns.

The children of John and Eleanor Upton, all of them, it would seem, born in Danvers, were—

3. Eleanor[2], born about 1656; died April 20, 1663.
4. William[2], born about 1658; died April, 1663.
5. † James[2], born Sept., 1660; unmarried.

6. Mary[2], born about 1661 ; died April 15, 1663.
7. † William[2], born June 10, 1663 ; married Mary Maber.
8. † Samuel[2], born Oct., 1664 ; married Abigail Frost.
9. Ann[2], born ——; married Samuel Fraile * of Salem, the part now Danvers, April 4, 1684. He was probably grandson of George Fraile, who was of Lynn, 1637, and died Dec. 9, 1663. Samuel Fraile's first wife, married 1678, was Mary Carroll. Ann Upton was his second wife. The children of Samuel and Ann Fraile were—

   Hannah (Fraile), born May 5, 1685.
   Elizabeth (Fraile), born Oct. 19, 1686.
   Ann (Fraile), born June 10, 1688.

10. Isabel[2], born Jan. 3, 1666–7 ; died Dec. 6, 1689, unmarried.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN UPTON[2], eldest son of John and Eleanor Upton; born probably in Danvers, then a part of Salem, about 1654; married SARAH THOMPSON, Dec. 14, 1680. She was daughter of George Thompson, and died Oct. 12, 1719.

He resided in the north-east part of North Reading, north of Ipswich River, on a farm given him by his father. I find no conveyance of land to him, except from his father.

He died in the summer of 1727, being then upwards of seventy years of age. His will is dated Aug. 29, 1720; proved Nov. 6, 1727; recorded in Middlesex Probate Records, 18: 447. He gives to his son John Upton five shillings. The reason why he gave him no more was, he had already given him several parcels of land. "To my son-in-law, James Stimpson, or his heirs by my daughter that is deceased, five shillings. To my daughter Mary Mackentier, three pounds. To my son Ezekiel Upton, three pounds. To my daughter Elizabeth, twelve pounds, in instalments of two pounds a year. To my son Joseph, five shillings;" the testator's father having already by will given him "a valuable quantity of land."* "To my son Jonathan, all my personal estate out of doors, and all my wearing apparel. To my daughter Hephzibah, ten pounds, and all the household goods." Son Jonathan appointed executor.

Mary Mackintire, a daughter of the testator, died before the probate of the will. Her husband, Samuel Mackintire, was present at the probate.

The children of John Upton[2] by wife Sarah were—

15. Sarah[3], born Oct. 26, 1681; married James Stimpson of Reading, Nov. 20, 1706. At the time of the probate of the foregoing will, Nov., 1727, he was living in Tolland, Conn. She died before the date of the will, Aug. 29, 1720.
16. † John[3], born March 11, 1683; married Tabitha ——.
17. Mary[3], born May 25, 1685; married Samuel Mackintire of Reading, Oct. 15, 1706. She died before her father.
18. † Joseph[3], born Sept. 8, 1687; married Abigail Gray?
19. † Ezekiel[3], born Nov. 9, 1689; married his cousin Isabel Upton.

* See page 19.

20. †Jonathan[3], born March 4, 1692; married Elizabeth Wilkins.
21. Elizabeth[3], born May 14, 1694; died May 29, 1694.
22. Francis[3], born May 17, 1695; died May 23, 1695.
23. Elizabeth[3], born July 19, 1696. She was living and unmarried at the date of her father's will in 1720. Elizabeth Upton, non compos mentis, died in Reading, March 6, 1769. It was probably this Elizabeth; but possibly her cousin Elizabeth, daughter of Ezekiel.
24. Hephzibah[3], born May 22, 1700; married Robert Hayward of Reading, Nov. 1, 1733.

James Upton[2], brother of the preceding, and son of John[1] and Eleanor Upton; born in Danvers, Sept., 1660.

There is no record of his marriage, and this, with other considerations, leads to the conclusion that he never was married. It appears from his father's will, dated Nov., 1697, that at the age of thirty-seven he was living in the house of his parents, without wife or children. His own will, dated May 1, 1702, mentions neither wife or children.

He lived in North Reading. His property went to his brother Joseph and his children.

William Upton[2], brother of the preceding, and son of the first John Upton by his wife Eleanor; born in Danvers, June 10, 1663; married Mary Maber, May 27, 1701.

William Upton and his brother Samuel received by their father's will that portion of his real estate which lay in the south-west corner of what is now Danvers, near the line of Lynnfield. It was given to them together, and they continued to hold it together till 1708, when they made an amicable division. They divided the farm between them in equal parts of sixty acres each, "running a line straight through the tract;" the easterly part being assigned to Samuel, and the westerly part to William. Each brother, by a solemn and carefully worded compact, guaranteed to the other his share of the patrimony.* They lived near together, apparently in the same house. They transacted their business together, as will appear from the deeds which follow. They seem to have entertained a strong affection for each other, and to have been men of good position, and of estimable character. Many of their neighbors were involved in the witchcraft delusion, but they kept clear of that terrible affair.

Their father, twelve or thirteen years before his death, bought one-half of a valuable tract of land in the east part of North Reading, commonly called the Gusset. Eight years later, these two sons of his purchased the other half.

1694, Dec. 25.—John Pool of Lynn, yeoman, and Mary his wife, for £19.10, sell to William Upton and Samuel Upton of Salem [of the part now Danvers], a piece of land in Reading, near Will's Hill, and commonly known by the name of the Gusset; that is to say, Pool and his wife convey to them one half of this Gusset, on the east end of Swan Pond, &c.*

John Pool lived, probably in what is now Lynnfield, not far distant. Will's Hill was a part of the Bellingham farm, already mentioned. In 1694, the date of this purchase, the Bellingham farm belonged to the Wilkins family, into which Jonathan Upton, nephew of these brothers, married in 1724. It is now in Middleton.

1696, June 23.—Samuel Wilkins, yeoman, and Sarah his wife, and Jane Wilkins, widow of Samuel Wilkins late of Salem deceased, for twelve pounds, convey to Samuel Upton and William Upton of Salem, yeomen, a parcel of meadow land, containing six or seven acres more or less, situate in Salem, lying and being in the meadow commonly called Gusset meadow, and is bounded south with the meadow of the said Uptons;* easterly with the brook which runs out of a cedar swamp; north and west with the upland of Thomas and Henry Wilkins.† These grantors all made their marks.

It seems that a part of the Gusset meadow was within the bounds of Salem, and in the county of Essex. This part belonged to the Wilkins family, of whom more in the sequel. It was quite valuable, and the Uptons desired to possess the whole.‡

of meadow in the township of Salem, in a place commonly called the Pound meadow.*

The father of William and Samuel Upton by will gave them his negro.† This negro, whose name was Thomas, was in 1699, the date of the inventory, about thirteen years old, and was valued at thirty pounds or one hundred dollars. This sum may have been equivalent to ten times its amount now, if we may judge from the valuation of the oxen and other live stock in the same inventory. This negro slave faithfully served William and Samuel Upton eighteen years; and they then gave him his liberty. The deed of manumission is dated Dec. 21, 1717. At the same time, they gave security to the town treasurer of Salem, that they would meet all charges which might arise against the said black man.‡

We know not the date of William Upton's death, but it must have been early in 1740. His will is dated April 13, 1739; and was proved March 10, 1739–40. We find it in Essex Probate Records, 24: 97. He gives—"to each of my sons, William, James, Francis, Edward and Richard, five shillings. To my son Timothy, my half part of the house and land in the Middle precinct in Salem [now the town of Danvers], which I hold in common with my son James. To my son Caleb, five shillings. To my daughter Mary Rich, five shillings. To my daughter Dorcas, five shillings, and my household goods, &c. To my son Paul, my meadow in Reading, called Bear meadow, containing about four acres; all my stock of creatures, my wearing apparel, &c." His son Paul was executor and residuary legatee.

Samuel Upton[2], brother of the preceding, and son of John and Eleanor Upton of Danvers and North Reading; born in Danvers, October, 1664; married Abigail Frost of Danvers, Jan. 14, 1702–3. She was baptized Aug 3, 1707, at Danvers, probably on "owning the covenant," as it was termed; for her name is not found among the members of the church in that place.*

* It was held by the churches of Massachusetts, in the early times, that the church of Christ, according to Scripture, consisted of visible believers, joined together by a public covenant, and their infant offspring, included in the same covenant. It was also held that

The names of William and Samuel Upton often appear together, at least in the county and parish records. They were but sixteen months apart in age. Their names are coupled together in their father's will; and what they inherited from him, they held and enjoyed together, as has been stated, till 1708, and notwithstanding the division made of their real estate at that time, they still lived together on Wood Hill, all their days. At least half a century they occupied the same house. They owned land together, not only in Danvers, but in North Reading and in Middleton. They were always taxed together and taxed alike in the town and parish books. They held their negro servant together; they together manumitted him in 1717; they sat together in the meeting-house, and their wives sat together. It is likely that their deaths were not far apart; that of William their children, on arriving at adult years, "understanding the doctrine of faith, publickly professing their assent thereto, and not scandalous in life," might "own the covenant before the church," and have their children baptized, without themselves joining in full communion. This usage commenced in 1662, prevailed many years, and is known as the "Half-way Covenant." It was in accordance with this practice that the wife and children of Samuel Upton[2] were baptized. The fact is worth noticing, as the earliest date known to us of any connection of the Upton Family in this country with the visible church.

early in 1740; that of Samuel three or four years later.

The names of William Upton and Samuel Upton appear on the records of the parish of Salem Village * in a list of persons taxed in 1689 for the support of Rev. Samuel Parris, then minister of that parish. Each of these brothers was to pay three shillings. The highest tax was one pound; the lowest, 2*s.* 6*d.* In 1690, they were taxed 4*s.* each; in 1695, 9*s.* each; in 1697, 12*s.* each. They continued to be taxed, year after year, till 1734, when the first volume of parish records ends. The second volume was destroyed by fire about 1867; so that it does not appear how much longer they were taxed, nor, by consequence, how much longer they lived. We learn this, however, that they were both living in Danvers in 1734. It is also certain that Samuel Upton was living there in March, 1743, when a child of Samuel Upton, Junior, was baptized.† He was then about 77 years old. He doubtless died soon after.

It was the custom in those days, instead of our present practice of pews held as private property, to choose a committee annually to assign seats in the meeting-house to the individuals composing the parish, and to record the arrangement from year to year in the parish book. The men and the women sat apart. The chief seats were given to age; the next, to office; last of all, to "rates" or taxes paid, that is, to property. William and Samuel Upton, in 1702, sat "in the long fore-seat below," and also in 1726. Their wives, in 1726, sat "in the second long seat below." When these brothers were older, they had the front seat.*

A few weeks after his brother William's death, Samuel Upton made a transfer of the property inherited from his father similar to the one made by William.† In a deed dated March 26, 1740, he conveyed to his son Benjamin "all my lands, both upland and meadow, lying and being in Salem [i. e., Danvers], containing by estimation sixty acres, bounded south on land formerly in the possession of Capt. Samuel Gordon, deceased, west by land formerly in the possession of my brother William Upton, deceased, north and east by land formerly of Joseph Pope," &c. The consideration was nine hundred pounds in province bills. His daughter Anna was a witness.†

This conveyance, in some measure, superseded the necessity of a will. The design was, to carry out his father's purpose of an entail. The property herein conveyed was kept together in the line of the grantor's descendants till 1849 certainly, if not to the present day.

There is no will of Samuel Upton on record, nor any account of the administration of his estate, nor any means of knowing the time of his death, except as above mentioned. Nor is there any record of the births of his children, and we obtain their names from the church records, where their baptisms are registered.‡ They were as follows:

35. †Samuel[3], born June 30, 1704; baptized Aug. 3, 1707; married Ruth Whipple.
36. Abigail[3], born 1705; baptized Aug. 3, 1707.

Ezekiel Upton[2], brother of the preceding, and son of John and Eleanor Upton, was "borne," as the Salem record says, "about y^e^ middle of September, 1668."

He married, first, Dec. 28, 1693, Rebecca Preston, or Presson, as the name was often pronounced and written, daughter of Thomas Preston of Salem Village [Danvers]. The wife of Thomas Preston was Rebecca, daughter of Francis Nurse. The mother of Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Rebecca Nurse, though a woman of excellent character, a church member, of respectable connections, and now seventy-one years of age, was executed as a witch, not far from her own house, July 19, 1692. Four other women, Sarah Good, Sarah Wildes, Elisabeth How and Susanna Martin, all innocent, gentle, loving women, were hung as witches at the same time. It was a shocking affair.*

The first wife of Ezekiel Upton died. and he married, second, Ruth (Marsh) Hardy, widow of James Hardy of Salem. This marriage took place, Jan. 23, 1711–12. She was married to James Hardy, June 20, 1687, and may therefore have been older than her second husband.

Ezekiel Upton inherited from his father one hundred and twenty acres of upland in the east part of North Reading, bounded north on Swan Pond, and fifty acres more of upland, besides some meadow land. He added to this by purchase. He lived in North Reading.

1700–1, March 8.—John Brown, Jr., of Reading, and Sarah his wife, for £16, sell to Ezekiel Upton of Reading, yeoman, eighty acres of upland and three acres of meadow, in Reading, on the north side of Ipswich River, and joining land that was of John Upton, Senior.†

The children of Ezekiel and Rebecca (Preston) Upton were—

48. †Ezekiel[3], born Aug. 13, 1703; married Joanna Newmarch.

Joseph Upton[2], brother of the preceding, and son of John and Eleanor Upton; born in Danvers, April 9, 1670; married Abigail ——, Feb. 12, 1692.

He lived in North Reading, on the homestead of his father, all of which he inherited after the death of his elder brother, James, besides one half of the Gusset meadow, and thirty acres adjoining the homestead, and more besides. It appears from his son Ebenezer's will, dated Nov. 20, 1753, that he was then living.

The children of Joseph and Abigail Upton were—

49. †Joseph[3], born March 1, 1693; married Mary Wilkins.
50. Abigail[3], born June 8, 1797; married Joseph Swallow of Reading, Oct. 21, 1713.

53. Miriam[3], born ——; married Thomas Wilkins of Boxford, June 13, 1728.
54. Lucy[3], born Feb. 7, 1708 ; married David Wilkins of Middleton, Oct. 25, 1733.*

* These three Wilkins husbands were doubtless grandsons of Bray Wilkins, who lived near Wilkins Pond in what is now Middleton, and died Jan. 1, 1702, at the age of ninety-two.

THIRD GENERATION.

JOHN UPTON[3], (John[2], John[1]), eldest son of John[2] and Sarah (Thompson) Upton; born in North Reading, March 11, 1683; married TABITHA ——.

He resided in North Reading at least till 1720. Either at that time, or soon after, he removed to Lynn, and resided there—in the part afterwards Lynnfield (incorporated as a town, 1782)—the remainder of his life.

The following is a deed of gift from his father:

1710, Nov. 2.—John Upton, Senior, of Reading, husbandman, "for the natural affection which I bear to my son, John Upton, as also for his dutiful behavior towards me hitherto," makes a deed of gift to him of several parcels of upland and meadow in Reading, which are particularly bounded and described, but the superficial content of which is not given. It is "near my house," bounded west and east on the meadow of James Upton [the grantor's brother], bounded south by Ipswich River, &c.*

1720–21, Feb. 1.—John Upton, Senior, of Reading, in consideration of the love, good will and affection, &c., grants to his well-beloved son John Upton, Jr., "all my right, &c., being one quarter part, in the grist-mill now erected in the township of Salem, on Ipswich river," &c.†

He died March, 1743, aged 60. His widow Tabitha died ten years later.

His will is dated March 3, 1742–3; proved April 4, 1743; recorded Essex Prob., 25: 148. He gives to his wife Tabitha, "four hundred pounds in good bills of public credit of the old tenor;‡ also my best bed, with bedding suitable thereto, and one-half of all the rest of my indoor moveables, bonds only excepted, &c. I give to my two sons John Upton and Elias Upton, all my housing, buildings and lands, situated in Lynn and Reading, to be equally divided when Elias comes of age. I give to my son Ephraim Upton, two hundred and fifty pounds

* Midd. Deeds, 15: 536.

† Essex Deeds, 47: 98.

‡ The "Bills of Credit," so often mentioned in this will, were issued by the Province of Massachusetts Bay. They had depreciated to such a degree that in 1743 an ounce of silver was worth thirty shillings of this base currency.

in good bills of credit of the Province, of the old tenor. To my daughter Sarah Bingham, two hundred and fifty pounds in like bills of credit, old tenor. To my daughter Phebe Upton, three hundred pounds in bills of credit, old tenor. To my grandchild Sarah Upton, a milch cow, when she becomes eighteen years of age." His wife Tabitha and son John were executors.

The children of John and Tabitha Upton were—

55. Sarah[4], born July 6, 1710; married, 1st, Dec. 14, 1732, Melatiah Vinton, born Oct. 29, 1711, son of John Vinton, Esq., of Stoneham, and had by him a daughter Sarah, born Dec., 1733. Melatiah Vinton died in Stoneham, Feb., 1734. After this, she married, 2d, Jonathan Bingham of ——, Ct. At this time, some of her cousins, children of her aunt Sarah Stimpson, were living in Tolland, near by.
56. Ephraim[4], born Oct. 7, 1712; living 1743.
57. †John[4], born April 27, 1717; married ——.
58. Naomi[4], born July 25, 1719; married John Hartshorn, May 14, 1767.

The foregoing were born in Reading; the following, probably, in Lynn:

59. Elias[4], born ——, 172–.
60. Phebe[4], born ——, 172–; married Joseph Emerson of Reading, Dec. 7, 1749. He was afterwards of Lynn.

18.

Joseph Upton[3], (John[2], John[1]), second son of John[2] and Sarah (Thompson) Upton of North Reading; born there Sept. 8, 1687; married, Feb. 2, 1718, Abigail Gray, daughter of Samuel and Abigail Gray of Salem; probably of that part of Salem which is now Danvers.

They lived in North Reading. They sold, Sept. 24, 1726, to Samuel Browne, Esq., of Salem, one third part of the homestead of said Samuel and Abigail Gray in Salem.*

Their children were—

61. † Jeremiah[4], born May 18, 1721: married Martha ——.
62. † Isaac[4], born Feb. 18, 1724: married Tabitha Graves.
63. † Joseph[4], born March 25, 1725; married Elizabeth Lovejoy.
64. † Jacob[4], born June 12, 1726: married Rebecca Upton.
65. † Abraham[4], born April 1, 1729: married Susanna Upton, (sister to his brother Jacob's wife.)
66. † John[4], born ——, 1732; married Mary Southwick.
67. † David[4], born ——, 1734: married Elizabeth Wilkins.
68. Amy[4], born ——, 1737; living 1761.

Ezekiel Upton[3] (John[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Nov. 9, 1689; married, first, Oct. 6, 1714, his cousin

* Essex Deeds, 46 : 107.

Isabel Upton[3], born Jan. 21. 1695, daughter of his father's brother Ezekiel; second, Anna Edwards of Manchester, Aug. 19, 1741.

He lived till 1753 in Reading, north parish, and not far from Andover line. He died between 1753, when he is spoken of as owning land, and 1762, when, in a deed from Elijah Upton, he is spoken of as deceased. The number and names of his children are alike unkown. The town records give him but one; but there is no doubt of his having had at least two sons, viz:

69. † Ezekiel[4], born about 1720; married - - -.
70. † Enos[4], born Feb. 7, 1723; married Rose McIntire.

20.

Jonathan Upton[3], (John[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, March 4, 1692; married by Rev. Daniel Putnam, minister at North Reading, Sept. 22, 1724, to Elizabeth Wilkins of Salem, that is to say, of a section of the old township of Salem, now included in Middleton. She must have been a granddaughter of Bray Wilkins, who died Jan. 1, 1702, at the age of ninety-two.*

* For an interesting notice of this man, see Upham's Salem Witchcraft, vol. i: pp. 143—146. He lived near Wilkins Pond, now called Jonathan Upton dwelt, perhaps, in Middleton, though owning land in North Reading.

He had at least one child—

76. Elizabeth[4].

25.

William Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), eldest son of William[2] and Mary Upton of Danvers; born there July 17, 1703; married, first, Lydia Burnap of Reading, Jan. 4, 1726–7. They were married by Rev. Richard Brown of South Reading, where the bride belonged. Second, Hannah Felton of Danvers, Dec. 9, 1755.

They dwelt in Reading. He was living there in Sept., 1760, being then appointed administrator of his son Daniel's estate.

His children—all by his first wife—were—

81. † William[4], born Aug. 5, 1729; married, 1st Sarah Herrick, 2d Hannah Stanley, 3d Mehitable ——.
82. † Daniel[4], born Aug. 19, 1731; married ——.
83. † James[4], born March 26, 1733; maried Rachel Holt.
84. Lydia[4], born Feb. 22, 1735; married David Damon, Jr., of Reading, April 13, 1762. They were living in 1784.
85. Mary[4], born Sept. 30, 1737; died young.
86. † Jacob[4], born Dec. 10, 1739; married Mary Clark.

Forest Lake, in Middleton. He had six sons, from whom have sprung an innumerable family of descendants, scattered all over the country.

87. †Jabez[4]. } twins, born Feb. 5, 1741: { married, 1st, Abigail Tay-
88. Mary[4]. } lor, 2d, Hannah Flint.
{ married Jacob Tucker of Reading, Oct. 7, 1762.

89. Tabitha[4], born March 20, 1745; married Aaron Felt, May 21, 1766. He was of Temple, N. H., Sept., 1792, when he was appointed guardian of Dorcas, Rhoda and Eli Upton, minor children of William Upton, his wife's brother.

James Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, Jan. 5, 1707–8; married Nov. 2, 1732, Susanna Dagget, born in Danvers, Oct. 11, 1712, daughter of William and Mary Dagget of that place.

They resided in what is now the town of Peabody, formerly South Danvers, all their days. He was a "cordwainer," well-to-do, but not wealthy. He bought two acres of land on "Johnson's Plain" in Salem [Peabody], in 1738; half an acre in 1746; and another small quantity in 1752. He and his brother Timothy occupied and owned the same house together for a time; but James, for 100 pounds, old tenor, bought his brother's half in 1740.

The house is still in existence, but has been moved, and now stands in the rear of Ebenezer Sprague Upton's house. Some of the posterity of James Upton still live on the lot purchased by him, in conjunction with his father, of Ezekiel Goldthwait, Jan. 10, 1733. The father, at his death, early in 1740, left his half to Timothy, brother of James; but James, in Aug., 1740, bought Timothy's half, and spent the rest of his life there. It is on Main street, Peabody.

His will is dated Jan. 30, 1778; proved Aug. 4, 1778; recorded Essex Prob., 53: 97. He mentions his wife Susanna; son John Upton, who, after the wife's decease, is to have the dwelling-house and land contiguous; daughter Tamison Felton; daughter Hannah Sprague; granddaughter Mary Sprague. Inventory: dwelling-house and a quarter of an acre adjoining, £160; five acres of land called "the field." £56.13.4; whole amount of estate, real and personal, £344.

His children were—

91. Tamasin[4], born Sept. 1, 1733; married ——? Felton.
92. Stephen[4], born April 23, 1735.*
93. Hannah[4], born June 26, 1737; married Ebenezer Sprague. Had Mary (Sprague).
94. Mary[4], born March 11, 1738; died Aug. 4, 1746.
95. James[4], born March 29, 1744.*
96. † John[4], born Nov. 19, 1746; married Joanna Dodge.
97. Daniel[4], born April 6, 1749.*

* As neither Stephen, James nor Daniel is mentioned in the father's will, it is nearly or quite certain that they died young.

Paul Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, Feb. 20, 1709–10; married, first, 1732, Susanna ——; second, Phebe Goodell, Feb. 24, 1736–7. She was of Salem Village, now Danvers, and must have been a granddaughter or great-granddaughter of Robert Goodell, to whom a tract of 504 acres was laid out, Feb. 13, 1652. It was, we suppose, in the north-west part of the present town of Peabody, and quite near the homestead of the Upton family.*

He resided in Danvers, having his father's house and farm, inherited from his grandfather, consisting of sixty acres. He bought twenty acres more of John Higginson, Esq., in 1741 and 1742. This purchase extended his farm to the line of the present township of Lynnfield.

He died intestate in 1750, aged forty. His widow Phebe was appointed administratrix of his estate, and guardian of his children, David, Ezra, George and Hannah, all minors under fourteen years of age. His inventory, dated Dec. 29, 1750, included the homestead, 70 acres at £8 per acre ; also 41 acres of land elsewhere, and 130 acres in what was then Lunenburg, but is now Fitchburg ; the last valued at £33.6.8. Total amount of real and personal estate, £934 15.2½.* Phebe, the widow of Paul Upton, was living in March, 1765.

His children were—by first wife, Susanna—

98. Susanna[4], baptized April 14, 1733.

By second wife, Phebe—

99. † Ezra[4], baptized Oct. 15, 1738; married Mehitabel Goodell.
100. † David[4], baptized April 26, 1741; married Sarah Goodell.
101. † Hannah[4], born about 1743 ; married Jacob Goodell.
102. Mehitabel[4], born about 1745 ; died young.
103. Phebe[4], baptized Aug. 16, 1747 ; died young.
104. † George[4], baptized June 3, 1750 ; married Eunice Upton, [150].

29.

Francis Upton[3]. (William[2]. John[1]). brother of the preceding ; born in Danvers, May 13, 1712 ; married, first, Phebe Swallow of Reading, May 13, 1735, his birthday ; second, Edith Herrick, Dec. 2, 1741.

They resided in North Reading, near where the Congregational meeting-house now is.

* Essex Prob. Records, 29 : 172.

He died in the winter of 1775–6; his will having been proved Jan. 30, 1776. He mentions his ten daughters by name, and makes his son-in-law, Amos Upton, Jr., the husband of his daughter Ruth, sole executor. The witnesses are Benjamin Upton, William Upton and Ebenezer Upton.*

His children, all by second wife, and all daughters, were—

105. Phebe[4], born April 25, 1742; never married; died Nov. 20, 1819, aged 78.
106. †Edith[4], born Oct. 24, 1744; married Amos Upton the third, oldest son of Deacon Amos Upton, Senior, Feb. 13, 1766, [147].
107. Miriam[4], born Oct. 7, 1746; married Nehemiah Herrick of Reading, Oct. 19, 1768.
108. †Ruth[4], born Nov. 2, 1748; married Amos Upton, Junior, [175], son of Ebenezer Upton of Reading, June 30, 1772.
109. †Dorcas[4], born 1750; married John Upton, July 4, 1786.
110. Hannah[4], born 1753; married Stephen Richardson of Middleton, Nov. 14, 1780.

* Midd. Prob., 56: 301.

†Jacob Fuller[4], husband of Jerusha Upton[4], was a younger brother of Rev. Timothy Fuller, who was born in Middleton, May 18, 1739; graduated at Harvard College, 1760; ordained first minister of Princeton, Mass., Sept. 9, 1767; and died July 3, 1805.

113. Eunice[4], born 1760; married Samuel Kimball of Boxford, July 23, 1782.

114. Sarah[4], born 1762; married Dec. 30, 1784, Joseph Peabody[5], born June 23, 1753, son of Jonathan Peabody of Boxford. They lived in Danvers.

Edward Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, April 16, 1714.

He was by occupation a glazier. He bought, Sept. 23, 1740, of Isaac Chandler, five acres of land in Amesbury—Almsbury it is called in the deed; and sold the same Jan. 9, 1744, to Jonathan Barnard of Almsbury.* No further account of him has come down to this time; and whether he was married or not is uncertain, as we have no account of wife or children.

Richard Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, May 20, 1716; married Rachel Rich, June 26, 1746. She was probably his cousin.

He was father of Hon. Timothy Fuller of Groton, Mass., who was the father of the famous Sarah Margaret Fuller, born at Cambridge, May 23, 1810, Countess d'Ossoli. The last named, with her husband and child, perished by shipwreck, July 19, 1850.

* Essex Deeds, 81 : 82, and 96 : 267.

He lived in Wilmington, which joins Reading on the west. His will, dated June 11, 1768, was proved Sept. 6, 1768, whence it is plain that he died in the summer of that year. In this document he provides for his wife Rachel; sons Thomas Rich, Paul, Jethro and Timothy; daughters Molly and Rachel.*

Richard Upton owned land in Andover, for which his widow Rachel was taxed from 1769 to 1772, and his son Paul Upton from 1773 to 1781, and perhaps after.

The children of Richard Upton, all born in Wilmington, were—

120. Molly[4], born April 16, 1747; married Thomas Patch.
121. † Thomas Rich[4], born Feb. 15, 1748; married Ruth Evans.
122. † Paul[4], born Aug. 12, 1751; married, 1st Martha Wilson, 2d Jerusha Richardson.
123. † Jethro[4], born Sept. 15, 1753; married Molly Kittredge.
124. Rachel[4], born Sept. 15, 1753.
125. Timothy[4], born Feb. 2, 1756.

Timothy Upton[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, Sept. 4,

* Midd. Prob., 29: 460.

1718; married, first, HANNAH STACY, of South Danvers, Dec. 25, 1740; second, RUTH ——.

He was a "cordwainer;" lived in Danvers, probably within the bounds of the present town of Peabody; and was a man of moderate property. He died intestate in 1758, at the age of forty.

Nov. 7, 1758, his widow Ruth was appointed administratrix of his estate, and Thomas Rich of Wilmington, the husband of his sister Mary, was made guardian of his two minor children, Nathan and Dorcas.*

His children were—

127. † Nathan[4], born Nov. 15, 1742; married Elizabeth Upton.

128. Dorcas[4].

CALEB UPTON[3], (William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding, eighth and youngest son of William[2] and Mary (Maber) Upton, born in Danvers, Feb. 4, 1722; married ——.

We are left in uncertainty in regard to him, growing out of the fact that the settlement in New Hampshire, where he made his home, was in its infancy and the earlier records very imperfect. The following particulars have been elicited.

He was by occupation a "taylor." About the year 1755, or perhaps earlier, he was living in Amherst, N. H., probably in that part of it which, since 1803, has been included in the town of Mont Vernon. Amherst, incorporated as a town Jan. 18, 1760, was previously a plantation known as Souhegan West, the present town of Merrimac being Souhegan East.

1757, Sept. 10.—Samuel Williams, of a place called Souhegan West No. 3, in the province of New Hampshire, husbandman, for 206 pounds old tenor money of the province, sells to Caleb Upton, of the plantation and province aforesaid, taylor, twelve acres of land in Souhegan aforesaid; also another parcel containing two acres, in the same township. The bounds are given, one of which is "a stake and stones near said Upton's house." *

The Amherst town records, after a careful examination, yielded only the following: Caleb Upton, in 1710, was taxed for the support of the minister, Rev. Daniel Wilkins,† £10 16*s.*

* N. H. Reg. of Deeds at Exeter, vol. 57 : fol. 480.

† Rev. Mr. Wilkins was from Middleton, Mass., a town border-old tenor. In 1765, he was taxed £7.1.1. The minister's salary was £500, old tenor, a greatly depreciated currency.

Mr. Upton did not continue long at Amherst, as we learn from the subjoined record:

1762, May 20.—Caleb Upton, of Amherst, in the province of New Hampshire, taylor, for eight pounds sterling, sells to Ezekiel Grele of Londonderry, gentleman, a certain tract of land in Amherst which said Upton purchased of Samuel Williams, Sept. 10, 1757, as appears by a deed recorded June 12, 1759, with all the buildings thereon. Acknowledged at Portsmouth, July 1, 1762.*

Possibly he lived a few years in Fitchburg, before going to Amherst. We find two of his children there.

It is evident that his abode in Amherst was limited to less than ten years. In what place he passed his subsequent life, and when he died, does not appear. He has numerous descendants, from one of whom has been obtained the following record of his children:

ing on Danvers, the native place of Caleb Upton. This circumstance may have led to Mr. Upton's abode there. Mr. Wilkins died at an advanced age, Feb. 11, 1784. He began his labors there in 1742, and was minister at first to only fourteen families.

134. † Edmund[4], born about 1760; married Priscilla Gardner, in Salem.
135. † Paul[4], born 1761; married, 1st ——, 2d Betsey Pierce.

There were three daughters, of whom it is presumed this was one:

237. Rebecca[4], of Fitchburg; married James Litch of Fithburg, Feb. 9, 1768. If she were a daughter of Caleb Upton, she must have been born about 1750, and older than any of her brothers.

Samuel Upton[3], (Samuel[2], John[1]), eldest son of Samuel[2] and Abigail (Frost) Upton; born in Danvers, June 30, 1704; baptized Aug. 3, 1707; married Ruth Whipple, Nov. 8, 1726. They were married by Timothy Lindall, Justice of the Peace, who then lived in almost princely style, on or near Lindall's Hill, in the easterly part of what is now Danvers.

Mrs. Ruth Upton, wife of Samuel, was admitted to full communion in the church in Salem Village, now Danvers, March 1, 1728.

They resided in Danvers. He was taxed there as early as 1727.

1765, March 11.—Samuel Upton of Danvers, yeoman, and Ruth, his wife, sell to Jacob Goodale of Danvers, "the dwelling-house and land where I now dwell," bounded on land of widow Upton.*

This shows that he and his wife were living in 1765. It also appears probable that he and his wife removed to New Brunswick with three of their children about that time,† as no subsequent trace of him has been found.

Their children were—

140. Mehitable [4], born Dec. 10, 1727; married John Very of Danvers.
141. Anna [4], born Dec. 30, 1730; married John Russell of Danvers. They removed with her brother Samuel to Maugerville, in New Brunswick, about 1763 or 1765. Mr. Russell was drowned about six weeks after they reached Maugerville, and she married Jarvis Say, an Englishman.
142. † Asa [4], born Oct. 3, 1734; married Elizabeth Webber.
143. Ruth [4], born Oct. 29, 1737; unmarried; died Dec. 19, 1816, aged 79 years, 1 month and 20 days.
144. Samuel [4], born 1740; married Rebecca Spinney of Marblehead. They removed to Maugerville, N. B., about 1765.

* Essex Deeds, 113 : 172. [Widow of Paul Upton.]

† After the peace of 1763, many New England families removed to New Brunswick. Their posterity are still found there.

145. Sarah[4], born June 23, 1741; died in infancy.
146. Sarah[4], baptized March 6, 1743; married Jacob Barker of Boxford. They also removed to Maugerville, N. B.

Nathaniel Utton[3], (Samuel[2], John[1]), second son of Samuel[2] and Abigail (Frost) Upton, born in Danvers, Jan., 1707, baptized March 27, 1709; married Mary Eaton of Reading, Nov. 19, 1734.

He was taxed for the support of public worship in Danvers, in 1732 and 1733; but on his marriage he removed to Reading, and passed the remainder of his life there. He was a "yeoman," and possessed of some property. In Dec., 1768, he bought "a full right or share of land in Haverhill, N. H., it being the twelfth lot in Horse Meadow, so called."* Haverhill had then been recently settled.

The town records show that he was Collector of Taxes in 1741; Fence-viewer in 1762; and Surveyor of Highways in 1769.

His will is dated Aug. 24, 1778; proved April 3, 1788; recorded Midd. Prob., 70: 454. He mentions his wife Mary Upton, and "my kinsman Nathaniel Upton, son of my brother Amos Upton, who is appointed sole executor. He has all my real estate in Reading, with the live stock, husbandry utensils, &c., after my wife's decease."

He died Jan., 1788, aged 80. His wife Mary died 1808, aged 95. He left no children.

40.

Benjamin Upton[3], (Samuel[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Danvers; and baptized there May 10, 1713; married, 1736, Sarah Swinnerton of the same place. She was admitted to full communion in the church in Salem Village, [now Danvers], March 12, 1737–8.

He passed his life in Danvers, and was a man of large property, as appears from the inventory of his estate.

His will is dated Oct. 6, 1768; proved Dec. 5, 1768; recorded Essex Prob., 45: 75. He gives to wife Sarah "all my personal estate, and the use and improvement of all my real estate, during her life." Gives to Sarah Upton, "a child which I have brought up, two lots of land in Danvers, and a fifty acre lot besides." Gives to "my kinsman Asa Upton [son of his brother Samuel] all the remainder of my real estate, after the decease of my wife." Gives to his sisters Lois Mackintire, Eunice Twist and Jemima Eaton, various sums of money; and to "my kinsman, Benjamin Upton, son of my brother Amos Upton, 40 pounds."

His inventory includes 70 acres of land in Danvers, with the buildings on the same, £560; 18 acres of meadow, partly in Danvers and partly in Middleton, £144; $1\frac{1}{2}$ acres of salt marsh in Lynn, £12; $32\frac{1}{2}$ acres of upland in Danvers, £117; 12 acres of land in Danvers, £42; 47 acres meadow and upland in Danvers, £100; 8 acres of land in Reading, £2.8. Four oxen, £14; a pair of steers, £6; eleven cows, £22; three heifers, £4.16; one bull, £2; two horses, £16. A great abundance of other personal property, including a negro man named Sharper, £20; a negro woman named Phillis, £30. Notes of hand from many persons. The whole estate, real and personal, amounting to £1,399.4.7, in a sound currency.*

Sarah Upton, widow of Benjamin, lived till 1773. Her will dated March 10, was proved May 3, 1773. She mentions her brother James Swinnerton; Sarah Upton, "a child I have brought up; my sister Elizabeth Swinnerton; my sister Ruth Putnam; Sarah Goodale, wife of Eleazer Goodale, and eldest daughter of my late brother Job Swinnerton, deceased; Benjamin Upton of Reading; my brother-in-law Deacon Amos Upton of Reading."*

They had no children of their own. They had an adopted child, Sarah Upton, born 1758, and baptized Oct. 28, 1764.

Amos Upton [3], (Samuel [2], John [1]), widely known among his cotemporaries and still spoken of as Deacon Amos Upton, was brother of the preceding, and son of Samuel [2] and Abigail (Frost) Upton; born in Danvers; and baptized there, Oct. 20, 1717; married Dec. 5, 1739, Sarah Bickford, daughter of John Bickford of Salem town. She was admitted into full communion of the church in Danvers, March 28. 1756.

He resided in the north parish in Reading, which is now a town called North Reading, about a mile north-east of the present meeting-house, in a house yet standing, and in good condition. Of the church in that place, under the ministry of Rev. Daniel Putnam [pastor from June 29, 1720, to June 20, 1759], and Rev. Eliab Stone [pastor from May 20, 1761, to Aug. 31, 1822], he was deacon from Feb. 18, 1762, till his death in 1780. He was a man of great energy, and stern Puritan principles.

He died Oct. 6, 1780, aged sixty-three. His wife Sarah outlived him thirty-eight years, and at length died in North Reading, Nov. 17, 1818, at the advanced age of ninety-nine years and seven months. She remembered to have seen and talked with people who were living in this country prior to 1650. Three lives might thus, even at this time, 1872, comprehend our entire history as a people.

He was frequently called to serve his fellow citizens in places of public trust. In 1750, '56 and '61 he was Surveyor of Highways; he was Selectman in 1764, '66 and '68; Assessor and Parish Clerk in 1769; Moderator of North Reading parish in 1767, '72, '74 and '78.

His will is dated May 24, 1780; proved Oct. 3, 1781; recorded Midd. Prob. 61: 254—256. He calls himself Amos Upton of Reading, yeoman. He says: "I give to my wife Sarah the improvement of all my real estate that I have in Reading. To my son John Upton, all my real estate that I have in Reading,* and all my live stock and husbandry utensils after my wife's decease, he paying the following legacies, viz:

To my son Amos Upton, thirty pounds lawful money, at six shillings and eightpence an ounce, or any other lawful money to the value thereof, to be paid in one year after my wife's decease.

To my son Benjamin Upton, the same.

To my son Nathaniel Upton, £16.13.4 lawful money, &c., besides what he hath already had.

To my daughter Eunice,† five shillings besides what she already had.

To my daughter Sarah, twenty pounds, &c., (as in the case of Amos, repeating the same words).

To my daughter Rebecca, twenty pounds, &c., (as in the preceding case).

To my daughters Sarah and Rebecca, my in-door movables, after my wife's decease.

His wife Sarah was named executrix. The witnesses to the will were Joseph, Ebenezer and Elizabeth Upton.

The inventory of the estate of Deacon Amos Upton, taken in 1781, after his decease, was as follows:

* None of this property came into the possession of John Upton. He died several years before his mother. The other legacies, of course, were not paid.

† Eunice was already married, and had received her portion. Sarah and Rebecca were then unmarried.

Four cows and one calf, £12. One heifer two years old, and three heifers one year old, £5.15. A pair of steers three years old, £5.10. One horse, £4. Six sheep, £2.14. One swine, £1.10. Farming utensils, cart and wheels, plough, harrow, iron bar, axes, hoes, beetle and wedges, &c., £6.3.3. Trunk and chest, £0.6. Men's wearing apparel, £5. Bed's furniture and other linen, £10. Chest of drawers and tables, £2.5. Spinning wheels and chairs, £0.9. One kettle, pot, dog-irons, trammels, &c., £3.1. Pewter flax-comb, chafing-dish, £1. Books, looking-glass, glass bottles, china ware, and other articles, £1.12. Corn and meat, £1.10. Saddle, bridle and gun, £0.16. Homestead, buildings and out-lands, £408. Total, £471.11.3.

Besides one thousand dollars of the old emission left in the house of the testator and not valued.*

The children of Deacon Amos Upton were—

148. † Benjamin[4], born May 7, 1745; married, 1st Rebecca Putnam, 2d Elizabeth (White) Cowley.

149. Sarah[4], born Nov. 22, 1748; died young.

150. Eunice[4], born Dec. 2, 1751; married, 1st George Upton of Danvers, son of Paul Upton, [104]; 2d —— Richardson.

* Midd. Prob. Records, 61: 257. The Continental Congress of the United States, in order to carry on the war, had been compelled to issue enormous quantities of notes, or bills, amounting in the end to more than three hundred millions of dollars. This currency soon depreciated. In Dec., 1778, it stood at six of paper for one of gold. In Dec., 1779, it stood twenty-seven for one. In Dec., 1780, it was seventy for one. In the autumn of 1781, when the foregoing inventory was made, this currency came down to five hundred for one, and was regarded as absolutely worthless.

153. Rebecca[4], born June 28, 1761; married Ephraim Pratt of North Reading, Feb. 24, 1785.

154. Eliab[4], born 176–; died young.

155. † John[4], born June 12, 1768; married Hannah Hart.*

48.

Ezekiel Upton[3] (Ezekiel[2], John[1]), only surviving son of Ezekiel[2] and Rebecca (Preston) Upton of North Reading; born there Aug. 13, 1703; married, 1732, Joanna Newmarch, daughter of Joseph and Susanna Newmarch of Marblehead.

He lived in North Reading, and died in the summer of 1745, as on the 16th of September of that year administration on his estate was committed to his widow, Joanna Upton. The inventory is dated, Oct. 30, 1745. Amount of real estate, £1470; personal estate, £560.7.9.†

* The dates of birth of these children were furnished by Amos Upton[5], son of Amos[4], the first in the foregoing list. They are not on the town record of Reading, but are on the church record in North Reading. The town record of Reading makes the first Sarah, above, to be the daughter of Amos and Lois Upton, which is an evident mistake. Amos, the eldest is said to have been born Oct. 30, 1749, which is another mistake.

† Midd. Prob., 22 : 655, and 24 : 22. The valuation was in "old tenor," a greatly depreciated currency.

1747, May 18.—Jacob Fowle of Marblehead, husband of Mrs. Joanna Upton's sister Susanna, was appointed guardian of the children of Ezekiel Upton, Jr., whose names follow:

156. Mary[4], born 1733.
157. Rebecca[4], born 1737; married Jacob Upton, [64].
158. Susanna[4], born 1739; married Abraham Upton, [65].
159. Rachel[4], born ——; married Benjamin Flint, Feb. 18, 1762.

Joseph Upton[3], (Joseph[2], John[1]), eldest son of Joseph[2] and Abigail Upton of North Reading; born there March 1, 1693; married Mary Wilkins of Middleton, which town was formed June 20, 1728, of parts of Andover, Boxford, Reading and Salem. She was a sister of the wife of his cousin Jonathan Upton,* and was a daughter of Elizabeth Wilkins. She was also sister of Thomas, Hezekiah† and Jonathan Wilkins, all of Middleton.

He dwelt in North Reading, and was living there in 1745. Mary Upton, his widow, died in 1780.‡

* See page 47.

† Hezekiah Wilkins was the husband of Mehitabel Upton, born Jan. 17, 1701, [51], sister of the above Joseph Upton[3]. Thomas Wilkins married Miriam Upton, another sister, [53].

‡ See her will, Midd. Prob. Records, 60: 175.

The children of Joseph and Mary Upton were—

161. † Joshua[4], born March 18, 1720–1; married, 1st Mary Parker, March 20, 1740; 2d Hannah Woodin, March 27, 1746.
162. Hannah[4], born June 8, 1722; married, 1st Benjamin Wilkins of Middleton, Jan. 27, 1767,—they had Margery (Wilkins) Jan. 12, 1770; 2d —— Parker. She was living 1778.
163. † Hezekiah[4], born March 28, 1725; married, 1st Lydia Flint; 2d Sarah Whiting.
164. Mary[4], born April 6, 1727; unmarried; living 1778.
165. Jerusha[4], born ——, 1729.
166. † Elijah[4], born April 10, 1731; married Molly Lambert.
167. † Elisha[4], born May 18, 1732; married, 1st Margery Wilkins his cousin, 2d Sarah Gilford.
168. Lucy[4], born Feb. 3, 1735; married Lieut. David Parker of North Reading, a revolutionary soldier.
169. Olympius[4], born May 22, 1736; married Phebe Hayward of North Reading, Jan. 6, 1762. He died 1794, leaving no children.
170. † Ede[4], born ——, 1739; married Samuel Flint.

52.

Ebenezer Upton[3], (Joseph[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Jan. 21, 1702; married Sarah Goodell of Danvers, Feb. 23, 1727. They were married by Rev. Daniel Putnam of North Reading.

They resided in the north part of North Reading. According to the town records he was Surveyor of Highways in 1732 and '54; a Constable in 1740; Fence-viewer in 1747; and Selectman in 1749. He was chosen, Oct. 28, 1751, on a committee, with others, for building a meeting-house.

The will of Ebenezer Upton, yeoman, of Reading, is dated Nov. 20, 1753; proved July 14, 1755. He gives to his wife Sarah, "one-half of the dwelling-house, one-half of the cellar, the whole of the shop, ten bushels of Indian corn annually, two bushels of rye, one hundred and forty pounds of good pork, fifty pounds of good 'beaf,' four barrels of 'cyder,' one bushel of 'mault,' half a bushel of beans, one bushel of turnips, what apples she has occasion for in the summer season, and five bushels of winter apples,—all of these things annually; fire-wood enough to keep one fire, to be cut and brought to the door suitable for burning; and to have a good cow kept for her both summer and winter, a horse to ride to meeting, and other-where as she has occasion for; and six pounds of good sheep's wool, and six pounds of good flax from the swingle. This shall be done annually by my three sons, as their mother has occasion for." The three sons are Ebenezer, Josiah and Amos; and what each son shall do is very particularly specified and required.* The testator gives to his daughter, Sarah Graves, £6.13.4, in lawful money; and to his daughter Anne, £26.13.4, to be paid when she arrives at the age of twenty-one, or at her marriage, which shall first happen.

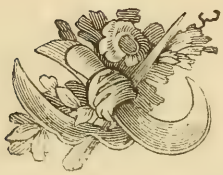
To his sons Ebenezer, Josiah and Amos, the testator divided his real estate, and appointed very particularly the boundaries of each one's share. The boundaries of the entire estate were—Ezekiel Upton's land, the land of Ensign Joseph Upton, of Jonathan Upton, and of Joshua Upton; it was on the north side of Ipswich river, and extended to Andover line; the eastern bound ran "northerly on Middleton line, &c. The will mentions "a share in Bear meadow," "a piece of land called Gusset land," &c. The Gusset land was in the north-east part of Reading, near Middleton. His wife Sarah and his son Ebenezer were executors.†

* From the will here quoted, a tolerable idea may be formed of the usual mode of life in New England country towns in the earlier times. Nothing is said of flour, potatoes, or cotton as a material for clothing; the cloth as well as the clothing was made in the house. The good lady is provided with a horse, but she must ride to meeting on his back. Stoves were unknown.

† Midd. Prob., 27: 57—62.

The children of Ebenezer and Sarah Upton were:

171. Sarah[4], born Jan. 19, 1729; married Daniel Graves of Reading.
172. † Ebenezer[4], born Dec. 22, 1730; married Mary Girdler.
173. Anna[4], born June 28, 1733; died young.
174. † Josiah[4], born Aug. 24, 1735; married Susanna Emerson.
175. † Amos[4], born May 6, 1738; married Ruth Upton, [108.]
176. Anna[4], born April 20, 1746; married Samuel Jenkins of Andover or Reading, Jan. 30, 1766.



FOURTH GENERATION.

57.

John Upton[4], (John[3], John[2], John[1]), son of John[3] and Tabitha Upton; born in North Reading, April 27, 1717; married ——.

He was a "cordwainer;" lived in that part of Lynn which is now Lynnfield, and not very far from his kindred Uptons.

1745, Dec. 11.—John Upton of Lyn, cordwainer, for 65 pounds, new tenor, sells to David Putnam of Salem [now Danvers], 34 acres of land in the north precinct of Reading, bounded partly on land of [Deacon] Amos Upton.*

This land was north of Ipswich River.

1746, April 18.—John Upton of Lynn, for £200, lawful money, sells to Joseph Eaton, forty acres of land in Lynn, bounded partly on land of Widow Elizabeth Sparhawk.†

† Ibid., 116 : 16. [Widow of Rev. Nathaniel Sparhawk, a native of Cambridge, first minister of the second church in Lynn—now Lynnfield,—who died May 7, 1732, aged 38.]

He died in the early part of 1753, aged thirty-six. Dying intestate, Ebenezer Nichols, Esq., of Reading, was appointed administrator of his estate, April 16, 1753. The inventory included a negro boy valued at £20; a horse, £15.10; another horse, £10; a pair of steers, £10; three cows and six pigs, £2.16; the homestead of eighty acres, with the buildings, &c. Total, £604.4.10.* No mention is made of a wife; but he had a son,— 180. † John[5], born about 1742.

Jeremiah Upton[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) eldest son of Joseph[3] and Abigail (Gray) Upton; born in North Reading, May 18, 1721; married Martha ——, 1744.

He resided in North Reading, and died there, 1753, at the age of thirty-two. His will is dated May 1, 1753. It was proved June 11, 1753, and recorded Midd. Prob., 27, 404. He gave to his wife Martha the improvement of all his estate, real and personal, until his children should arrive at the age of twenty-one years, if she remained his widow; if she married before that time, then only her thirds. To his son David Upton, all his estate real and personal. To his daughter Hannah, £6.13.4. To his daughter Abigail, £6.13.4. His brother Isaac Upton was named sole executor; and his brothers Joseph, Jacob and Abraham were subscribing witnesses.

The children of Jeremiah Upton were—

185. David[5], born 1745; married Elizabeth Wilkins of Middleton, March 20, 1776.
186. Hannah[5]; married Jacob Smith of Middleton, Sept. 4, 1771.
187. Abigail[5]; married Robert Pierce of Middleton, June 15, 1775.

Isaac Upton[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]). brother of the preceding and second son of Joseph[3] and Abigail (Gray) Upton; born in North Reading, Feb. 18, 1724; married Tabitha Graves of North Reading, born Oct. 1723.

They resided in North Reading till 1782; then, or not later than 1784, removed to Middleton, an adjoining town. He was a well-to-do farmer, and possessed a handsome property. Not content with 185 acres of land at home, he purchased for his son Isaac, June 7, 1777, as the latter was approaching his majority, 120 acres of land in Hillsborough, N. H. This land, after the death of that son, he sold, March 29, 1784, to John Mead of Lynnfield.* He was Surveyor of Highways in 1758, '64 and '66; also Selectman in 1773.

He died Feb. 7, 1796, aged seventy-two. His wife Tabitha died July 4, 1810, aged eighty-six years, nine months.

His will is dated Nov. 12, 1789; proved March 8, 1796; recorded Essex Prob., 64: 158. He provides for his wife Tabitha, and gives to his son Jeremiah all his real and personal estate, except as otherwise ordered. Gives to his daughter Tabitha a warming-pan and frying-pan, after her mother's decease. Gives to his daughter Patty a pair of silver shoe-buckles, which were her deceased brother Daniel's. Gives to his grandson Isaac Upton Lovejoy a pair of silver knee-buckles, which belonged to the testator's deceased son Isaac Upton.

His inventory included 130 acres of homestead, with the buildings, $2340; and 54½ acres of pasture and woodland, $810.

The children of Isaac and Tabitha Upton, born in Reading, were—

* Hillsborough Deeds, 13: 328, 329.

188. Tabitha[5], born July 26, 1751 ; died young.
189. Tabitha[5], born ——, 1755 ; married Jonathan Lovejoy of Andover, July 31, 1777. They had Tabitha (Lovejoy), Isaac Upton (Lovejoy).
190. Isaac[5], born Dec. 17, 1756 ; died before March, 1784.
191. Patty[5], born March 14, 1759 ; living 1789.
192. † Jeremiah[5], born July 1, 1761 ; married Elizabeth Carlton.

Joseph Upton[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding ; born in North Reading, March 25, 1725 ; married Mrs. Elizabeth Lovejoy of Andover, July 19, 1774.

They resided in North Reading till about 1780 ; and then removed to Tyngsborough, Mass., where he died in 1810, aged eighty-five. He was Surveyor of Highways, 1768.

He was taxed for land owned by him in Andover, 1780 and '81 ; not afterwards.

Their children were—born in North Reading—

194. Elizabeth[5], born July 11, 1775 ; married John Thompson. They lived in Tyngsborough.
195. Joseph[5], born Oct. 4, 1777 ; married, 1 —— Cutter, 2 Mary Perham. They had no children. He died at Tyngsborough, March, 1869.
196. † Jonathan[5], born March 16, 1780 ; married Nancy Whittemore.

Born at Tyngsborough—

197. † Jeremiah[5], born June 17, 1781; married Elizabeth Mitchell.

198. Peter[5], born about 1783; married Esther Perry of Charlestown, Mass.

Jacob Upton[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, June 12, 1726; married, Jan. 24, 1750, Rebecca Upton[4], [157], born 1737, daughter of Ezekiel and Joanna (Newmarch) Upton of North Reading. The bride was only thirteen at marriage, but became the mother of a numerous family.

He resided in North Reading till 1777, and then removed to Fitchburg. He owned land in North Reading, and also in Lynn, or rather Lynnfield. In 1763, and again in 1767, he was chosen Fence Viewer, and was Parish Collector in 1759.

1760, April 7.—He bought of Jonathan Hart of Lynn, for £140.13.4, 110 acres of land in Lynnfield.* This land joined the land of Ezra Upton of Danvers, [99].

1777, April 6.—Jacob Upton of Reading and Rebecca his wife, for £900 lawful money,† sell

* Essex Deeds, 107 : 244.

† The currency at this time was depreciated. It stood about 112 for 100. In July it was 125 for 100; in December 275 for 100.

to Nathaniel Sparhawk of Haverhill, merchant, several parcels of land in Lynn, about 130 acres in all, with the buildings thereon.*

This sale was preparatory to his removal to Fitchburg,—a new town, incorporated in 1764. Nathaniel Sparhawk, the purchaser, was son of the first minister of Lynnfield, who died 1732.

In Fitchburg, in the north-west part, he kept a noted tavern, and became a prominent man. In 1787, his tavern afforded a refuge to the disaffected party, headed by Daniel Shays, Luke Day and others, which aimed at the abolition of all debts, public and private, and the overthrow of the State constitution. Of this party was Dr. Jonas Marshall. He was secreted in "Upton's Tavern," when sought by a party of soldiers, under Capt. Johnson, who were sent from Lancaster to seize all suspected persons and carry them before a civil magistrate, where they were to take an oath of allegiance to the State, or be committed to jail.

Jacob Upton was a man of great influence, and of a persevering spirit. He and others requested in 1785, in a warrant for a town-meeting, that the inhabitants in the north-west part of Fitchburg be set off, with part of Westminster and part of Ashburnham, to form a new town. But the article in the warrant was dismissed.

He died not far from 1800. His wife Rebecca died about 1820. Their children, all but the last born in North Reading, were—

199. Mary[5], born 1754; married Jonathan Flint of Reading, May 19, 1774. She died in a year or two, and he married her sister.
200. Rebecca[5], born 1756; married, 1 Jonathan Flint, [the same person], May 20, 1777; 2 Benjamin Flint of Reading, Feb. 27, 1788.
201. Phebe[5], born 1758; died about 1773.

ing, April 1, 1729; married, 1754, Susanna Upton, [158], born 1739, daughter of Ezekiel[3] and Joanna Upton of Reading.

He was a "taylor;" resided in Reading; after 1760, in Lynn, or rather in what is now Lynnfield; in a little more than ten years afterwards he removed back to Reading; and died there, July 7, 1795, aged 66. His wife Susanna died Oct. 27, 1786, aged 47.

Their children were—born in Reading—

210. Joanna[5], born Jan. 7, 1755; married Richard Thomas, in Middleton, May 13, 1778. She died Feb. 20, 1838, aged 83.
211. † Abraham[5], born March 28, 1757; married, 1 Judith Bachelder of Andover; 2 Phebe Howard of Salem.
212. Susanna[5], born Feb. 23, 1760. She, or another of the same name, died, unmarried, in Ashby, 1784.

Born in Lynnfield—

213. Sarah[5], born Aug. 6, 1762; unmarried; died at Andover, July 3, 1819, aged 57.
214 Anne[5], born Oct. 29, 1765.
215. Rebecca[5], born Dec. 16, 1768; married Nathaniel Holden, Jr., of Tyngsborough, May 30, 1799.
216. † Elias[5], born Feb. 16, 1772; married Apphia Bates.

Born in Reading—

217. Molly[5], born Sept. 16, 1775; never married; died at Andover, Sept. 13, 1857.
218. † Isaac[5], born Dec. 22, 1778; married Betsey Pratt.

JOHN UPTON[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, 1732; married MARY SOUTHWICK, Dec. 29, 1756.

He lived till about 1790 in Middleton, a town adjoining Reading; was a "cordwainer" and farmer.

June 11, 1753, he was appointed guardian of David Upton, a minor in his eighth year, son of his brother Jeremiah. After the Revolutionary war, probably about 1790, he removed with his family, from Middleton to Sharon, N. H., purchased a farm, and died there in 1805.

He left no will, having previously given more or less property to his four sons. His real estate was appraised at $200; personal, $431.25.

His children were—

219. † John[5], born 1758; married, 1 Dorcas Upton[4]; 2 Atta (Frost) Upton, widow of Thomas Upton, [245].
220. Hannah[5], born 1760.
221. Mary[5], born 1762.
222. † Joseph[5], born 1763; married Betsey McCoy.
223. † Jacob[5], born 1766; married, 1 Hephzibah Southwick; 2 Hannah Barden.
224. Molly[5], born 1770; died in Sharon, 1845, unmarried.
225. Samuel[5], born 1773; probably died young.
226. † David[5], born May 19, 1775; married Polly Nay.

67.

David Upton[4], (Joseph[3], John[2], John,[1],) brother of the preceding, and seventh son of Joseph[3] and Abigail (Gray) Upton of North Reading; born 1734; married Elizabeth Wilkins of Middleton, March 20, 1764.

They lived in North Reading. He was taxed for land owned in Andover, 1780 and '81. After the Revolutionary war "he went down east,"—probably to Norway, Me.

His children, so far as known to us, were—

227. David[5], born about 1765; "went eastward." We find him in Norway, Me., 1799.
228. Sally[5], born 1767; married John Henley of Reading, June 12, 1791.
229. Hannah[5], born 1769; married Hezekiah McIntire of Reading, March 30, 1800.*

69.

Ezekiel Upton[4], (Ezekiel[3], John[2], John[1],) son of Ezekiel[3] and Isabel Upton of North Reading; born there about 1720; married ——.

[The compiler here takes occasion to rectify a statement made on page 47 of this volume, which he now finds to be an error.

* In the record of the marriage of these two daughters, they are said to be "of Reading." John Henley was a settler in Norway, Me., previously to 1797.

Ezekiel Upton[3], [19], born Nov. 9, 1689, husband of Isabel Upton, and father of the above Ezekiel, was not deceased in 1762, as stated on page 47. He came from Reading precinct to Amherst, N. H., in the year 1768,—or rather to that portion of Amherst which was incorporated in 1803, as the town of Mont Vernon,—and there purchased of Josiah Abbot of that town, a farm of sixty-five acres, for £160 lawful money.* Of course the farm was under improvement. He was then verging on fourscore years of age, and probably died soon afterwards, perhaps five or six years later. He had with him a son Enos Upton, born in North Reading, Feb. 7, 1723. Of him more in the next paragraph. He also seems to have had a son Ezekiel, who is known to us only by deeds dated in 1770 and 1773; but he sold out in 1777 to Joseph Perkins of Beverly, Mass., and we hear no more of him.†

The Ezekiel Upton who is spoken of as "deceased in 1762,"—page 47,—was the husband of Joanna Newmarch, page 68.]

70.

Enos Upton[4], (Ezekiel[3], John[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding and son of Ezekiel[3] and Isabel Upton; born in North Reading, Feb. 7, 1723; married Rose (Hayward) McIntire.

They lived in North Reading, at least till 1760. Between that year and 1773—probably about 1770—they removed to Mont Vernon, N. H., which was then the north-west part of the town place, joining land of his brother Ezekiel Upton.*

The names of Enos Upton and Enos Upton, Jr., were attached to a petition, dated Feb. 18, 1774 and recorded in the town record, with about forty others, all of them land-owners, for a new road in Amherst.

The name of Enos Upton is signed, with thirty-one others, to a protest against the settlement of Mr. Jeremiah Barnard, or any other man, as minister in Amherst, until their request for incorporation as a distinct parish is granted. The petitioners all lived in the north-west part of Amherst. The petition was dated Dec. 23, 1779.

Enos Upton continued to live in Mont Vernon till within the memory of men now living,—say until 1792. He then lived in an old house on the farm of Deacon Ezekiel Upton his son.

His children, born in North Reading, were—

237. Naomi[5], born 1753.
238. † Ezekiel[5], born 1755; married, 1 Hannah Washer; 2 Mehitable Codman.
239. † Enos[5], born 1757; married Sarah (Smith) Tapley.
240. Aaron[5], born 1760; died in the army of the Revolution.

81.

WILLIAM UPTON[4], (William[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of William[3] and Lydia (Burnap) Upton; born in North Reading, Aug. 5, 1729; married, 1st, May 10, 1750, SARAH HERRICK, widow of Benjamin Herrick, of Lynn, perhaps Lynnfield; 2d, in Wilmington, HANNAH STANLEY of that town, Dec. 1, 1757; 3d, MEHITABEL ——.

He dwelt in North Reading till 1770, when he removed to Temple, N. H., where his wife Hannah died in 1778.* He died there in 1790, aged sixty-one. He left no will, and his son John Upton of Fitchburg was appointed administrator, May 14, 1790. In the inventory, his real estate was appraised at £215, and personal estate £81.12.†

The year previous to his removal from North Reading, he was elected Constable.

His children were, by first wife, Sarah—

241. † Sarah[5], born Nov. 20, 1755; married Samuel Gardner.

By second wife, Hannah—born in North Reading—

* A portion at least of his property came to him by his wife Hannah. After her death he was appointed guardian of his children by her.

† Hillsborough Prob., 4: 254, 312.

242. † John[5], born 1758; married Abigail Low.
243. † William[5], born 1759; married Mary Morse.
244. Eli[5], born 1760. He was living Feb. 1, 1779, but died not long after.
245. † Thomas[5], born Nov. 28, 1761; married Atta Frost.
246. Mehitabel[5], born Nov. 6, 1763; married Capt. Thomas Thurston of Fitchburg, Jan. 1, 1807.
247. Hannah[5], born Oct. 6, 1765, married Tristram George of Middleton, March 12, 1786. She had a daughter Hannah (George).
248. Nathan[5], born Aug. 11, 1767; unmarried. Lived in Dublin, N. H., from 1796 to 1799. We then lose sight of him.
249. Lydia[5], born April 6, 1769.

Born in Temple—

250. Mary[5], born 1773.
251. Eunice[5], born 1775.

One of these daughters married —— Kitchen, and lived in Marblehead.

By third wife, Mehitabel—

252. Dorcas[5].
253. Rhoda[5].
254. † Eli[5], born about 1785; married Abigail Snow and four others.

82.

Daniel Upton[4], (William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and second son of William[3] and Lydia (Burnap) Upton; born in North Reading, Aug. 19, 1731; married ——.

He lived in Danvers, and died as early as 1759, for we find that his father William Upton was appointed, Dec. 27, 1759, guardian of his young daughter Huldah Upton.*

He died intestate. His children were—

255. Daniel[5], born 1755; died 1765.
256. Huldah[5], born 1757.

83.

James Upton[4], (William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, March 26, 1733; married Rachel Holt of Billerica. He lived in Reading, and probably died early. The birth of but one child of his is on record, in Reading, viz:—

257. †James[5], born in Reading, Feb. 1, 1766; married, 1 Mary Whitney; 2 Rebecca ——.

Jacob Upton[4], (William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Dec. 10, 1739; married Mary Clark, born at Townsend, Mass, June 19, 1743.

He was a soldier in the Old French war, and in the Revolutionary war. He marched forty miles from Ashby, on the news of the battle of Lexington, to join the attack upon the British.

* Essex Prob., 36: 262.

but arrived too late. He served several campaigns in the Revolutionary war.

He removed to Ashby, early in life; was living there in 1798, when he sold land in New Ipswich. Thence, not long after, he removed to Goffstown, N. H., where he died July 4, 1804, aged sixty-six.

His will is dated Feb. 1, 1804; proved Aug. 15, 1804; recorded Hillsborough Probate Records, 11: 71. He mentions his wife Mary Upton, his son Jacob Upton, his daughter Polly, wife of Richard Floyd, his son William Upton, who was to have $200 when twenty-two years old, his grandson Increase Sumner Johnson, and his sons Daniel Upton and John Upton. His son Daniel Upton was named sole executor.

His wife Mary died at Dixmont, Me., in the family of her son William, March 3, 1843, in her hundredth year. She had lived there the last twenty years of her life.

She was a woman of the "true old Puritan stamp," and was a very consistent member of the church of Christ. While living in her son's family, she related to her grandchildren, who still fondly cherish her memory, many facts which occurred in her younger days. She distinctly remembered the destruction of the tea in Boston harbor, in December, 1773, one or more of her brothers being engaged in the transaction. One of her brothers fell at Bunker Hill, June 17, 1775.

The children of Jacob and Mary (Clark) Upton, all born in Ashby, were—

258. Jacob[5]; married Anna ——. He was a physician in Goffstown; died in 1805; without offspring.
259. † Rebecca[5]; married —— Johnson.
260. † Polly[5]; married, 1 Richard Floyd; 2 —— Fuller.
261. † Daniel[5]; married, 1 Rebecca Teel; 2 Asenath Teel.
262. † John[5], born May 20, 1785; married, 1 Betsey Riddle; 2 Mary Ford.
263. † William[5], born Oct. 12, 1787; married Betsey K. Porter.

Jabez Upton[4], (William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and youngest son of William[3] and Lydia (Burnap) Upton; born in North Reading, Feb. 5, 1741; married, 1st, Abigail Taylor of Reading, Oct. 5, 1762; 2d, Hannah Flint of Reading, May 16, 1765.

He was a blacksmith; lived in Reading, probably North Reading. He died there March 23, 1802.

His children, by first wife, Abigail—

264. Abigail[5], born Aug. 26, 1763; married Joseph Bancroft of Reading, Sept. 30, 1784.

By second wife, Hannah—

265. † Daniel[5], born March 13, 1766; married Molly Sawyer.
266. Hannah[5], born Jan. 21, 1768; married William Sawyer of Reading, July 14, 1784.
267. Jerusha[5], born July 13, 1769: married Nathaniel Upton, [151].
268. Elizabeth[5], born June 11, 1771; married William Sawyer, who had been the husband of her sister Hannah, June 1, 1797.
569. Lydia[5], born Aug. 8, 1773; married Aug. 9, 1821, Dea. Jacob Jaquith of Fitchburg. She died there at an advanced age.
270. Polly[5], born June 17, 1776.

John Upton[4], (James[3], William[2], John[1],) son of James[3] and Susanna (Dagget) Upton; born in Danvers, Nov. 19, 1746; married Joanna Dodge, daughter of Joshua Dodge of Beverly, 1767. They were published July 17, 1767.

He was, like his father, a "cordwainer," and passed his life in Danvers. He was considered a very good manager in his day. We find him buying land in Danvers, Oct. 5, 1781.* Also, we find him, Aug. 20, 1798, receiving a mortgage from Job Cressy, a relation of his wife, for $400, of land in Londonderry, N. H.†

* Essex Deeds, 140: 105.

† Rockingham Deeds, 148: 321.

His will is dated June 5, 1823; proved May 18, 1824; recorded Essex Prob., 103: 139. He makes bequests to his son Ebenezer Sprague Upton, trader, to his daughter Hannah, wife of Daniel Dodge, to his daughter Mary, wife of Benjamin Annable, to his grandson Stephen Upton, and to his son John Upton.

He died April 11, 1824, aged seventy-seven years, four months. His wife Joanna died May 1, 1821.

Their children, all born in Danvers, were—

271. † John[5], born July 19, 1769; married Mary Needham.
272. Stephen[5], born Feb. 14, 1771; died Sept. 7, 1790, aged 19.
273. Daniel[5], born April 7, 1774; died Dec. 9, 1774, aged 8 months.
274. Daniel[5], born Oct. 31, 1775; died Dec. 3, 1777.
275. † Hannah[5], born April 14, 1779; married Daniel Dodge.
276. † Mary[5], born Oct. 3, 1781; married Benjamin Annable.
277. Nathaniel[5], born Sept. 11, 1784; died Nov., 1805, aged 21.
278. † Ebenezer Sprague[5], born July 17, 1790; married Sally Richardson.

Ezra Upton[4], (Paul[3], William[2], John,[1]) son of Paul[3] and Phebe (Goodell) Upton of Danvers; born there 1738; baptized Oct. 15, 1738; married, about 1765, Mehitabel Goodell, born 1744. The name was frequently pronounced and written Goodale.

He lived in Danvers all his days; was an "inn-holder," and "yeoman;" and acquired, for those days, considerable property. He bought land in Danvers in 1762, and again in 1764. He bought of the other heirs their several shares in the landed estate of his father, Paul Upton, including the land his father owned in Lunenburg, now Fitchburg.*

He died Feb. 19, 1787, aged forty-eight. His wife Mehitabel was appointed administratrix, April 3, 1787, with James Goodale and William Goodale as sureties. They were probably her brothers.

His widow Mehitabel was admitted to the church in Danvers, Aug. 7, 1791; or possibly it was their daughter Mehitabel. After Ezra Upton's death, his widow married Daniel Putnam; and after his death married Joseph Putnam. She died March 28, 1827, aged eighty-three.

Ezra Upton's inventory was,—88 acres of homestead land, with the buildings, £660; 16 acres of pasture, £30; 59 acres in several lots, £124.9; 23 acres of pasture, £82.16; 6 acres of meadow, £42; 4 acres of meadow in Middleton, £32; 5 acres of woodland in Lynnfield, £15; 3 acres salt marsh in Lynn, £18; 130 acres of land with the buildings thereon, in Fitchburg, £156; oxen and other live stock, £83.5.6. Total, real estate, £1160.5; personal estate, £488.1.3; total, £1648 6*s.* 3*d.

His children were—

279. † Jesse[5], born Nov. 22, 1765; married, 1 Molly Upton; 2 Eliza (Wyman) Wood.
280. Ezra[5], born Feb. 15, 1768.
281. Andrew[5], born May 29, 1770; died young.
282. † David[5], born Dec. 4, 1772; married, 1 Lucy Herrick; 2 Hephzibah Flint; 3 Betsey (Flint) Gardner.
283. Andrew[5], born April 4, 1775; was a mariner; died 1797.
284. Mehitabel[5], born July 13, 1777; married Ebenezer Goodell. They had no children. She died, a widow, in Danvers, March 31, 1850, aged 73.
285. † Phebe[5], born May 31, 1780; married Daniel King of Danvers.
286. † Betsey[5], born July 15, 1782; married Ebenezer King.
287. † Ebenezer[5], baptized Jan. 29, 1785; married Mary King. No children survived him.

DAVID UPTON[4]. (Paul[3], William[2], John[1].)

* Essex Prob., 53: 77, 78.

brother of the preceding; born in Danvers, 1741; baptized April 26, 1741; married SARAH GOODELL, March 5, 1771.

He was a "husbandman," and lived in Danvers. In that town he bought twenty acres of Anna Gardner and others.* He died March 10, 1772, intestate, and his widow Sarah was administratrix, with Jacob Goodale and Samuel Flint as sureties.† Jacob Goodale was probably her brother, and husband of David Upton's sister Hannah.

Widow Sarah Upton was admitted to the church in Danvers, July 12, 1772, and her only child Phebe was baptized the same day. David Upton, therefore, had but one child—

288. Phebe[5], born 1772. She died Sept. 25, 1773, aged 18 months. May, 1774, her mother sold all the right, title, &c., which this child had in the estate of her grandfather Paul Upton, to Ezra Upton.‡

101.

HANNAH UPTON[4]. (Paul[3]. William[2]. John[1].) sister of the preceding; born in Danvers, about 1742; married Dec. 19, 1763, JACOB GOODELL, son of James and Phebe Goodell of Danvers.

In 1762, Dec. 29, he bought forty acres of land in North Reading, bounded on land of Olympius Upton, Ebenezer Upton, and on land formerly belonging to Ezekiel Upton, deceased.*

He lived in Danvers, north parish, and died Sept. 17, 1773. His widow Hannah married his brother James Goodell.

The children of Jacob and Hannah (Upton) Goodell were—

291. Jacob (Goodell), born May 9, 1764; married Rebecca Newhall. Children—Perley (Goodell), Hannah (Goodell), married Samuel King.
292. Phebe (Goodell), born Sept. 6 or 8, 1765.
293. Hannah (Goodell), born May 6, 1767.
294. Hitte or Mehitabel (Goodell), born March 9, 1769.
295. Betty (Goodell), born May 23, 1771.
296. Sally (Goodell), born April 19, 1773.

The children of James and Hannah (Upton) Goodell were—297. William (Goodell); married Mehitable Preston.

298. Sarah (Goodell); married Amos Pope.

104.

JEDUTHUN UPTON[4], (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of Caleb Upton[3]; born in Reading,

* Essex Deeds, 137: 197.

1746; married 1, Dec. 11, 1783, Mary (Brown) Austin, a widow, who was born Feb. 16, 1750, and died in Steuben, Me., April, 1815, aged 65. Previous to her marriage with Capt. Upton, she had three children by her former husband, viz.— Polly Phillips (Austin), born Aug. 1, 1774; Eleazar (Austin), born Feb. 27, 1776; Josiah (Austin), born March 2, 1778.

Capt. Upton married 2, March 17, 1816, Rachel Gage.

He was for a time a baker and a merchant in Salem; he was also a ship-master. He was taxed in Salem, 1798, U. S. direct tax. He was admitted to the Essex Lodge of Freemasons May 4, 1802. In the latter part of his life he removed to Steuben in Maine, where he lived ten years, more or less, and died in June, 1823.

His children, all by first wife, were—

331. † William[5], born June 19, 1784; married Martha Brooks.
332. † Jeduthun[5], born Sept. 6, 1785; married Sally Smith.
333. † Sally[5], born Feb. 19, 1787; married Samuel Hemenway.
334. Betsey[5], born July 20, 1788; never married; died at Salem, November, 1810, aged 22.
335. † John[5], born May 14, 1790; married ——.
336. Polly[5], born Oct. 11, 1791; deceased.

Oliver Upton[4], (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Caleb Upton; born about 1753, perhaps in Fitchburg; married at Fitchburg, Nov. 20, 1777, Susanna Styles of Fitchburg.

He is said to have been of unsound mind. He lived a while at Fitchburg, but nothing further is known of him.

He had by his wife Susanna, at least one child.

337. Molly[5], born at Fitchburg, April 14, 1778.

Abiel Upton[4], (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Amherst, N. H., Oct. 20, 1755; married in Andover, Mass., May 29, 1788, Mary Jenkins of that town, born 1769.

He was brought up in Londonderry, N. H. He lived in South Andover, Mass., in that part then called Scotland District, bordering on North Reading, afterwards in the west parish. He was taxed in Andover from 1778 till 1808, and doubtless longer. When a direct tax was imposed by the U. S. Government in 1798, he was taxed for one hundred acres of land and a two-story house in South Andover owned and occupied by him. He died in that town August 15, 1831, aged 74. His widow died Jan. 22, 1853, aged 84.—(Grave stone inscription.)

The children of Abiel and Mary Upton were—

338. Mary[5], born March 31, 1789; married Joseph Jessup, April 1, 1828. He was a native of England. They lived in Amesbury, and had children, who all died in infancy. In 1863, she was living in Westminster, Mass.

339. † Abiel[5], born April 14, 1792; married, 1 Abigail Carlton; 2 Mary Blaisdell.

340. † Samuel[5], born March 31, 1796; married Lydia Frost.

341. † George[5], born Nov. 10, 1799; married Elizabeth Hardy.

342. Anna[5], born July 30, 1803; unmarried. In 1863 she kept a boarding house in Lawrence, Mass.

343. Elizabeth[5], born March 9, 1805; married Reuben G. Chesmore, Dec. 1835; reside in Westminster, Mass. Children—

Anna (Chesmore.) Alfred (Chesmore.)

345. Margaret[5], born June 5, 1809; married George W. Cutter of Amherst, Feb. 1830. She deceased before 1863. Children—

James (Cutter.) George (Cutter.)

1333.

Robert Upton[4]. (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1].) brother of the preceding; born in Amherst, N. H., May 12, 1758; married in North Reading, 1784, Anna Wheelock, born 1759, in Shrewsbury, Mass. She died in Salem, Feb. 10, 1835.

At the news of the battle of Lexington, he came with a party of volunteers, from his home in New Hampshire, to the vicinity of Boston, though only seventeen years of age. He was in the battle of Bennington, with other New Hampshire men, August 16, 1777. Towards the end of the war he was in North Reading for a year or two, and in 1784 he removed to Salem, Mass., and passed several years there. In 1792 he again removed, this time to Cavendish, Vt. Once more, in 1812, he finally removed to Harrington, now Millbridge, Me., where he died in 1824.

His wife was a near relative of Rev. Eleazar Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth College. She possessed much native force of character, as is evident by letters of hers now in existence. She had the fervid piety which characterized the Wheelock family. In 1784, she rode on a pillion from Vermont, on the way to Salem, but was compelled to stop at Middleton, a few miles short of that place, when she gave birth to her eldest child, Samuel.

The children of Robert and Anna Upton were—346. † Samuel[5], born 1784; married Rebecca A. Pierce.

347. Anna[5], born 1786; married ——: had one child, deceased.
348. † Robert[5], born in Salem, Feb. 16, 1788; married Lucy Doyle.
349. † Jonathan[5], born in Salem, 1790: married Nancy Woodworth.
350. Nancy[5], born in Cavendish, Vt., 1794: died young.
351. † Mary[5], born in Cavendish, 1797: married Thomas Doyle.
352. † Sally[5], born in Cavendish, 1798: married John Strout.
353. † Lucy[5], born in Cavendish, 1800: married John T. Wallace.

Paul Upton[4], (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Amherst, N. H., 1761; married 1, Oct. 5, 1785, Rebecca Pierce, who died November, 1799, aged 35; 2, April 9, 1801, Betsey Pierce, who may have been sister to the former wife. She was daughter of Benjamin and Lydia Pierce of Salem, and died a widow, Jan. 12, 1857, aged 94.

He lived in Salem. He was a man of large proportions and almost Herculean strength. For many years he was superintendent of the Salem Alms House, and in that position died, July 23, 1830, aged 69.

His children,* all by his first wife, were—

355. Joseph[5].

356. † Benjamin[5], born 1786; married 1, Priscilla Ropes, 2, Eliza Willis.

357. † John[5], born December 26, 1791; married Mercy Townsend.

358. † Samuel[5], born December 6, 1792; married Mary Fabens.

359. † Henry[5], born Sept. 3, 1795; married Eliza T. Needham.

360. † Edmund[5], born 1798; married Sally Larrabee.

137.

Edmund Upton[4], (Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Reading, Mass., 1769; married Priscilla Gardner, in Salem, Mass., Sept. 11, 1791. The parties were married by Rev. Daniel Hopkins, D. D., of the South Church, Salem.

He was a ship master, and lived in Salem. There is much obscurity about his history. He was absent from home some years before his

* David Russell, Esq., of Amherst, N. H. who is (in general) very good authority, says that Paul Upton of Salem had a daughter, who married John Johnson of Middleton, Mass.; that they came to Amherst about 1810 or 1812; lived there 8 or 10 years, and then removed to Hartland, Vt. We find on the Middleton town records, and on the church records also, that John Johnson of that place married Sarah Upton, Sept. 22, 1788. But how could Paul Upton, born in1761, have a daughter marriageable in 1788? The probabildeath. The place and manner of his death are alike uncertain. His daughter, now living in Salem, supposes "he died in New York or some other seaport." He was a Freemason, and the record of Essex Lodge, of which he was a member, says he died in Philadelphia in the year 1814. Felt's Annals of Salem, which is generally good authority, says that he was master of ship Sally, and was washed overboard and drowned, Dec. 24, 1799. As he was admitted to the Essex Lodge Dec. 2, 1800, Mr. Felt's date must be wrong.

The Essex Lodge records place his birth as at Reading in the year 1769. They probably received this date from himself.

His widow, Priscilla, died at Salem, January, 1823, aged 55.

Their children, so far as known, were—

361. Edmund[5], born 179—; married Mary Southard, April 24, 1822. Her name in the record of marriage is Sarah, but her true name was Mary. He was mate of ship Columbus of Boston, and died at Matanzas July 8, 1825. According to another record it was 1836.

362. William[5], born ——; died February, 1803.

363. A daughter, born 180—; married —— Stone. Now living in Salem, 4 Prescott St.

Asa Upton[4], (Samuel[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) son of Samuel[3] and Ruth (Whipple) Upton of Danvers; born there, Oct. 3, 1734; married, 1758, Elizabeth Webber of Marblehead.

At the age of twenty, in 1755, he was a private in Capt. Gilbert's company in the expedition to Acadia. This name was applied by the French, the original settlers, to the peninsula of Nova Scotia. The expedition was largely composed of Massachusetts troops, under the command of General Winslow of Marshfield. For the purposes and results of the expedition, see Bancroft's Hist. of U. S., IV. 198, et seq.

His father left him little or nothing; but in 1761 he found means to purchase of his uncle Benjamin four acres of land in Danvers, and in 1765 he bought more land of the heirs of Daniel Gardner.*

In 1768 his rich uncle Benjamin Upton died, and his widow in 1773. Having no children, Benjamin gave by will to Asa all his real estate, except three lots assigned to his adopted child. Sarah.†

† Essex Prob., 45: 75.

He died Oct. 4, 1824, aged 90.

His children were—

366. † Eli[5], born Oct. 7, 1759; married Ede Swinnerton.
367. Elizabeth[5], born Oct. 3, 1767; died Dec. 20, 1769.
368. † Elizabeth[5], born May 18, 1771: married John Swinnerton of Danvers.

Amos Upton[4], (Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) eldest son of Deacon Amos[3], and Sarah (Bickford) Upton; born in North Reading, Oct. 3, 1742; married 1, Feb. 13, 1766, Edith Upton[4], born Oct. 24, 1744, daughter of Francis Upton[3] of North Reading. See [106.] Her name was commonly spoken and written Ede. 2, Joanna Bruce, 3, Hannah Haskell.

He is known on the public records as "Amos Upton the third," being the third in point of age, then living in North Reading.

1773, Sept. 28, Amos Upton 3d and Ede Upton, his wife, for £48.1.4. sell to John Richardson of Lynn [Lynnfield], yeoman, 51 acres of land in Lynn, bounded on Jacob Upton, Ezra Upton, &c.*

He went to what is now the town of Norway, in the State of Maine, sometime in 1789, and felled trees as the commencement of making a farm in the wilderness. He was a pioneer settler, and much hard work was needed to bring the land under cultivation. He moved his family to that town in September, 1790.*

* Essex Deeds, 133 : 88.

He seems to have had a natural aptitude for mechanical operations, for without previous training in such work, he was employed by the handful of new settlers in that region to erect their buildings and also to do blacksmith work.† It is said that he owned the only horse in that part of the town, and the animal had not only the work of its owner to do, but also to go to mill for the entire neighborhood.

His brothers Nathaniel and John were with him, more or less, during his earlier years in Norway; John, in particular, was there five years.

In July, 1800, his house was struck by lightning and badly shattered, and seven persons were prostrated by the shock. Among them was Mr. Ward Noyes, who remained insensible a long time, and probably never would have recovered had it not been for a liberal application of cold water, poured on him by pailsful by Mr.

Upton's directions, he having a short time previous seen in a newspaper an account of its efficacy.

In 1801 he built a small grist mill on a brook which ran across his land, doing nearly all of the work himself, even to making of the millstones. His oldest son, Francis, afterward owned the mill, and still later it was owned and rebuilt by his second son, Amos, Jr.

Mr. Upton was a zealous professor of religion, and his house, which was a large one for that day, was used as a place for religious meetings. He spent much time in fitting his house with seats to accommodate those who came to worship on the Sabbath. The church records were kept at his house, and the names of Amos Upton and his wife Joanna stand respectively at the head of the male and female lists of the first signers to the covenant of the Congregational Church in Norway.* This church was formed Oct. 6, 1802.

Like nearly all pioneers in the wilderness of Maine, he acquired a competence, but never was what in these days would be called wealthy.

Before removing to Maine he had served as a soldier in the Revolutionary War, beginning at the battle of Bunker Hill, and, at length, with tardy justice, received a pension which continued while he lived.

In 1770 he was elected constable in North Reading.

He died April 3, 1838, aged 96. His children, all by his first wife, were—

369. Ede[5] or Edith[5], born Sept. 9, 1768.
370. † Francis[5], born Feb. 24, 1772; married ——.
371. † Amos[5], born Aug. 31, 1776; married 1, Deborah (Covel) Frost; 2, Sally (Swift) Wing.
372. † Hannah[5], born July 15, 1779; married Silas Meriam. She died March 18, 1835.
373. † Micah[5], born Dec. 23, 1781; married 1, Polly Patch; 2, Mary Cordwell.
374. Sarah[5], born Oct. 30, 1783. Probably died young.

year of her age. 2, Elizabeth (White) Cowley, a widow, a descendant of Peregrine White, who was born November, 1620, the first child of European parents born in New England, son of William White, one of the company of the Mayflower.

He was a man of very respectable position in society, a justice of the peace, a man of affairs, much employed in public business, and very highly respected. He was very decided in his views on all subjects, and prepared on all occasions to maintain them. He was rigorously orthodox in his religious faith, holding the doctrines of the Westminster Catechism in their fullest extent with an ardor which nothing could quench and with a firmness which nothing could abate. He delighted in religious discussion, and always held his ground with unshaken resolution.

He was parish clerk in 1783, moderator of the annual parish meeting same year, also moderator in 1801 and eleven years following, ending 1821. He also represented the town in the Massachusetts Legislature.

The following extract from a letter written by Rev. James Flint, D. D., minister of the (Unitarian) East Church in Salem, in 1844, will throw light on Mr. Upton's character. Dr. Flint was born in North Reading, Dec. 10, 1781, and well remembered the subject of this notice. The extract here subjoined appears in the Memorial Volume issued after the bi-centennial anniversary of the incorporation of the old town of Reading, May 29, 1844. It is given there, page 123.

"The principal and most influential heads of families in North Reading, when I resided there in my boyhood, were Deacon Henry Putnam,* ..... Benjamin Upton Esq., an able man, that thought well of himself, ... somewhat stern and opinionated, of unquestioned integrity, and held in respect by his fellow citizens, ... the Flints, the Uptons, the Batchelders, Damons, Eatons, Pratts, Parkers, Swains," etc.

Mr. Upton spent his life in his native town, and died there, August 12, 1827, in the eighty-third year of his age.

His children by first wife, Rebecca, were—

375. † Benjamin[5], born May 12, 1773; married Abigail Kilham.
376. † Daniel Putnam[5], born August 12, 1775; married Hannah Bruce.
377. Rebecca[5], born 1778; died in infancy.
378. † Rebecca[5], born Sept. 22, 1780; married David Preston.
379. † Ebenezer[5], born Jan. 14, 1783; married Polly Putnam.

* Deacon Henry Putnam was a brother of Rebecca, wife of Benjamin Upton. He was born in 1755, and died in 1806.

380. Elisha[5], { twins, born } died in infancy.
381. † Elijah[5], { Aug. 14, 1785. } mar. 1, Phebe Wood; 2, Ruth Downing.

By second wife, Elizabeth—

382. † Elisha Cowley[5], born Jan. 14, 1788; married Irene Flint.
383. † Edward[5], born March 31, 1789; married Betsey Davis.

151.

Nathaniel Upton[4], (Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Nov. 28, 1753; married, 1, Sarah Flint of Reading, Dec. 10, 1778; 2, July 20, 1786, Jerusha Upton[5], [267]. She was born July 13, 1769, daughter of Jabez[4] and Hannah (Flint) Upton of Reading. He was a revolutionary soldier.

He resided in Reading, with the exception of a short interval spent with his brother Amos in Norway, Me., and at length removed, it is said, to Stockbridge. His uncle Nathaniel, who died in 1788, made him his sole heir. See [37.]

The children of Nathaniel Upton[4], by first wife, Sarah, were—

384. Mary[5], born 1781; died Jan. 11, 1804, aged 22.
385. Nathaniel[5], born 1784; died Nov. 13, 1805, aged 21.

By second wife, Jerusha—

386. Jerusha[5], born April 11, 1787; married John Flint of Reading, Aug. 4, 1808.
387. Samuel[5], born Sept. 10, 1788; died Feb. 22, 1797.
388. Eliab[5], born Jan. 12, 1791; married Susan Buxton of Reading, Dec. 20, 1821. They had no children. He died of dysentery at Reading, Nov. 23, 1828. She died also of dysentery, Oct. 8, 1828; only 46 days apart.
389. Sally[5], born Jan. 23, 1793; married Enoch Ingalls of Middleton, Mass., Sept. 7, 1815.
390. Lydia[5], born July 14, 1795.
391. Sophronia[5], born May 2, 1798; died June 21, 1804.
392. Samuel[5], born June 29, 1800.
393. Eliza[5], born Sept. 30, 1802.

John Upton[4], (Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1].) brother of the preceding, and youngest son of Deacon Amos Upton of North Reading; born there June 12, 1768; married Anna Hart of Reading, Oct. 26, 1788. He name is Hannah on the town records, but her children say that it was Anna. She was born in 1767.

His father by will gave him all his real estate in North Reading, and all his live stock and husbandry utensils after the mother's decease, and after paying out certain legacies. [See page 66.] It so happened, however, that the old lady lived to be almost one hundred years old, out-living the son more than five years; and so the bequest came to nothing.

Mr. Upton resided in North Reading three years after marriage, then five years in Malden, then a year or more in Chelsea, then five years in Norway, Me.,* then six years in Salem. He then returned to his native parish in Reading, and died there Feb. 28, 1813. His widow married Nathaniel Phelps, a resident in Barre, Vt., but probably a native of Reading. He was born in 1755 and died in 1839, aged 84. Mrs. Anna (Hart) Phelps, his relict, died in South Reading, now Wakefield, Nov. 29, 1843, aged 76 years.

The children of John and Anna (Hart) Upton were—born in North Reading—

394. †John Bickford[5], born May 27, 1790; married Phebe Shattuck.

Born in Malden—

395. †George[5], born Oct. 4, 1792; married, 1, Mary Damon; 2, Jerusha Smith.

396. Mary[5], born May 17, 1795; married Micah Eaton of North Reading. She died March 12, 1828. No children.

Born in Chelsea—

397. †Amos[5], born June 12, 1797; married Mary Sheldon.

* In Chelsea, he in 1798 was taxed for a house and one-half acre of land near the Malden line. He came into Norway in 1798, and was taxed there in 1799.

Born in Norway, Me.—

398. † Sarah[5], born Sept. 5, 1799; married, 1, Aaron Burditt; 2, —— Johnson.

399. † Asa[5], born Oct. 26, 1803; married Eliza Maxham.

Born in Salem—

400. † Julia Ann[5], born Aug. 15, 1806; married Francis Boutwell.

401. Harriet King[5], born June 27, 1808; married Andrew Maxham, from Winthrop, Me. They lived in Barre, Vt. She died Jan. 23, 1846. No children.

Joshua Upton[4], (Joseph[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) eldest son of Joseph and Mary (Wilkins) Upton of North Reading; born there March 18, 1720-1; married, 1, Mary Parker, March 20, 1740; 2, Hannah Woodin, March 27, 1746.

He lived many years in North Reading, near Andover line, and not later than 1761 removed over the line into Andover. He was taxed in Andover as a resident from 1761 to 1768, and perhaps previously.

1745, April 7, Joshua Upton of Reading, husbandman, buys land in Andover of John Parker of Reading, bounded in part on his father Upton's land.*

* Essex Deeds, 104 : 188.

1754, April 10, Martha Osgood of Salem, for £120, sells to Joshua Upton of Reading, husbandman, sixty acres of land in Andover.*

1769, Aug. 7, Joshua Upton of Andover, husbandman, and Hannah his wife, for £260 lawful money, sell to Jabez Hayward of Andover, sixty acres of land in Andover, which formerly belonged to the farm of Capt. Peter Osgood, bounded south on Reading line; also four acres more.†

No record of children has been found.

As he was not taxed after 1769, he probably died in that year.

Hezekiah Upton[4], (Joseph[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, March 28, 1725; married, 1, Lydia Flint, probably of Reading, June 10, 1752; 2, Sarah Whiting of Reading, Feb 15, 1780.

Some time after his first marriage, he went to Alexandria, N. H., and in the record of his second marriage he is said to be of that town. But he was taxed in Reading, as a resident, 1771. In 1798, he owned and occupied a house and 153 acres of land in Reading, as appears from the U. S. direct tax list. In his will, dated Jan. 7, 1804; proved April 17, 1805, he describes himself as of Reading. Probably most of his life, after his second marriage, was passed in Reading. No children are mentioned in his will: and he seems to have had none. He made his nephew Hezekiah Flint his heir.*

He probably derived his name from Hezekiah Wilkins of Middleton, his mother's brother.

He was chosen constable of the town of Reading in 1779 and '80; Selectman in 1773; Overseer of the Poor in 1775 and '76. Town Treasurer in 1777, and a Captain in the militia. He died in North Reading, Nov. 27, 1804, aged 79. We find no children of his on record.

Elijah Upton[4], (Joseph[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, April 10, 1731; married in Middleton, Aug. 29, 1753, Molly Lambert of that town. She died March 17, 1810.

He lived and died in North Reading.

1762, Dec. 29, Elijah Upton of Reading,

* Midd. Prob., 96; 261.

yeoman, sold to Jacob Goodale [101] of Danvers 40 acres of land in Reading, bounded on land of Olympius Upton [his brother], Ebenezer Upton [his cousin], and on land formerly belonging to Ezekiel Upton [48] deceased.*

He was surveyor of highways 1765, Collector 1765, served in the Continental army 1777, Selectman 1780.

There are no children of his on record.

Elisha Upton[4], (Joseph[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, May 18, 1732; married, 1st., at Middleton, April 11, 1753, Margery Wilkins; perhaps his cousin, on his mother's side. 2d, in Middleton, Nov. 20, 1770, Sarah Gilford of that place.

His home was in Middleton, after his marriage, twenty years or more. At the Lexington alarm he hurried with many of his neighbors to the repulse of the British troops, and it is said he was in the Revolutionary army some years, and in several battles. These services must have terminated as early as the spring of 1781, because in that year he was living in Amherst, N. H., as appears from what follows.

* Essex Deeds, 116., 107.

1781, Aug. 29, Elisha Upton of Amherst, cordwainer, for 163 Spanish milled dollars, sells to William Gilford of Derryfield, cooper—probably his brother-in-law—land in Derryfield, now part of Manchester, N. H. To Amherst he might have been attracted by his connection with the Wilkins family, a branch of which dwelt there. 1784, May 6, Elisha Upton of Methuen, yeoman, for £27.13.4., lawful money, sells 30 acres of land in Amherst. 1787, June 13, Elisha Upton of Methuen, cordwainer, sells to Benjamin Wilkins, Junior, of Amherst, land in Amherst. After this we find him in Bow, N. H., where he died in 1805.

The will of Elisha Upton of Bow, N. H., is dated Oct. 15, 1803; proved May 15, 1805; recorded Rockingham Probate, 36: 174, 175, 176. He gives one third of his real and personal estate to his wife Sarah for life, the remainder to his son Elijah. To his sons Elisha, John, Cier [i. e. Hezekiah], six shillings each. To Elijah "my farm which is all the landed interest I have in Bow." Mentions his daughter Sarah Rowe, living with his son Elijah. Appoints his son Elijah and Jacob Green, executors. Inventory dated April 23, 1805. Real estate $400.

His children were — by first wife Margery —

403. Elizabeth [5], born July 4, 1753; married Humphrey Case, Jan. 20, 1775, had Elijah (Case) born 1781; and others afterwards. They resided in Middleton.
404. Margery [5], born 1756; died young.
405. David [5], born 175–; died young.
406. John Wilkins [5], born 1763; died young.
407. Elijah [5], twins, born 1767; both died young.
408. Elisha [5], twins, born 1767; both died young.
409. Molly [5], born June 5, 1769.

All the above children, except Mrs. Case, died, it is said, before Mr. Upton's second marriage.

By second wife, Sarah—

410. Sarah [5], born 1776; married John Rowell, 1805. They had two children. She died in 1812.
411. † Elisha [5], born about 1779; married Dolly Moore.
412. † John [5], born in Methuen about 1782; married Mary Hammond.
413. † Elijah [5], born in Methuen, March 15, 1784; married Betsey Bancroft.
414. † Hezekiah [5], born in Methuen about 1786; married Jemima Sargent.

170.

Ede Upton [4], (Joseph [3], Joseph [2], John [1],) youngest daughter of Joseph and Mary (Wilkins) Upton; born in Reading, 1739; married, 1757, Samuel Flint of Danvers. They were published July 23, 1757.

They lived in Danvers, probably in the South Parish, or what is now the town of Peabody.

Their children were —

415. Ruth (Flint), born Oct. 17, 1758.
416. Samuel (Flint), born Aug. 23, 1760; died 1769.
417. Elijah (Flint), born July 16, 1762.
418. Ede (Flint), born April 18, 1764.
419. Hezekiah (Flint), born Jan. 31, 1766.
420. John (Flint), born Feb. 16, 1768; married Ruth Upton [443].
421. Molly (Flint), born May 25, 1770.
422. Samuel (Flint), born June 9, 1772.
423. Benjamin (Flint), born Nov. 25, 1774.
424. Nancy (Flint), born Sept. 19, 1777.

172.

Ebenezer Upton[4], (Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) eldest son of Ebenezer[3] and Sarah (Goodell) Upton of North Reading; born there Dec. 22, 1730; married Mary Girdler.

He resided in North Reading all his days. By the tax list of 1798—U. S. direct tax—it appears that he owned and occupied a house, and about one hundred acres of land in that parish, besides land in Lynnfield. He was Surveyor of Highways 1759 and '68; Moderator of parish meetings 1784, '85 and '88; Selectman 1772, '74, '87 and '88. He was also a Revolutionary soldier.

He died in North Reading, April 3, 1799, aged 68. His widow Mary died Dec. 5, 1827, aged 92.

The will of Ebenezer Upton, yeoman, of Reading, was dated 1795; proved April 16, 1799. In it he provides for his wife Mary; and gives 400 dollars each to his two daughters, Sarah Flint, and Molly Upton. As his son George Upton was deceased, he makes a bequest to George's widow, Anna Upton; and gives to his son-in-law, Eliab Stone, Junior,—who must have been the son of Rev. Eliab Stone, minister at that time in North Reading, and brother of Deacon John Stone, distiller, of Salem, who became so famous about 1833, as the hero of the celebrated tale of "Deacon Giles's Distillery"—the farm on which the testator lived, to have one half immediately after his decease, and one half after his wife's decease.*

The children of Ebenezer and Mary Upton were—

425. Sarah[5], born Nov. 6, 1757; married George Flint, Junior, of Reading, Jan. 22, 1784.
426. Ebenezer[5], born Sept. 29, 1760; died young.
427. Molly[5], born 1764; died young.
428. † George[5], born May 3, 1765; married Nancy Whittredge. In the will just quoted, she is called Anna.
429. Anna[5], born 1766; married Eliab Stone, Junior, April 19, 1792. She had a daughter, married Johnson, who now, 1872, resides at Nahant.
430. Molly[5], born Jan. 6, 1769; married Jesse Upton, [279].

Josiah Upton[4], (Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Aug. 24, 1735; married 1st, Susanna Emerson of Reading, Dec 28, 1756; 2d, Catharine Hartwell. She was a widow, taxed in Charlemont for a house and twenty-nine and a half acres of land, in 1798.

He was by occupation a blacksmith, and resided in North Reading till about 1769, when he appears to have removed to Bedford, and afterwards in 1778 to Charlemont, Mass. He was a constable in Reading, 1767; surveyor of highways, 1764. He was taxed in Bedford in 1771. He died Dec. 10, 1791.

His children, born in North Reading, were—by his first wife—

431. Susanna[5], born Dec. 28, 1757; died September, 1760.
432. † Josiah[5], born June 5, 1759; married Sarah Underwood.
433. Susanna[5], born Nov. 11, 1760.
434. Lucia[5], born 1763, baptized March 13, 1763.
435. † Elias[5], born Jan. 1, 1765; married ——.
436. † Abiathar[5], born about 1767; married ——.
437. Nathaniel[5], baptized Nov. 6, 1768. In 1798 he owned and occupied a farm of 50 acres in Charlemont. It is believed that he afterwards removed to Western New York. He had no children.
438. † Joseph[5], born 1770; married Thirza Flint, Jan. 26, 1797.

By second wife—

439. † David[5]; married ——.

440. † James[5], born Feb. 19, 1779; married Olive Boughton.

441. † Joanna[5]; married, 1, Norman Brace; 2, Isaac Marsh.

442. Sarah[5].

All the children of the first wife died in Charlemont, except Lucia, who died in Rome, N. Y.

175.

Amos Upton[4], (Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Ebenezer[3] and Sarah Upton; born in North Reading, May 6, 1738; married, June 30, 1772, Ruth Upton[4], [108], born Nov. 2, 1748, daughter of Francis Upton[3] of North Reading.

In the record of marriage, in deeds and other documents, he was known as Amos Upton, Junior, to distinguish him from Amos Upton the third, son of Deacon Amos Upton; all these dwelling at the same time in the North Precinct of Reading.

1777, Feb. 25, Amos Upton, Jr., of Reading, yeoman, and Ruth his wife, for £373.6.8, lawful money,* sell to Love Pickman of Salem, widow,

* This must have been Continental money, then going at the rate of three for one.

81 acres of land in Reading, bounded on land of Amos Upton the third, of Isaac Upton, of Jacob Upton, &c., with all the buildings thereon, excepting the easterly half of the house, which the said Amos Upton reserves as long as his sisters remain unmarried, viz., Hannah Upton, Dorcas Upton, Eunice Upton, Jerusha Upton, Lucia Upton, and Sarah Upton. Of the will of his father-in-law, Francis Upton, Amos Upton, junior, was sole executor. In 1798, he was taxed for a house and 111 acres of land in Reading. He passed his life in his native parish of North Reading. He died there Jan. 21, 1822, aged 84. Ruth, his wife, died Dec. 1, 1817, aged 69.

Their children were—

443. Ruth[5], born March, 1773; married, Apr. 6, 1791, John Flint [420] of South Danvers, now the town of Peabody. She died April 22, 1843, aged 70. They lived in the West Parish of Andover. Their son Alanson Flint lived on the homestead in 1863.

444. † Aaron[5], born 1778; married Abigail Damon of Ashby.

445. † Amos[5], born Nov. 6, 1788; married Hannah Phelps Flint.

446. Sally[5], born 1792; unmarried; died April 15, 1818, aged 26.

FIFTH GENERATION.

John Upton[5], (John[4], John[3], John[2], John[1],) son of John and Tabitha Upton[4] of Lynn, now Lynnfield; born there, Oct. 16, 1746; married, 1st, Sally Pool, May 5, 1768. They were married by Rev. Joseph Roby, minister of the Third Church in Lynn, which is now the First Church in Saugus. It is fair to conclude, therefore, that the bride's parents belonged to what is now Saugus. She died March 26, 1799, aged 51. 2d, Hannah Nichols, November. 1800. She died Sept. 17, 1837, aged 89.

He was, like his father, a "cordwainer," though owning land and carrying on other business. He passed his long life in Lynnfield, not far from the residence of the Uptons in Danvers and North Reading. He owned two slaves, but emancipated them. He early engaged in the military service of his country; fought at Bunker Hill; was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary army, and afterwards a captain in the militia. He represented the town of Lynn in the Legislature of Massachusetts seven years.

He died April 30, 1838, aged 92. There is record of only one child*—

450. † John[6], born Aug. 4, 1779; married, 1st, Betsey Wiley; 2d, Sarah Witherspoon.

Jeremiah Upton[5], (Isaac[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) son of Isaac[4] and Tabitha (Graves) Upton of Middleton, Mass.; born in North Reading, July 1, 1761; married Elizabeth Carlton of Andover, Nov. 16, 1786.

He lived in Middleton, and inherited the ample property of his father there. From the U. S. direct tax list it appears that in 1798 he owned a farm of 129 acres and 50 acres of woodland in Middleton. He also owned land in Topsfield. He died Dec. 6, 1825, aged 64. His wife Elizabeth died Oct. 2, 1841, aged 79.

Their children were—

451. Betsey[6], born July 26, 1788.
452. Jeremiah[6], born Dec. 20, 1790; died Oct. 26, 1799.
453. Charlotte[6], born Sept. 23, 1794.

* There were probably other children, who died in infancy, and whose names have not been preserved, born in the interval of eleven years between the marriage of the parents and the birth of John[6].

454. Isaac[6], born Jan. 23, 1797; died July 22, 1808, aged 11 years, 6 months.
455. Jeremiah[6], born Dec. 8, 1800; married ——; lived in Brookline, N. H.; died in 1826.
456. Sally[6], born June 4, 1804.

Jonathan Upton[5], (Joseph[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) son of Joseph[4] and Elizabeth (Lovejoy) Upton; born at North Reading, March 16, 1780; married in Tyngsborough, Mass., by Rev. Samuel Lawrence, Dec. 1, 1803, Nancy Whittemore, born in Malden, Sept. 25, 1786. She died in Nashua, N. H., Sept. 10, 1851.

When he was an infant, his father and family removed to Tyngsborough, Mass., which was till June, 1789, a part of Dunstable. His occupation was that of a farmer. He passed his life in Tyngsborough, Hudson, N. H., and Dunstable, Mass. He died in Dunstable, Aug. 16, 1839.

His children were—born in Tyngsborough—

457. † Nancy[6], born March 22, 1805; married Jefferson Caldwell.
458. † Joseph[6], born Oct. 25, 1806; married Martha Ann Jones.

Born in Hudson, N. H.—

466. † John Green[6], born Feb. 5, 1823; married, 1st, Mary Danforth; 2d, Mary A. Wilson; 3d, Lydia A. Wilson; 4th, Jennie C. Hagget.

Born in Dunstable—

467. Susanna[6], born Nov. 9, 1826; died April 23, 1827.

468. † Julia Ann[6], born Dec. 29, 1829; married Jeremiah M. Avery.

197.

Jeremiah Upton[5]. (Joseph[4]. Joseph[3]. John[2]. John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Tyngsborough, Mass., June 17, 1781; married Elizabeth Mitchell of Dunstable, Mass.

He was a blacksmith; was born, lived, and died, on the farm which formerly belonged to his father Joseph Upton, in Tyngsborough. He died March 3, 1824, aged 43.

His children were—

469. Betsey[6], born 1809; unmarried; died 1829.
470. † Jeremiah[6], born Feb. 21, 1811; married Almira Howard.
471. James[6], born 1813.
472. † Amos[6], born Sept., 1815; married Margaret Anderson.
473. † Joseph[6], born Sept., 1820; married Hannah Colby.

Jacob Upton[5] (Jacob[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) son of Jacob[4] and Rebecca Upton of Fitchburg, Mass.; born in Reading, 1775; married, Jan. 20, 1802, Mary Conner Cowdin,* born at Fitchburg, July 17, 1782, daughter, by Hannah his second wife, of Capt. Thomas Cowdin, a leading citizen of that town, its earliest representative in the State Legislature, a firm friend of order in the time of Shays' Insurrection. Mr Upton in 1798, or more probably his father, owned and occupied a house and 260 acres of land in Fitchburg, as we learn from the U. S. direct tax list.

They spent their lives in Fitchburg, and were highly respected. He died there, Dec. 23, 1827. She died at Boston, Oct. 29, 1859, of old age, aged 77.

* Her name appears on Fitchburg Town Record as Polly. Her children gave her name to me as Mary.

Their children were—

474. Mary Ann Rebecca[6], born Aug. 23, 1803; married Sept. 4, 1821, John Wetherbee of Lunenburg, afterwards of Fitchburg. She is deceased.

475. † Martha Fox[6], born Oct. 16, 1805; married Chedorlaomer Marshall.

476. † Albert Craige[6], born Jan. 24, 1807; married Nancy Whittemore.

David Upton[5], (John[4], Joseph[3], John[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and youngest son of John[4] and Mary (Southwick) Upton; born in Middleton, Mass., May 19, 1775; married Polly Nay, daughter of Deacon William Nay of Peterborough, N. H.

He went with his father and family to Sharon, N. H., about 1790, where the father and the older brothers provided themselves with farms.

He probably passed the most of his life in Sharon. He died in the village of Peterborough, at the house of his son-in-law John Smith, Oct. 9, 1860. His children were—

521. † David[6], born Oct. 30, 1798; married Mary Scripture.

Ezekiel Upton[5]. (Enos[4], Ezekiel[3], John[2], John[1],) son of Enos Upton[4], who removed in 1768 from North Reading to Amherst, N. H.;

born in North Reading, about 1752; married, 1st, Hannah Washer of Amherst; 2d, Mehitable Codman, a widow. Her original or maiden name does not appear; but she was successively widow Avery, widow Codman, and widow Upton, thus outliving her three husbands.

Mr. Upton accompanied his father from Reading to Amherst, about 1768. Nov. 2, 1770, Ezekiel Upton of Amherst sold to Ezekiel Upton, Jr., of Amherst thirty acres of land in Amherst, bounded north on Solomon Kittredge.* This was in the northwest part of Amherst, now constituting the town of Mount Vernon. 1773, March 30, Ezekiel Upton, Jr., of Amherst, for £106.13.4, sells to Nathan Cleaves thirty-five acres of land in Amherst, bounded north on land of Solomon Kittredge, west partly on land of Enos Upton, and partly on land of Ezekiel Upton. Here we find evidence that his father Enos Upton, and his uncle Ezekiel were at that time in Amherst [or Mount Vernon.]

His wife Hannah was received to full communion in the church in Amherst, Nov. 7, 1779. He himself is described as "a good christian man

* These two Ezekiels seem to have been the grandfather and uncle of the subject of this notice. In 1768, the grandfather is said to be of "Reading Precinct."

through life." He was a deacon of the church in Mount Vernon from 1800 several years. In the latter part of his life he embraced Baptist views and united with the Baptist church in Milford, N. H. He died in 1835, at the age of eighty years.

As his father spent the last few years of life in his family, so he—the deacon—lived with his son Ezekiel in Lyndeborough, adjoining Mount Vernon, in his closing years. They sold their farm in Mount Vernon and moved to Lyndeborough in 1833.

His will is dated April 8, 1834; proved Dec. 1, 1835; recorded Hillsborough Probate, 41: 185. He mentions his wife Mehitable, eldest daughter Hannah Mills, eldest son Ezekiel Upton, and son Nehemiah Upton. The testator gives to son Ezekiel "my pew in Mount Vernon meeting-house." They were, while in Lyndeborough, not so far from their former residence but that they attended meeting in Mount Vernon.

John Upton[5], (William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of William[4] and Hannah (Stanley) Upton; born in North Reading, 1758; married Abigail Low, July, 1783.

He went with his father and the family from North Reading to Temple, N. H., in 1770, Some years after, he took up his abode in Fitchburg, Mass., a few miles distant, and there entered the married state. Not long after, or perhaps previously, he opened a store in that town, and prospered in his worldly concerns.

1786, March 29. William Upton of Temple, N. H., and Mehitabel his wife, for £200 lawful money sell to John Upton of Fitchburg, Mass., land lying partly in New Ipswich and partly in Temple. Nathan Upton, his brother, is one of the witnesses. His father, William Upton of Temple, dying 1790, John Upton was appointed administrator. He was an active man, a man of some property, and Captain of the Fitchburg Fusileers.

He died at the house of his eldest son Joseph in Fitchburg, October, 1811, aged 53. His widow Abigail died in the family of her son Joseph, Sept. 7, 1829.

Their children, all born in Fitchburg, were—

562. † Joseph [6], born July 3, 1784; married Susan Thurston.

563. John [6], born Aug. 7, 1787; married —— Cunningham of Tennessee. He went first to Tennessee, and afterwards to Illinois. He died of cholera at Keeseville, Ill., Sept. 1, 1834. After his death, the family returned to their native Tennessee. He had three sons, one named [564] John [7].

567. Abigail [6], born Oct. 22, 1789; died of liver complaint in Fitchburg in 1811.

568. † Timothy Felton [6], born Nov. 12, 1792; married Eunice Vinton.

Thomas Upton[5], (William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Nov. 28, 1761; married June 20, 1782. Atta Frost, born 1761, in Andover, Mass. They were married by Rev. William Symmes, D. D., of North Andover.

At the time of his marriage, he was living in Danvers. After this he lived many years in Marblehead, where most of his children were born. He owned and occupied a house there in 1798. About the year 1801 or 1802, after living in Andover a while, he settled on a farm in Peterborough, N. H., where he died in October, 1809, aged 48. Atta his widow married for her second husband John Upton of Sharon [219]; lived with him till his death in 1825; then came back to Peterborough, and lived there with her son Eli till his death in 1829; and finally died herself in Peterborough, in June, 1842, aged 81.

His will is dated Oct. 17, 1809; proved Oct. 31, 1809; recorded Hillsborough Prob., 16: 394. In that instrument he provides for his wife Atta Upton; gives to his son Eli one half of the farm, and to his son Thomas the other half; certain rights and privileges being in each case reserved in favor of their mother. The testator made bequests also to his sons William, Nathan, Joseph, Joshua, and Benjamin, on their becoming twenty-one years of age; also to his daughter Atta Upton.

The children of Thomas and Atta Upton were—born in Marblehead—

580. Eli[6], born 1783; died in infancy.
581. † Eli[6], born Jan. 16, 1785; married, 1st. Rebecca Watts; 2d. Mary Upton [522].

Born in Peterborough—

589. † Joshua[6], born Jan. 3, 1801: married Priscilla Taggart.
590. † Benjamin[6], born March 3, 1803; married Susan F. Dawson.

Eli Upton[5], (William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) half brother of the preceding, and son of William[4] and Mehitable Upton; born in Temple, N. H., 1785; married, 1st, 1808, Abigail Snow of Jaffrey, N. H.,—she died about 1828, or later; 2d. Betsey Curtis of Sharon, N. H.; 3d. Nellie White; 4th, Betsey Upton, born Aug. 31, 1786, daughter of John Upton of Sharon [491]; 5th, Lucy Upton, born Aug. 31, 1791, sister of Betsey, the fourth wife [492].

He lived in Peterborough many years, and at the age of 87, died at the residence of his son Eli, in Morrison, Ill., Dec. 12, 1871. His widow is said to be now living in Peterborough.

His children were, by first wife, Abigail—all born in Peterborough—

Some time previous to his first marriage, he went to Dublin, N. H., and with his cousin William Upton [243] settled on Lot No. 20, Range 4, in that town. [See Leonard's History of Dublin.] As he was not taxed in Dublin after April 1795, the probability is that he then died, or moved away.

His children, born in Dublin, were, by first wife Mary—

601. Susanna[6], Jan. 22, 1789.
602. James[6], born April 16, 1792.

By second wife, Rebecca—

261.

Daniel Upton[5], (Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Jacob[4] and Mary Upton; born in Ashby, Mass., March 6, 1783; married, 1st, May 29, 1811, Rebecca Teel. born March 25, 1780, daughter of Aaron and Rebecca Teel. She died Aug. 9, 1821. 2d, May 5, 1822, her sister, Asenath Teel, who was born May 5, 1799, and died Dec. 26, 1869, aged 70.

When Daniel Upton was twelve years of age, his father removed to Goffstown, N. H., where he—the father—died in 1804. Daniel continued to live there till after his first marriage, when he removed to Springfield, Vt. He lived there till about 1816, when he removed to Wilmot, N. H., where he passed his remaining days.

He had but little worldly property, but was rich in those possessions which are never taken away. He was rich in Christian faith, in a true and earnest life, in the esteem of all who knew him. He was a staunch Congregationalist of the old Puritan type, and was active in establishing and maintaining a church of that character in the town where he lived. This being a strong democratic town, and he an earnest federalist, whig, and afterwards free-soiler, he of course was chosen to no office. Yet his influence was strongly felt in moulding the elements of society. He was especially interested in schools, having taught many winters, and always keeping up his interest in them. He always sustained the teacher, even when his own children happened to be at fault. He was a man of decided ability, of good general intelligence, and of firm, solid character. One of his sons, now a leading man in New Hampshire, says—"Two better men than father and uncle John did not live."

He died at Wilmot, Nov. 4, 1856, aged 73.

His children were—by first wife—born in Springfield, Vt.—

615. Rebecca J.[6], born March 11, 1812; married James F. Taylor. They lived in Wilmot. She died August, 1849. Mr. Taylor died in Andover, N. H., April 7, 1871. Their children—

263.

William Upton[5], (Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Ashby, Mass., Oct. 12, 1787; married, July 12, 1815, at Gloucester, Mass., Betsey Kay Porter, daughter of Moses Porter, who was born in Boxford, Jan. 18, 1750, and died in Dixmont, Me., April 10, 1832. Mr. Porter was a Lieutenant in the war of the Revolution; was in the army of Gen. Gates, and was employed by him as a bearer of despatches. An old-fashioned brass clock, which belonged to his father, made in 1756, by Daniel Balch of Newbury, Mass., is now in the possession of William Upton [644] at Minneapolis, and is good, apparently, for another hundred years.

Mr. Upton taught school in Gloucester, Mass., during the war of 1812. One day, while engaged in teaching, a ball from a British man-of-war passed within six feet of his school-house.

In 1815, he went to Bangor, Me., and engaged in trade. In 1816, he removed to Dixmont, Me., where he was a trader many years. About 1846, he left trade and engaged in agriculture, in the same town. In 1856, he sold his property in Dixmont, and removed to St.

Anthony, Minn., where he died, Dec. 22, 1867, aged 80. His wife died at the same place, Nov. 1, 1868.

Their children were—born in Bangor, Me.—

644. † William[6], born June 22, 1816; married Louisa A. Lane.

Born in Dixmont—

645. † Benjamin Franklin[6], born Aug. 3, 1818; married Sarah Foster of Topsham, Me.

John Upton[5], (John[4], James[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of John[4] and Joanna (Dodge) Upton; born in Danvers, in that part which is now Peabody, July 19, 1769; married, Nov. 24, 1793, Mary Needham, born in Danvers, March 26, 1770, daughter of Stephen Needham, a respectable farmer, and town clerk of Danvers. Her mother was Elizabeth Moulton, a native of Monson, Mass. They were married by Rev. Benjamin Wadsworth of Danvers.

He passed his life in his native town of Danvers. He was a trader in the grocery and produce business many years. His house, built by himself, was on the lot purchased by his ancestor William Upton[2], and James Upton his grandfather, in 1733, and ever since owned and occupied by the family.*

He was a man of generous impulses, of a public spirit, and of liberal views in matters of public concern. By his foresight, and persistent energy in urging and influencing the town and county to open Foster Street, and the road to the iron foundry at Danversport, the principal business of the town at that time was removed from the Monument to the Square, and that vicinity.

The Monument erected to the memory of the seven Danvers men slain in the Lexington affair was projected, and the subscriptions for it solicited, by him.†

* 1733, Jan. 10—William Upton[2], son of the original emigrant, and his son James[3], bought of Ezekiel Goldthwaite, a lot of land with the house upon it, on what is now Main Street in Peabody. The house is still in existence, but now stands on a lot purchased by James Upton aforesaid in 1769. This last lot and the old house are now the property of Ebenezer Sprague Upton, grandson of James[3], The original lot descended to Emma Dodge, widow of Daniel Dodge, [666], who was owner till 1871, when it was sold, with all the buildings upon it.

1746, April 8—James Upton[3] bought a lot of land, upon which a house was erected by his grandson John[5], the subject of the notice in the text; which house is now occupied by Stephen Upton[6], son of John[5], and J. Warren Upton[7], son of Stephen[6]. This house and one half of this lot of land now belongs to John Taylor, Esq., husband of Dorcas Wheeler, who is sister of the wife of Stephen Upton.

by an iron fence. It is twenty-two feet in height, and is seven feet square at the base. The inscription, on Italian marble, is as follows:

"Battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775. Samuel Cook, aged 33 years; Benjamin Daland, 25; George Southwick, 25; Jotham Webb, 22; Henry Jacobs, 22; Ebenezer Goldthwaite, 22; Perley Putnam, 21; citizens of Danvers, fell on that day.

"Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori."

On the reverse—

"Erected by citizens of Danvers on the 60th anniversary, 1835."

The address at the dedication of the monument was by the Hon. Daniel P. King, whose mother was an Upton, [697].

At that time, 1835, Danvers included the present town of Peabody.

There were two Uptons from Danvers in the affair at Lexington, viz., Nathan, son of Timothy [127]; he was in Capt. Samuel Eppes' company of militia, which belonged to what is now Peabody: and Asa Upton, son of Samuel [142], who was in Capt. Samuel Flint's company of militia. There were five companies from Danvers present at the Lexington battle.—[Hanson's Hist. of Danvers, pp. 108, 109.

Although it is true that these Danvers companies were in the affair of Lexington, it is not true that they reached Lexington at all; for they encountered the very strong flank guard of the British at West Cambridge, now Arlington, were caught between that flank guard and the main body on the retreat of the invading force, and there lost by death the seven men to whose memory the monument was erected. These seven men were just one seventh part of the whole number of the Americans killed that day.

680. † Ezra[6], born July 12, 1795; married, 1st, Elizabeth Upton [658]; 2d, Mary Ann Bowditch.

* It has heretofore been stated in this Memorial that John Upton, the first of that name in this country, bought a tract of land in the north-west part of the present town of Peabody, in 1658 and 1671, consisting of 120 acres, and at his death, 1699, left the same to his sons William and Samuel. These brothers, in 1708, divided this farm between them in equal parts, William taking the western section. William Upton, in April, 1739, just before his death, conveyed his part, being 60 acres, to his son Paul. Paul died intestate in 1750, at the age of forty; but his son Ezra eventually came into possession of this homestead, or at least the greater part of it, by purchasing the rights of his brothers and sisters, between 1764 and 1774. He died in 1787, and left the property to his children. A portion of woodland remains in the possession of the children of his grandson Ezra Upton [680]; but the farm of John Upton, at least nearly all of it, it is supposed, has gone into the hands of strangers.

* We copy here from a Memoir of Hon. Daniel P. King, by Hon. Charles W. Upham, found in the Essex Historical Collections, vol. x. part 1. Read before the Society April 19, 1869.

"Daniel Putnam King was born in Danvers, Mass., Jan. 8, 1801. His parents, Daniel and Phebe (Upton) King, were of families long settled in that town and vicinity. Originally its territory, as well as portions of the surrounding towns, was included in the limits of Salem. This territory is remarkable for the superior character of its first proprietors. Mostly agriculturists, they were of uncommon intellectual development, individuality of personal traits, independence of thought, and energy of spirit. Their descendants remain, in large numbers, on the same area to-day. Perhaps it would be safe to say that in no district of our country have old families been so numerously preserved. Very many now occupy lands which their first American ancestors cleared. * * *

"His family had maintained a respectable position from the first, in the class of farmers, but was raised to a condition of affluence by the extraordinary spirit and force of one of its female heads.

"The grandmother of Daniel P. King [his father's mother] opened a small shop or store in the farm-house, which was close to a public road, affording needful supplies to, and making purchases from, passing teams and the country people in the vicinity. * * *

"Leaving the affairs of the farm to her husband, she took the entire charge of the store and the business connected with it, made her own purchases from the original importers, sold directly to exporters, and was recognized as a merchant in full standing. Besides miscellaneous trading, she carried on the manufacture of vinegar on a great scale. * *

"The result was that her family was raised to a degree of wealth far above what could have been derived from agriculture alone.

Samuel Upton[3], (Robert[4], Caleb[3], William[2], John[1]), son of Robert[4] and Anna (Wheelock) Upton of Salem; born in Middleton, Mass., 1784, while his mother was on a journey from Vermont; married in Salem, March 20, 1810, Rebecca Allen Peirce of that place. They were married by Rev. Thomas Barnard, D. D., of the North Church.

His early advantages for education were extremely limited. He told his children that he used to study, stretched on the floor, by the light of a pitch-pine knot. He himself taught school before he was nineteen, and aided his younger brothers Robert and Jonathan, and his sisters.

He was a merchant in Salem in 1806, and some following years. In 1816 and 1818, he was in Castine, Me., engaged in the shipping business, part of the time associated with Thomas Adams under the firm of Upton & Adams. This partnership being dissolved, he went to Boston, and after some years of varied success he failed there in business, and went to Bangor, Me., were he was much in political life, and it is said was editor of the Bangor Gazette. While there, Daniel Webster visited that place, and made a speech, which was written out for the press. Mr. Webster paid Mr. Upton the compliment of handing him the manuscript, and requesting him to correct it and prepare it for the public eye. This speech appears in the edition of Webster's Life and Speeches, issued under the care of Messrs. Everett and Felton.

Mr. Upton afterwards returned to Boston, and was spoken of as a suitable person to succeed Joseph Tinker Buckingham in editing the Boston Courier; but business, in connection with the Neapolitan treaty, required his presence in Washington, D. C. To that place he removed his family, and there he died March 3, 1842, aged 58. He was interred in the Congressional Cemetery.

He was a man of great ability, of a strong mind, and a generous heart. He was self-taught, but well informed in matters of history, politics and morals. He possessed great conversational powers, and it was said of him that he could address and please anybody from the peasant to the prince. Of an active, enterprising disposition, his life was crowded with adventure.

Mrs. Rebecca A. Upton, his widow, died at Cambridge, Mass., and her remains rest in the cemetery at Mount Auburn.

Their children were—

774. † Wheelock Samuel[6], born at Salem, January 17, 1811; married Mary Elinor Waters.

. Robert Upton[5]. (Robert[4], Caleb[3], William[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Salem, Feb. 16, 1788; married in Sedgwick, Me., Sept. 17, 1811, Lucy Doyle, born in Salem, March 17, 1795, eldest daughter of Thomas and Lucy (Perry) Doyle, formerly of Salem but then of Sedgwick.

When four years of age, 1792, he, with his parents and their family, removed from Salem to Cavendish, Vt.; his mother making the journey on horseback, with her son in front of her. Among his schoolmates there was Hon. Richard Fletcher, who was about his own age,* and who during his life-time cherished a kindly remembrance of him. He was for some years employed in tending a grist-mill, but in June, 1805, being then turned of seventeen, he came back to his native town of Salem, bearing all his worldly possessions in a pack on his back.

Disappointed in some expectations of business in Salem, he, in August following, went to Sedgwick in Maine, where he took charge of the variety store of Thomas Doyle, Esq., whose daughter Lucy he afterwards married. In May, 1809, he returned to Salem. In 1810, he was in business with Joseph Howard, under the firm of Howard & Upton, commission merchants. In 1816, he formed a partnership with James Brace, Jr., under the name of Upton & Brace; being then engaged in the foreign trade, principally to Bahia in Brazil. On the failure of Mr. Brace's health, the connection was dissolved in 1820. From 1823 to 1825, he was engaged in the St. Jago de Cuba trade, with occasional voyages to Maranham in Brazil. From 1826 to 1836, and later, his business was principally in the Para trade. Early in 1837, he commenced trading to the river La Plata; his first vessel there being the barque Chalcedony, Capt. George Upton [783]. In this business, extended afterwards to Rio Grande in Brazil, he was, with several of his sons, actively engaged, until he withdrew entirely from trade early in 1857.

* Hon. Richard Fletcher was born in Cavendish, Vt., Jan. 8, 1788; grad. D. C. 1806; read law with Daniel Webster; practiced law some time at Salisbury, N. H.; removed to Boston; was some years Judge of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts; died in Boston, June 21, 1869.

In business matters, he exhibited sound judgment, great energy of will, and indomitable perseverance; while the lifelong integrity and worth of his character were fully recognized by his associates.

He was a thorough reader of a few favorite books; and in conversation his well chosen words were always to the point. Although, from the lack of early advantages, not possessing the easy manners of some, yet an acquaintance with him soon evinced the carefulness with which his opinions had been formed, as well as the modesty with which they were expressed. In early manhood he connected himself with the Baptist church in Salem, then under the pastoral care of Rev. Lucius Bolles. The religious principles then avowed by him were his guide in subsequent life and his support in prospect of death.

In 1831 he purchased the estate on Winter Street, built and owned by the late Judge Story, and occupied by him during his residence in Salem. Here, within call of his family of seven sons and two daughters, and their children, he quietly departed this life, Sept. 9, 1863, aged 75 years, 6 months and 24 days. His wife Lucy died there. Feb. 3, 1859, in the sixty-fourth year of her age.

Their children were—

They were married by Rev. William Bentley of the East Church in Salem. She died, June 6, 1828, aged 37. 2d, Oct. 11, 1831, Eliza Willis, born April 28, 1794, daughter of John and Elizabeth Willis.

He was a ship-master and merchant; had great force of character and personal courage; as the following facts, derived from Felt's Annals of Salem, will show:—

"The privateer Montgomery of Salem, under the command of Capt. Benjamin Upton, mounting twelve guns, with a crew of eighty-nine men, on the night of Dec. 6, 1812, had a severe engagement with the British packet ship Surinam, of superior tonnage, mounting twenty guns, and having a full complement of men, including soldiers who were passengers. After brisk firing on both sides for half an hour, the Surinam attempted to board the Montgomery, but without success. Fastened together, a most spirited contest ensued and continued fifty-one minutes, when the two vessels, both in a shattered condition, separated, and both hauled off to repair damages. The Montgomery had four killed and eighteen wounded, one mortally. Capt. Upton himself was severely wounded. This action was accounted one of the most severe during the war." *

After this he was engaged in a long and successful career of mercantile business in Salem, where he died Nov. 4, 1853, aged 67. His wife Eliza died there, Feb. 23, 1870, aged 75 years, 9 months and 26 days.

Eli Upton,[5] (Asa[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) son of Asa[4] and Elizabeth (Webber) Upton of Danvers; born there Oct. 7, 1759; married Ede Swinnerton of Danvers, Oct. 22, 1782. She was born Jan. 11, 1757, and died June 6, 1833, aged 76. They were married by Rev. Benjamin Wadsworth, minister of Danvers.

There is good authority for the statement that the land purchased by John Upton, the ancestor of the family, in Peabody in 1658—1671, or at least a considerable portion of it, remained in the possession and occupancy of his descendants till the death of Eli Upton, which occurred February 24, 1849, in his ninetieth year. This farm was originally in "Salem Village," or the present town of Danvers. When South Danvers, or what is now the town of Peabody, was separated from Danvers, May, 1855, it took this farm with it.*

After Eli Upton's death, the farm was sold. It is now owned by Rev. Willard Spaulding, formerly Universalist minister at Salem, but now of Cincinnati, and is taxed to him this present year, 1872. The whole original farm of 120 acres, left by John Upton to his sons William and Samuel, is now in West Peabody, near to

* The line between the two towns, Danvers and South Danvers, was carried further north than the old line between the two parishes North or "Salem Village" and South or "Middle Precinct." The following is the Report of the commissioners appointed by Gov. Henry J. Gardner, to determine the line, in September, 1855. It is copied from the Town Record of South Danvers, or Peabody, page 33 :—

"The boundary line between the towns of Danvers and South Danvers shall be constituted as follows, to wit: Beginning at the stone monument on the boundary line between Salem and Danvers west of Porter's River, and running thence northwesterly to an oak tree marked D. and S. D., near high-water mark in Waters' River, on land of Richard Osborne, and continuing in the same course to the channel of said River, to a point where the lands of Nathan H. Proctor and Hicks Richards intersect said River; thence in a straight line to a point on the Newburyport Turnpike six hundred feet southerly of the mile-stone near the house of Jasper Pope; thence to a point on the Great Bend of the Ipswich River, near the entrance of Bacon's ditch." After this, the Ipswich River becomes the boundary between South Danvers and Middleton. The line as thus established, threw the original estate of John Upton into the present town of Peabody. It had previously been in Salem Village or Danvers.

Ipswich River, and not far from the paper mill in Middleton. The old Upton House has been razed to the ground since Mr. Spaulding owned the property.

The children of Eli[5] and Ede Upton were—

857. Ede Putnam[6], born May 22, 1784; married Thomas Symonds, Feb. 14, 1813. She died May 27, 1852, aged 68.

858. † Eli[6], born Dec. 20, 1786; married Matilda Parker, 1818.

859. Emeline[6], born ——; married William Parker of Wilmington, June 29, 1845. She is deceased.

869. † John Swinnerton[6], born Dec. 29, 1792; married Elizabeth Swinnerton.

Elizabeth Upton[5], (Asa[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) sister of the preceding, and daughter of Asa[4] and Elizabeth (Webber) Upton; born in Danvers, May 18, 1771; married Dec. 12, 1790, John Swinnerton, born April 10, 1761, son of John Swinnerton of Danvers. He died 1825. She died Sept. 11, 1826, aged 55.

Their children were—

861. Elizabeth (Swinnerton), born 1791.

862. Ede (Swinnerton), born 1794.

863. Lucy (Swinnerton), born 1797.

864. John Putnam (Swinnerton), born 1799.

Francis Upton[5], (Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) eldest son of Amos Upton[4] and Edith Upton[4], born in North Reading, February 24, 1772; married,——, 1800, Sarah Bancroft, of Norway, Me. She was born at Lynnfield, Mass., July 11, 1783, daughter of John Bancroft[6], who with his family removed thence to Norway, about 1800. John Bancroft's father, grandfather and great-grandfather all bore the name of John, and descended from Thomas Bancroft, who died at Lynn End, now Lynnfield, in 1691.

Mr. Upton went with his father from North Reading to Norway, in the then District of Maine, in September, 1790, and worked with him at making a farm in what had been, in all time previous, a wilderness, till the time of his marriage, he then being twenty-eight years of age. For his services his father gave him the grist mill which he had built, and the small farm which was attached to the mill property. He carried on the mill but a few years, and then exchanged with his brother Amos, for a farm a mile or two westerly, on the same road. Subsequently he sold that place and removed to the town of Gray; he lived there four or five years and then returned to Norway, and "carried on" a farm for one year.

The next year, 1822, he bought land, all covered with wood, in the adjoining town of Albany, and, with the aid of his sons, he made a very productive farm. While at work on this Albany farm, he received a severe injury by the falling upon him of a limb from a tree which he was cutting down. The injury effected his head to such an extent, that he became insane, and remained so until his death, which took place in February, 1836, at the age of sixty-four years.

The children of Francis and Sarah Upton, were—870. Sally[6], born March 29, 1801; married Jan. 1, 1827, Sumner Frost; died May, 1845. Their children were—Lydia (Frost), Maria (Frost), Fanny (Frost).

871. † Francis[6], born July 15, 1802; married ——, 1826, Sarah Gardner, of Boston. He lived in Bridgewater, Mass., and died there in 1856.

871½. Edith[6], born ——; lived about one year.

872. † Micah[6], born May 27, 1807; married May ——, 1834, Ruth Abbott; died ——.

873. † Eben[6], born June 1, 1809; married Nov. 30, 1837, Lydia Bancroft, of Norway. Lives in Albany, Me.

874. Mary[6], born Oct. 5, 1811; died April 29, 1839.

875. Hannah[6], born March 28, 1814; married, 1st, Cyrus Moore; 2d, Peter Emery. Children—Solon

(Moore), Betsey Jane (Moore), Cyrus Newton (Moore), Harriet (Moore), Noah Roscoe (Emery). Francis Henry (Emery).

876. Lucy[6], born July 7, 1816; married Jan. 8, 1839, James Knight; died ——, 1856. Children—Ellen (Knight), Amelia (Knight), Celia Ann (Knight), Isaac (Knight), Harriet Matilda (Knight), Charles (Knight).

877. Sophronia[6], born Aug. 18, 1818; married Feb. —, 1845, James Farmer. They lived in Aroostook County, Me. She died in 1868. Children—James Francis (Farmer), Charles Henry (Farmer), John Augustus (Farmer), Ann (Farmer), Catharine Winfred (Farmer), Sophronia (Farmer), Andrew (Farmer).

878. Harriet[6], born Nov. 28, 1821; married April —, 1845, Abram Green. Children—James Lewis (Green), Annette Augusta (Green), Emma Isadore (Green)—deceased, John Arthur (Green), Charles Sumner (Green), Carrie Emma (Green) —deceased.

879. † Andrew[6], born Dec. 28, 1824; married Sept. —, 1858, Mary Holmes.

880. John[6], born July 11, 1828; married June 14, 1855. He served in the 10th Reg't, Me., Vols., in the war of the great rebellion. He was killed while shackling cars on the Grand Trunk R. R., in Bethel, Me., July 31, 1866.

371.

Amos Upton[5], (Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and second son of Amos[4] and Edith Upton; born in North Reading, Mass., Aug. 31, 1776; married 1st, 1808, DEBORAH (COVEL) FROST, widow of Jacob Frost. She was born on Cape Cod, and died Sept. 27, 1815; 2d, 1816, SALLY (SWIFT) WING. She died May, 1819.

He accompanied his father to Norway, in the then District of Maine, in September, 1790, and worked with him until after he was twenty-one years of age. After arriving at majority he bought land on the county road leading from North Norway to Waterford, and built a house and barn and cleared off the wood to a considerable extent. Subsequently he exchanged his farm with his brother Francis for the mill and the land connected with it, and there spent the remainder of his days. In religious belief he was a Universalist; in politics he adhered to the Republican party of his day, the same that afterwards took the name of "Democratic." From the mill and from his farm together, he received a comfortable support for his family. Throughout his life he enjoyed the respect of his fellow citizens, as a man, but belonging to the party which in that town was the minority, —as it has been almost uniformly to the present time.—he was seldom, if ever, called upon to serve in public office, for which indeed he never manifested any taste or desire.

He died Jan. 31, 1842, aged 65 years, 5 months.

His children were—by his first wife Deborah—

881. † Ebenezer Covel[6], born Dec. 15, 1808; married Mercy Jane Marble.

882. Mary Jane[6], born July 26, 1810; unmarried; died Oct. 31, 1836.

883. † Henry[6], born Feb. 6, 1813, married Harriet F. Baker.

884. † Elijah[6], born Aug. 6, 1815; married Mary Foy.

By second wife Sally—

885. † Amos[6], born April 17, 1817; married Sarah Marston.

886. Lydia[6], born April 12, 1819; married —— Wood of Cohasset, 1845; died 1846.

372.

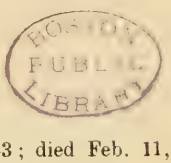
Hannah Upton[5], (Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) sister of the preceding; born in North Reading, July 15, 1779; married Silas Merriam, Aug. 10, 1798. Mrs. Merriam went to Norway with her father in 1790. She is still remembered as a devoted wife, a loving mother, a kind and obliging neighbor, a faithful friend, and a sincere Christian woman. Her husband was born in Middleton, Mass., and went to Norway in June, 1793, where he purchased land, covered with forest, a short distance north of Fuller's—now Swift's—Corner. He made a large and good farm, built and finished a large house, with extensive outbuildings, and possessed a competence. He died, universally respected, Aug. 1, 1844. Mrs. Merriam died March 18, 1835. Their son Silas, now 72 years of age, lives on the same farm.

The children of Silas and Hannah (Upton) Merriam, all born in Norway, were—

887. Silas (Merriam), born July 10, 1800; married Mary Coburn, July 8, 1835. Their children were—

Andrew M., born May 14, 1836.
Olive S., born July 24, 1837.
Frederic R., born July 26, 1838.
Milton H., born January 25, 1840.
Alma E., born January 22, 1842.
Granville R., born March 21, 1843; died Feb. 11, 1844.
Lawson L., born January 11, 1849.



888. Andrew (Merriam), born Sept. 30, 1802; died unmarried, Feb. 17, 1824.
889. Amos (Merriam), born Feb. 13, 1807; still living unmarried. Of late years he has been quite blind.
890. Noah (Merriam), born Nov. 24, 1810; went West.

373.

Micah Upton[5], (Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Dec. 23, 1781; married 1st, Polly Patch, April 18, 1809. She died Dec. 10, 1810. 2d, Mary Cordwell, Dec. 23, 1812.

He in his childhood accompanied his father in 1790, into the wilderness of Maine, and has lived to see it become a fruitful field. He is still living in Norway, Me., the place where the family took up their residence eighty-two years ago.

A letter from his nephew, Elijah Upton[6], son of Amos[5], dated Bath, Me., Feb. 15, 1870, says—"My uncle Micah is a slight built man, about five feet six inches in height, and quite as erect and active as the average of men at the age of sixty or seventy. He is now the sole survivor of his father's family. He and his eldest son Uriah are among the best farmers and orchardists, and own one of the very best farms in the county of Oxford, Me." So much can human skill and industry effect, when wisely directed, and under the blessing of God.

The children of Micah Upton, all by second wife, are—

893. † Uriah Holt[6], born May 31, 1813.
894. † Polly Patch[6], born Sept. 13, 1815.
895. † Aurelia[6], born Oct. 24, 1817.
896. † Harriet N.[6], born Aug. 15, 1819.
897. William B.[6], born Feb. 17, 1822.

375.

Benjamin Upton[5], (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) eldest son of Benjamin[4] and Rebecca (Putnam) Upton, born in North Reading, May 12, 1773; married ABIGAIL KILHAM, of Boxford, July 10, 1798. She was born April 3, 1770.

He resided in North Reading, and died there Dec. 17, 1817, aged 44. His widow Abigail died Sept. 27, 1853, aged 83, thus surviving her husband nearly thirty-six years.

Their children were—

898. Benjamin[6], born Sept. 23, 1800; married Melinda Hough, Sept. 19, 1830. He died Dec. 10, 1835, and left no offspring.

899. John Kilham[6], born Oct. 21, 1802; married Mary Putnam of Reading, Nov. 28, 1831. He died June 15, 1832. No issue.

900. Priscilla[6], born July 22, 1806; unmarried; died Sept. 28, 1838.

901. † Charles Augustus[6], born Sept. 25, 1808; married Cynthia Curtis.

902. Rebecca Putnam[6], born January 26, 1812; married Joseph Elbridge Holt of North Reading, Oct. 17, 1861. He died by his own hand Feb., 1871.

376.

DANIEL PUTNAM UPTON[5], (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and second son of Benjamin[4] and Rebecca (Putnam) Upton; born in North Reading, Aug 12, 1775; married, Nov. 11, 1801, HANNAH BRUCE, born in Mendon, Mass., Dec. 27, 1766, daughter of George and Hannah (Lovett) Bruce of that town.*

He graduated at Harvard College, 1797, in the class which contained the names of Hon. Horace Binney, of Philadelphia, Dr. William Jenks, of Boston, William M. Richardson, Chief Justice of New Hampshire, Asahel Stearns, Professor of Law at Cambridge, Dr. John C. Warren, of Boston, and Hon. Daniel Appleton White, of Salem. On leaving college he pursued the study of law, the latter part of the time with his brother-in-law, Phineas Bruce of Machias, in Washington County, Maine, a lawyer of considerable eminence in the profession.

He was admitted to the bar of the Court of Common Pleas in Machias, at the August term, 1800. On being admitted, he selected Eastport, in the most eastern part of the District, now State, of Maine, in which to commence the practice of his profession. He was the first lawyer who ever resided in that town, which is the smallest in territory in the State, and then, including Lubec, contained a population of only five hundred and sixty inhabitants. Situated on on island, separated from the rest of the State by a dense and continuous forest, it held intercourse with the outside world only by water. The first two-story house there, was built in 1802, two years after Mr. Upton removed thither.

He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court, held at Castine, in June, 1803, and was commissioned as a Justice of the Peace, May 10, 1804.

His course as a lawyer was highly respectable. He possessed more than ordinary talents, and would have become distinguished in the profession, had he chosen a more favorable location. Had his residence been in a community where there existed an earnest competition to awaken an active emulation on his part, he would have stood high among legal men.

His life was destined to be a short one. At the early age of thirty, he fell a victim to the ravages of pulmonary disease. What else could have been expected among the fogs of the Bay of Fundy? He took a severe cold, occasioned by exposure, and died in his native town, at his father's house, Dec. 31, 1805, having come thither for better medical aid than he could find in his eastern home.

His widow survived him a few weeks more than fifty years, and to the end of her long life never ceased to speak of him with the tenderest affection. Her character is thus drawn in the Boston Daily Advertiser of March 4, 1856: —

"She was a person of rare intellectual endowments, gifted with uncommon conversational powers, of a cheerful, happy temperament, and was ever a welcome guest among her many relatives and friends. Of a well cultivated mind and a retentive memory, she had a distinct recollection of the events of the Revolutionary War, being one of the few surviving links which connect that interesting period with the present age. She took a deep interest in political matters, and being a disciple of the Washington School, she ever entertained a deep regard for that party which adopted and adhered to the principles of its founder. She was well informed on the current events of the day, having been an extensive reader, until within a few years, when the loss of her eye-sight deprived her of that privilege.

"Her religious principles were of the liberal class; her life was unblemished and exemplary, and she was truly a good woman."

She died on Lord's day, March 2, 1856, in the ninetieth year of her age.

The children of Daniel P., and Hannah Upton were—

903. † Daniel Putnam[6], born May 1, 1803: never married.

904. † George Bruce[6], born Oct. 11, 1804: married Ann Coffin Hussey.

378.

Rebecca Upton[5]. (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1].) sister of the preceding, and daughter of Benjamin[4] and Rebecca (Putnam) Upton; born in North Reading, Sept. 22, 1780; married Sept. 16, 1802, DAVID PRESTON of Danvers, born Nov. 30, 1777.

He lived in Danvers most of his life, but in his latter days removed to Newbury. His wife died Jan. 14, 1827, aged 46 years, 2 months. He died in Newbury, Feb. 23, 1856, aged 78 years, 3 months.

Their children were—

905. Rebecca Putnam (Preston), born June 8, 1804; married Herrick Batchelder.
906. † Sophronia (Preston), born July 6, 1806; married Andrew Mansfield.
907. † Elizabeth White (Preston), born Nov. 14, 1808; married Joshua L. Newhall.
908. Martha (Preston), born Jan. 5, 1811; unmarried; died Aug. 9, 1870, aged 59 years, 7 months.
909. † David (Preston), born Sept. 25, 1812; married Mary W. Blake.
910. † Mehetabel (Preston), born April 27, 1816; married Daniel P. Emerson.
911. † Benjamin Upton (Preston), born Jan. 5, 1820; married Martha E. Philips.

379.

EBENEZER UPTON[5], (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in North Reading, Jan. 14, 1783; married Jan.

16, 1806, Polly Putnam, born April 19, 1784. sister of Col. Jesse Putnam of Danvers.

He lived many years in his native town, North Reading; then removed to Bradford, N. H., where he owned and cultivated a large farm; was a Justice of the Peace, &c. He was a good substantial man, and had a mechanical genius.

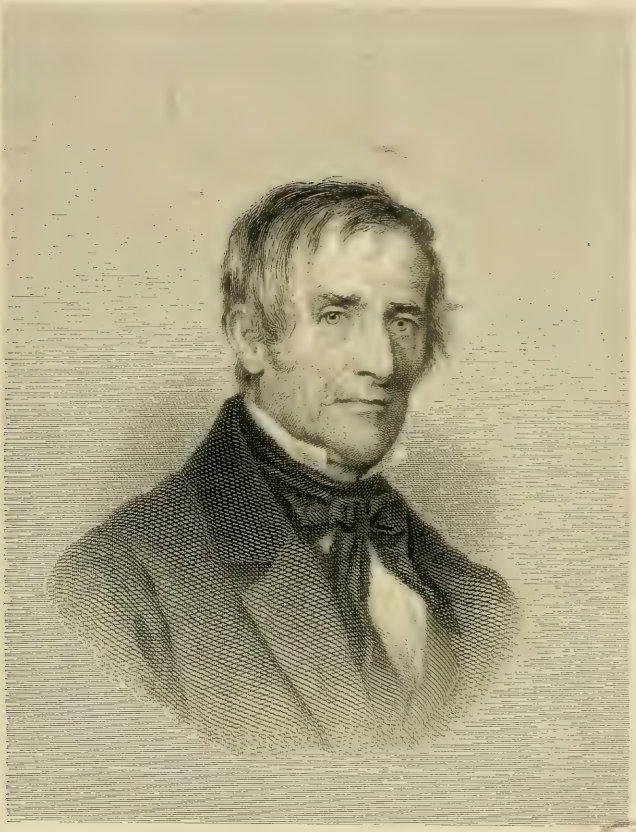
He died Aug. 13, 1822, aged 39. His wife Polly died Oct. 3, 1831, aged 47.

Children—

912. † Daniel Putnam[6], born Dec. 18, 1806; married Lydia Noyes.
913. Mary Putnam[6], born Aug. 22, 1810; married Albert M. Chase, May 27, 1834. Had an infant son born and died, 1847.
914. † Ebenezer Perley[6], born June 22, 1813; married Fidelia Lee.
915. † Pamelia Flint[6], born April 17, 1815; married Francis P. Putnam.
916. † Phebe Wood[6], born Sept. 17, 1817; married Martin R. Buswell.
917. Infant son, born and died, Aug. 10, 1820.

381.

Elijah Upton[5], (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Benjamin[4] and Rebecca (Putnam) Upton; born in North Reading, Aug. 4, 1785; married 1st, July 2, 1809, Phebe Wood, born in South Danvers, March 23, 1787; died there July 12,



Elijah Upton

1821; 2d. Nov. 9. 1821, Ruth (Harrington) Downing, who died June 1. 1843.

He was by trade a tanner and currier, and also, about 1809, engaged in the manufacture of glue. In both departments he did a large business, and rose to the possession of a handsome estate. He was universally esteemed and respected by his fellow citizens. The following biographical sketch, which appeared soon after his death in the "Wizard" of South Danvers, presents a just view of his character. It was written by Mr. Fitch Poole, and was printed under date of March 28, 1860:—

"ELIJAH UPTON.

"The present week has brought intelligence to this town of the decease, at Brattleborough, Vermont, of one of the oldest and most substantial of the business men of South Danvers. Mr. Elijah Upton has been an invalid for many years, and long since had retired from active participation in business affairs. The nature of his disease, which was some affection of the lungs, compelled him to remove from the influence of our easterly winds, and seek the clear and bracing mountain air of Brattleborough, where he has passed several of his later years.

"Mr. Upton came in his youth to South Danvers, and served his apprenticeship as a tanner with Capt. Dennison Wallis. He was at different times in partnership with Mr. Joseph Tufts and Caleb L. Frost.

"Mr. Upton was the first man in this town to commence the manufacture of glue, and by his sagacity and enterprise, built up an extensive business in this article.

"He had great inventive faculty, and made many and great improvements in the manufacture, and was always extending his works. He was also constantly improving its quality, until he obtained possession of the market over his rivals.

"Mr. Upton was a large holder and operator in Real Estate, and our town is more indebted to him than to any other man for erecting dwellings for our population, for opening streets and avenues, levelling hills and raising valleys to make eligible sites for buildings. His far-seeing sagacity enabled him to take advantage of the prospective growth of the village, a sure event to him, but not discoverable by the foresight of others.

"It was not at all times that Mr. Upton was equally active and enterprising. He was subject to alternate elation and depression, and in his sombre moods was quiet and inactive, but these seasons were always succeeded by times of increased energy. He was a liberal giver to public objects which commended themselves to his regard, among which were the temperance reform and missionary and denominational enterprises. Among the latter was an attempt to form a new religious society in this place, which he failed at the time to accomplish, and this may be mentioned as almost the only instance in which he failed to effect what he resolutely attempted to perform."

To this we may add that he was a man of very extensive reading, and of a sound judgment. He became a large owner of Real Estate, to improvements of which he devoted the latter part of his life. The engraving accompanying this work gives a very correct idea of the man.

He died at Brattleboro, Vt., March 25, 1860.

His only child was by the first wife Phebe, to wit—

918. † Elijah Wood[6], born Feb. 24, 1811; married 1st, Louisa King; 2d, Lucy Elizabeth Winchester.

382.

Elisha Cowley Upton[5], (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) half-brother of the preceding, and son of Benjamin[4] and Elizabeth (White) Upton; born in North Reading, Jan. 14, 1788; married April 7, 1811, Irene Flint, born at Middleton, Mass., Feb. 17, 1789, daughter of John Flint of Middleton, was a Lieutenant in the Continental Army.

After his marriage, he lived in South Danvers, now Peabody. He was a carpenter by trade, and afterwards a millwright; a man of superior mechanical attainments.

He died at South Danvers, June 14, 1826, aged 38 years, 5 months.

Children, all born in South Danvers except the first—

919. Elizabeth White[6], born at North Reading, Feb. 16, 1812; died April 24, 1816.

920. † Irene Flint[6], born Sept. 1, 1814; married 1st, Aaron C. Proctor; 2d, Alonzo P. Phillips.

921. Elizabeth White[6], born Nov. 3, 1816.

922. † Elisha Allen[6], born July 29, 1818; married Mary

I. Cunningham. [His name was afterwards changed to Eugene.]

923. † Henry B.[6], born Sept. 29, 1820; married Lydia M. Noble.

924. † Ann Maria[6], born April 21, 1822; married James M. Southwick.

925. Horatio Gates[6], born Oct. 7, 1823; died Aug. 23, 1824.

926. † Amelia F.[6], born March 17, 1825; married George Frank Waters.

383.

Edward Upton[5]. (Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and youngest son of Benjamin Upton, Esq., of the North Parish in Reading; born there, March 31, 1789; married at Woburn, October 12, 1815, Betsey Davis, born at Weston, April 7, 1797.

His portrait, hereto prefixed, well represents his natural character. He was distinguished for great firmness, an indomitable will, and an inflexible courage. The sterner traits which he inherited from his Puritan ancestors were in him relieved by generous social tendencies, a rich humor and a pungent wit.

A mason by trade, he built, in the year 1817, the first brick house in the city of Montreal, and in 1821, the first brick house in South Reading.

now Wakefield, Mass. His work was thoroughly done, and substantial like the man himself. He resided many years in South Danvers, now Peabody, and took a conspicuous part in the business enterprises of that flourishing town, and in its civil concerns. It was mainly through his instrumentality that the Warren Bank in that place was chartered.

It was in South Danvers that Rufus Choate commenced his law practice. Not being able to find a convenient room for an office, Mr. Upton gave him the use of the front room in his dwelling house, for that purpose. This favor Mr. Choate never forgot, always refusing to receive from him compensation for legal services.

Mr. Upton was too outspoken a man, and too upright in character, to have much inclination for political life. He always refused public office. He entertained, nevertheless, strong party convictions, and was a true patriot. His youngest son's life was freely given to his country, in the war of the Great Rebellion.

The later years of the active life of Mr. Upton were devoted to farming in Lynnfield, whither he had retired on an ample income. The last twenty years of his life were passed, free from engrossing business, in Wakefield.

The blindness which afflicted his last years he bore with manly courage, and without complaint. He retained to his last sickness his clearness and strength of mind, his social qualities, together with an inexhaustible fund of anecdote and of old Essex tradition.

He died at Wakefield, August 12, 1868, in his eightieth year.

His children, born at Danvers, were—

927. Elizabeth[6], born Aug. 30. 1816; died Oct. 8, 1816.
928. Edward White[6], born Sept. 28. 1817; died Dec. 14, 1818.
929. Mary White[6], born Nov. 10, 1819; died Dec. 8, 1825.
930. † Martha Jane[6], born May 1, 1822; married 1st, Hiram Doten; 2d, Geo. W. Evans.
931. † Elizabeth[6], born March 18, 1827; married Herbert Gleason.
932. † Edward Augustus[6], born Sept. 23, 1829; married Susan M. Simpson.
933. Mary[6], born Dec. 23, 1831.

Born in Lynnfield—

934. Ann Rebecca[6], born June 19, 1834.
935. † Elisha Putnam[6], born March 29, 1837; married Julia E. Estes.
936. Eben Davis[6], born Dec. 3, 1840; killed in the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864.

* This account was given to me at Fitchburg, Dec. 12, 1871, by Amos Upton, brother of the father of these children. The dates of birth he did not give me, but I have copied them from the Shattuck Genealogy, page 354. Some of the dates are manifestly wrong; e. g., Harriet could not be born six months after her brother James. Mr. Shattuck also gives a wrong date for the birth of the father, John B. Upton. It is correctly given above.—[ED.

Amos Upton[5]. (John[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of John[4] and Anna (Hart) Upton; born in Chelsea, Mass., June 12, 1797; married Dec. 3, 1818, Mary Sheldon, born Sept. 22, 1799; daughter of Nathaniel Sheldon of North Reading.

His early life, as related by himself, Dec. 12, 1871, was one of adventure, not to say of romance. He early embraced a sea-faring life, and when a mere lad went on several voyages from Boston and Salem. He took passage from Boston, April 3, 1812, not as a common sailor, "before the mast," nor yet as an officer*—in the ship Sall, Capt. Luther Stedman, bound to Archangel in Russia. Off the North Cape of Norway, the ship's company descried the British frigate Sea Horse, lying there to intercept American vessels, Great Britain then claiming and exercising the "right of search." The frigate gave chase, but the Sall outsailed her, and got safe into Archangel. There she lay till February, 1813, when she was transferred to Russian account, put under Russian colors, and sailed under Russian direction. Mr. Upton remained in her till after the close of the war, or more than three years. In May, 1815, he went in her around to Cronstadt, then sailed from that port to Hamburg, the vessel making one in a fleet of 327 transports sent up the river Elbe, with troops on board destined for the overthrow of Napoleon, and the invasion of France.

After the surrender of Napoleon, July, 1815, he visited St. Helena, where he saw the fallen emperor, whom he describes as a man of most fascinating address. Receiving permission from Admiral Cockburn, he and others called on Napoleon at his quarters, saw and spoke with him, and Napoleon spoke to him.

*I could not learn from him what position he occupied. As near as I could find, he was captain's clerk, or something of the sort.

In December, 1817, he left going to sea, being then in his twenty-first year, and was married a year later. He lived in North Reading about a year after marriage; then in Townsend, Mass., three years; and then removed to Barre, Vermont, where his mother and her family were residing. In Barre he lived twenty-nine years; and in 1853 removed to Fitchburg, Mass., where he was residing in December, 1871.

The children of Amos[5] and Mary (Sheldon) Upton have been—

Henry Putnam Upton[5]. (John[4]. Amos[3]. Samuel[2]. John[1].) brother of the preceding, and youngest child of John[4] and Anna (Hart) Upton; born in Salem, Mass., Sept. 30, 1810; married Emily Avery Stout, June 6, 1836.

At the age of fifteen he went from Barre, Vermont, which was then the home of his mother and her family, to Montpelier, an adjoining town in the same State. He there learned the trade of a carpenter, and how to use a carpenter's tools. In maturer years, he went into the State of New York—the precise locality does not appear—and for eight years was engaged in the manufacture of threshing machines. He then, about 1840, removed to Mount Vernon, Ohio, and was there engaged in the construction of grist mills, saw mills, stationary engines, and the like, more than twenty years. He then went into the new State of Nebraska, and for two years kept a hotel; and now, May, 1872, is engaged in the raising of stock cattle. His present abode is Schuyler, Colfax Co., Nebraska.

John Upton[6], (John[5], John[4], John[3], John[2], John[1].) son of John[5] and Sally (Pool) Upton; born in Lynnfield, Mass., Aug. 4, 1779; married, 1st, at South Reading, Feb. 20, 1805, Betsey Wiley of that town. She died March 30, 1819, aged 32. 2d, May 20, 1821, Sarah Wetherspoon, born in Londonderry, N. H., Aug. 21, 1792, a descendant from the Scotch-Irish colony which settled Londonderry in 1719.

He was baptized in Lynnfield, June 10, 1781, the day when his mother was admitted to the Congregational church. When a list was made of that church in 1784, his mother was the only Upton belonging thereto. He resided in Lynnfield till after his father died, which was in April, 1838. On the town records he is styled "Ensign" after 1806, and "Captain" in 1821 and after. He represented Lynnfield in the Legislature of Massachusetts many years; was a prominent and influential member of that body; and drew up the act for the incorporation of the company which constructed the first railroad * ever built in the United States, viz., the Quincy and Milton Railroad. He was Town Clerk of Lynnfield many years; exerted much influence, and held many important offices in that town. He did not seek office, but was often importuned to take it. He was a zealous Christian of the Methodist persuasion, and an ardent friend of the anti-slavery cause, even when that cause was unpopular. After his removal to Derry, he united with the Congregational church there. He was a man of decided ability, and distinguished for urbanity, public spirit and piety. One who knew him well, pronounces him the best man he ever saw.

In 1839, after the death of his aged father, he sold out his landed property in Lynnfield, and removed to Derry, N. H., the native place of his second wife.

He died in Derry, April 4, 1853, aged 73 years, 8 months. He was interred in the Centre Cemetery, Lynnfield, where his first wife Betsey had previously been laid. His wife Sa-

Samuel Lawrence, Dec. 31, 1835, to ABIEL HOSMER, who was born in Concord, Mass., March 28, 1808.

Her husband was a mechanic; lived in Lowell, Dunstable, Westford, all in Mass., and in Nashua, N. H.; and died in Nashua, June 23, 1871.

Their children were—

1094. Lucia Clark (Hosmer), } twins, born in Lowell, March 17, 1837; } died in Lowell, Aug. 21, 1847.

1095. Marcia Brown (Hosmer), } twins, born in Lowell, March 17, 1837; } married in Nashua, by Rev. E. E. Adams, Sept. 20, 1854, to Capt. Benjamin Warren, son of Benjamin and Mary (Patch) Warren of Nashua. At the first call for men, at the outbreak of the Rebellion, he freely gave his services to his country. He was then living in Lowell, and was Third Lieutenant of the Watson Light Guard, of that city, organized in 1851. At eight o'clock on the evening of April 15, 1861, immediately after the attack on Fort Sumter, this company received notice that their services were wanted. The next morning they marched to Huntington Hall, where at nine o'clock they were joined by the other companies of the regiment. This, the far-famed Sixth Regiment, arrived in Boston at one o'clock the same day, under the command of Col. Edward F. Jones.* Having in Boston exchanged their old muskets for rifled arms, and made other necessary preparations, they proceeded that evening by way of the Worcester Railroad for Washington. Passing through New York and

* This is not, as some may suppose, the Constable of the Commonwealth; his name is Edward J. Jones.

Philadelphia, and everywhere received with enthusiasm as the first body of troops to hasten to the defence of the National Capital, they reached Baltimore at noon on the 19th. In passing through Baltimore, the regiment was assailed by a ferocious mob, not only with insults and curses, but with stones and brick-bats, and even with firearms. It became necessary to fire on the mob in return. Four of the soldiers were killed, and fifteen were badly wounded. Seven rioters were killed, and many wounded. The regiment arrived in Washington at five in the afternoon, and were immediately quartered in the capitol for its protection.

As their engagement was for only three months, they returned to their homes on the 2d of August ensuing. Three months later, the Colonel and many of the officers and men enlisted for three years, and, with others, were organized as the Twenty-Sixth Regiment. Of Company D in this regiment Benjamin Warren was commissioned as Captain. The regiment sailed from Boston, Nov. 21, 1861, for Ship Island, Louisiana, and became part of the expedition under Major General Benjamin F. Butler.

The wife of Capt. Warren was employed for a time, in 1861, as a female detective, searching the women on the cars which passed between Baltimore and Washington. She returned with the Sixth Regiment.

Since the war, they have been keeping a hotel at Tonica, Ill.; and at present are keeping a public house in Varna, Marshall Co., Ill.

Daniel Upton[6], (William[5], William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) second son of William[5] and Mary (Morse) Upton; born in Dublin, N. H., Dec. 4, 1796; married in Stafford, Genesee Co., N. Y., Sept. 30, 1821, Electa Randall, born in Danville, Vt., Nov. 18, 1804.

They were among the early settlers of Western New York. Batavia, the county seat of Genesee County, is now a flourishing village, containing four thousand inhabitants. With its handsome Main Street, its lovely residences, its fine shade trees, and the quiet beauty of the whole scene, it has perhaps no rival in the Empire State. It contains six handsome churches, three banks, and the State Institution for the Blind, erected in 1866 and 1867. The village was settled about the beginning of this century.

In 1821, when the Upton family came to reside within the township, the locality occupied by them, and where they have ever since dwelt, was nothing but an unbroken forest. They have made it to blossom as the rose.

They have reared up a family of thirteen sons and daughters, eleven of whom are now living. They celebrated their golden wedding on the thirtieth of September, 1871. On that occasion the father and mother had a vision with which few parents are indulged; eleven sons and daughters in health and prosperity, each having made his or her own fortune in life. All of them, save one, at the head of promising and respected families; all enterprising and successful; all patriotic, the sons having served their country as soldiers, or in some other station, three of them promoted to be officers in the army, one bearing honorable scars received in battle; all but one holding, or having held, offices of trust, and none of them having betrayed their trust; none of them incompetent; none of them intemperate; none of them vicious, and none of them lazy; all of them pious, or at least professing piety; all of them moral, and giving their support to the cause of religion; and all of them on the side of liberty and equal rights. On the occasion referred to, of twenty-nine grand-children, twenty-seven were present.

The children of Daniel and Electa Upton—all born in Batavia, Genesee Co., N. Y.

1291. † Phebe[7], born Oct. 14, 1822; married Henry Wilkinson, Dec. 19, 1844.

Benjamin Upton[6], (Thomas[5], William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) youngest son of Thomas[5] and Atta (Frost) Upton; born in Peterboro, N. H., March 3, 1803; married 1st, Nov. 22, 1825, Susan Frances Dawson, born in Rockbridge County, Virginia, Dec. 25, 1805, eldest daughter of William Dawson of Campbell County, Virginia. She died at Marysville, Aug. 8, 1860. 2d, Aug. 20, 1861, Amanda Jane Foster, daughter of William Foster of Campbell County, Va.

He lived in Peterboro with his father, till the death of the latter in 1809; afterwards with an elder brother. During this time he learned the blacksmith's trade. When about twenty-one, he had an attack of lung fever, and was advised by his physician to go south for his health. He went to Henry County, Va., where he remained a few months, working at his trade. He then went to Pittsylvania County in the same State, where he formed the acquaintance with Miss Dawson, and married her, as already related.

They lived in Pittsylvania County until after the birth of their first child. They then removed to Charlotte County, where he bought a farm, and hired help to cultivate it, while he still worked at the blacksmith's trade. He also managed a ferry across Staunton river, near which his farm was situated. While there, he accumulated considerable property.

In 1840 he sold out in Charlotte County, and removed to Campbell County in the same State, and bought a farm near Marysville, where he erected a mill for sawing lumber and shingles. He was obliged to send north for the machinery. He also bought negroes, and gave considerable attention to farming. He operated his saw-mill till just before the late civil war, and gained by his own earnings "a modest independence." He had also raised and educated a large family of children. At the time of the war, he had three sons living, and they all, with two grandsons and their father, went into the Confederate army.

He died at Marysville, Va., April 27, 1871, and notwithstanding his long abode at the south, died of consumption, after being confined to his room seven months. His widow Amanda Jane is still living.

The children of Benjamin and Susan F. (Dawson) Upton, were—born in Pittsylvania County, Va.—

John Riddle Upton[6], (John[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Deacon John[5] and Betsey (Riddle) Upton; born in Wilmot, N. H., Oct. 4, 1819; married at St. Paul, Minnesota, Oct. 11, 1852, Mary Bass, born in Braintree, Vt., April 23, 1824. She was the daughter of Alpheus Bass, who died May, 1867, who was son of Isaac and Polly (Wales) Bass, and grandson of Edward and Betsey (Keith) Bass, all of Braintree, Vt. It is an excellant family, descended from the old Puritan, Deacon Samuel Bass of Braintree, Mass., with an infusion of Scottish blood.

Mr. Upton prepared for college at Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H.; graduated at Amherst College, 1847, and at the Theological Seminary, Andover, 1850. After leaving Andover, he preached nearly three quarters of a year in Cooper and Alexander, Washington County, Maine. Was ordained as an evangelist in Wilmot, his native town, April 23, 1851, and commenced ministerial labors in Iowa, November, 1851. Labored about two years in Dubuque County, Iowa; nearly three years in Cedar County, the same State. To regain health from the ravages of fever and ague, he returned to New England and spent one year in N. H., and Vermont. Again in Iowa, he spent about three years in Tama County; then removed to Monona, Clayton County; and since Aug. 1870, has been in Lakeville, Dickinson County, all in Iowa.

William Upton[6], (William[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of William[5] and Betsey K. (Porter) Upton, born in Bangor, Me., June 22, 1816; married Louisa A. Lane, Jan 27, 1864, at Itasca, Minnesota. She was born in Boston, June 2, 1832, daughter of Samuel Lane, a carpenter and builder of that city. She lived in Boston till the death of her father in 1857, when she went to Minnesota to visit a sister.

In his youth, Mr. Upton was employed part of the time in his father's store, part of it on the farm, and part in attending the district school. When about fourteen, he became a member of the Wesleyan Seminary at Readfield, Me. After a year and a half spent there, he returned to his former duties in the store and on the farm. In the autumn of 1836, at the age of twenty, he commenced on his own account in Dixmont. In 1844, he removed to Aroostook County in Maine, where his brothers Benjamin and Rufus had preceded him, and joined them in clearing up land and selling goods, receiving in payment pine timber, which was floated down the rivers Aroostook and Saint John to the city of St. John, and there sold to be shipped to Great Britain. They did well for a time, cleared 80 acres of land, and raised wheat, oats, potatoes, and hay, which found a ready market among the lumbermen abounding in that region. But the settlers being mostly poor, and the crops often cut off by early frosts, and the price of lumber subject to great fluctuation, entirely governed as it was by a foreign market, the Uptons lost heavily by bad debts; and so in the spring of 1847, they sold out and left the region.

In the fall of 1856, they removed to Minnesota. Since that time, William Upton has been engaged in the business of agriculture. He now lives in what was formerly known as St. Anthony, but this place having lately been united with Minneapolis, on the west side of the river, is now known as Minneapolis East, Minnesota. He has been a Justice of the Peace, and is a very worthy intelligent christian citizen.

His children have been—

Benjamin Franklin Upton[6], (William[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Dixmout, Me., August 3, 1818; married Sarah Foster, in Topsham, Me., July 2, 1851.

About 1840, he went to Aroostook County in Maine, at that time a dense forest with but an occasional settler; purchased 500 acres of land at fifty cents the acre, and began to clear it up. In about two years his brother Rufus joined him, and in 1844, they were joined by their brother William, as already related. Success not attending their efforts, he went to Brunswick, Me., and there set up as a taker of daguerrotypes, and married. About the year 1851, he removed to Bath, Me., where he prosecuted his business as a photograph artist with much skill and success. During his residence in Bath, he contributed several valuable inventions and discoveries to the photographist's art, for some of which he obtained letters patent. In 1856, he removed with his family to St. Anthony, Minn., where he successfully carries on the business of taking excellent photographic views of natural scenery, which are in circulation quite extensively.

His children have been—born in Bath, Me.—

Rufus Porter Upton[6], (William[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Dixmont, Maine, December 9, 1820; married 1st, Julia Frances Benson, at Greene, Me., July 17, 1845. She died at Greene, Me., Jan. 6, 1850. 2d, Oct. 12, 1851, Maria Herrick Benson, sister of the first wife. She died without children, Nov. 8, 1852. 3d, Aug. 22, 1854, Ellen Augusta Nourse, daughter of Doctor Amos Nourse of Bath, Me., now (1872) Judge of Probate for the County of Sagadahoc. She died August 15, 1863. 4th, December, 1870, ALEDA HARSHBERGER of Marietta, Ohio.

After his first marriage, 1845, he resided four or five years at Presque Isle, Aroostook County, Maine. In the spring of 1850, he removed to St. Anthony, Minn., and soon after, engaged in the business of selling groceries and hardware. In connection with his brother Moses and others, he erected there the first large merchant flouring mill in that State. He continued in business there till the spring of 1858, when the commercial revulsion of that time compelled him and his brother to wind up their affairs. A few years subsequently, he went to the new Territory of Nevada, his daughter Gertrude accompanying him. He returned to Minnesota in the autumn of 1868, and is now engaged in the business of grinding and selling coffee and spices, and selling tea. He lives on Nicolet Island, in the Mississippi River, between Minneapolis east and west.

Names of his children, by first wife, Julia—

1438. Gertrude[7], born at Presque Isle, Maine, Aug. 2, 1846. She accompanied her widowed father to Nevada, and there married James Varner. Shortly after, she and her husband removed to Freeburgh, in southern Illinois, where they are now engaged in farming.

Ann Mary Upton[6], (William[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) sister of the preceding; born in Dixmont, Me., August 31, 1822; married Samuel Johnson, Dec. 12, 1844.

Her husband was at the time of their marriage, Preceptor of an Academy in East Machias, Me., but shortly afterward quitted the place and the business of teaching, and took charge of the paternal farm in Jackson, Me. He has of late been connected with the Maine Agricultural College at Orono.

Mrs. Ann Mary (Upton) Johnson died of quick consumption, October 31, 1846. She had but one child—

1442. Mary Harriet (Johnson), born Oct. 29, 1845.

648.

Moses Porter Upton[6], (William[5], Jacob[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Dixmont, Me., January 17, 1825; married AMANDA J. LIBBEY, December 15, 1857.

In the autumn of 1849, in his twenty-fifth year, he and his younger brother Harvey Loomis Upton—then twenty-three—left Maine, as many others did about that time, to seek their fortunes in that El Dorado, California, then newly acquired from Mexico. They went round Cape Horn, a long and dreary navigation, and in the spring of 1850, landed at San Francisco. There they engaged in various business, such as they could find. Part of the time, they were farming, in the valley of San Jose. Subsequently, they went into the mining region, where they met with varying success. In June, 1854, Moses came home to Maine—how dear to a young man that sweet word HOME! with three thousand dollars. Not long after, he went to Saint Anthony, Minn., and invested his hard earned money, and went into business, as already related, with his elder brother Rufus. After their failure in trade, he was for a time engaged in the flouring mill. In the autumn of 1863, he started to re-visit the Pacific coast, hoping for better success. Shortly after his arrival at San Francisco, he purchased an interest in a mining claim in Arizona; in pursuance of which he started in company with several others. They had barely arrived within the limits of that Territory, when their camp was surprized in the night by a body of Apache Indians, and all the inmates cruelly murdered, March 2, 1864.

His widow and son now reside in Portland, Maine, which was probably her early home.

Only one child—

1443. Walter Everett[7], born in St. Anthony, Minn., April 2, 1859.

Charles Horace Upton[6], (Samuel[5], Robert[4], Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Salem, Mass., August 23, 1812; married Martha Ellen Page, born in Salem, Mass., Oct. 13, 1820, daughter of J. L. Page of Fairfax County, Virginia. They were married May 18, 1836, in Fairfax County, where they met for the first time in their lives.

Early in life he went to sea, but after returning from a perilous voyage, his mother entreated that he should obtain an education. He entered Bowdoin College, and graduated there in 1834. He has since led rather a varied life, his labors having been chiefly given to the press. For a time he was engaged in farming in Virginia. In 1861, after the outbreak of the civil war, and while residing in Washington or its vicinity, he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives from Fairfax County, Virginia, which is in the close vicinity of Washington, and took a seat in Congress by way of protest against the right of any State to forbid an election. He held his seat for nearly two sessions; but the election was finally declared by that body to be invalid on the ground that "there was no condition of things to allow of a fair election;" which was very true then, and long afterwards. His health gave way, and he obtained in 1863 an appointment as U. S. Consul at Geneva in Switzerland, where he has remained ever since.

He has had four daughters—all born in Fairfax County, Va.—

He studied at the Law School, in Cambridge, Mass., and took the degree of LL.B. there in 1835. He settled as a lawyer in New York City, and became distinguished in the profession. He published in 1863, a volume in large octavo, entitled "The Law of Nations Affecting Commerce during War: with a Review of the jurisdiction, practice, and proceedings of Prize Courts." This volume has a high reputation. During the late civil war, he was appointed by the United States Government counsel for captors, in Prize Courts, and was stricken with paralysis while engaged in argument in the Peterhoff case in New York. He afterward lived in Europe and is now in Washington, paralyzed both in body and mind, having never recovered his faculties, and is supported by his wife and daughter.

His children are —

Rufus B. Allyn graduated at Harvard College, in 1810; read law with William Sullivan of Boston; removed to Belfast, Me., in 1815, and established himself there in the practice of law, where he had an extensive and lucrative business. He lived there till his death, which took place, Jan. 25, 1857. He left his family in independent circumstances.

He was the seventh in descent from Governor William Bradford of Plymouth Colony. He was a scholar of rare attainments and extensive learning, and as a lawyer had few superiors.

His children born in Belfast, Me., were—

* Rev. John Allyn, graduate of Harvard College, 1785; settled pastor in Duxbury. Married Abigail Bradford, born 1765, daughter of Job and Elizabeth (Parkman) Bradford of Boston, a descendant of Governor Bradford; and died in 1833. He received the degree of D.D. from his Alma Mater in 1813. He had four children, Rufus Bradford, Augusta, Abigail, and John. Augusta and John died early in life. Abigail married Rev. Convers Francis, D.D., of Cambridge, by whom she had two children, and died in 1860.

1535. William Bradford (Allyn), born Sept. 26, 1841. He was First Lieutenant and Adjutant of the Thirty-first Maine Regiment in the war of the Rebellion. In the assault on Petersburg, July 30, 1864, while leading the assault and encouraging his men, he fell, and was borne from the field mortally wounded, and died two days after. He was a brave and noble man, a worthy descendant of the excellent Pilgrim whose name he bore.

1536. John (Allyn), born August 6, 1843; a bookseller in Boston.

1537. Helen Rebecca (Allyn), born June 10, 1845; married at Dresden, in Saxony, October, 1866, to Gerhard Gade, of Christiana, Norway, where she now lives; has three children.

1538. Samuel Bradford (Allyn), born May 2, 1847.

1539. Alice Carpenter (Allyn), born December, 1849.

Rufus Allyn Upton[6], (Samuel[5], Robert[4], Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) youngest son of Samuel and Rebecca (Pierce) Upton, born in Boston, Dec. 5, 1822; married April, 1842, Sarah Therese Winfree, daughter of Philip and Frances Winfree of the Parish of Iberville, Louisiana.

He studied law; settled in New Orleans, where he soon became eminent in the profession; and at the time of his decease was enjoying an extensive practice. He was a dutiful son, a kind husband and brother, and had the faculty of attaching friends to himself with triple cords of love.

He died at New Orleans, April 26, 1859.

His children are —

1540. Frances Eleonora[7], born June 13, 1843.
1541. Horace Edward[7], born Sept. 26, 1846.
1542. Dayal[7], born Oct. 6, 1855.

781.

James Upton[6], (Robert[5], Robert[4], Caleb[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of Robert[5] and Lucy (Doyle) Upton, of Salem; born in Salem, March 31, 1813; married first, Oct. 27, 1836, Emily Collins Johnson, born in Danvers-port, Dec. 18, 1807, who died Nov. 12, 1843. Second, Oct. 9, 1845, Sarah Sophia Ropes, born in Salem, Jan. 22, 1821, daughter of James Ropes, Jr., and Lucy Ropes of Salem. She died Feb. 12, 1865, aged 44.

Mr. Upton's residence is in Salem. He was fitted for college in 1827, but preferring a mercantile life, he entered his father's counting-room as clerk and book-keeper, serving in that capacity for seven years, and becoming a thorough accountant.

In 1835, on account of failing health, he made a voyage to Pará in Brazil, as supercargo, and passed the winter of 1835 and 1836 in Maranham and Pernambuco on business connected with the house in Salem. Returning home in July, 1836, he was actively and largely engaged in business with his father and others, until the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion, when he withdrew from foreign trade, and from that time until the year 1865, he was a special partner in the hide and leather trade with his brother Franklin and John F. Nichols, under the firm of Upton & Nichols, in Boston. On the termination of that contract he became general partner in the same line of business with Franklin Upton & Co., of which firm he still remains the senior partner.

Mr. Upton's character as a business man is without reproach, and the various positions of trust and responsibility which he has filled and still continues to fill, indicate the confidence reposed in him as a man of integrity and sound judgment.

In earlier years he paid considerable attention to the cultivation of fruit trees, and was Vice President on Horticulture of the Essex Institute, and for twenty years had an orchard containing among other things five hundred pear trees of one hundred varieties of fruit, on the characteristics and qualities of which, he was exceedingly well versed.

He early had a great taste for music, which has been fostered and enlarged by practice and study. In 1872 he printed for private circulation a collection of original sacred musical composition, entitled "Musical Miscellanea," a work which has been highly appreciated and commended by competent judges.

He has been for forty years an esteemed member of the First Baptist Church in Salem, having officiated as clerk of that body for thirty years of the time.

Their children —

1604. Anne Elizabeth[7], born December, 1859.
1605. George Lewis[7], born Aug. 20, 1863.

881.

Ebenezer Covel Upton[6], (Amos[5], Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) oldest son of Amos Upton[5] and Deborah (Frost) Upton, born in Norway, Maine, Dec. 15, 1808; married, 1840, in Cohasset, Mass., Mercy Jane Marble, of that town.

He lived in Norway, till the spring of 1829, doing farm work a portion of the year and working at shoemaking when farm labor was not in demand. He then went to Danville, in the same State, where he made his home with his half-brother, Josiah Frost, his mother's son by her first husband. In Danville he still worked alternately at farming and shoemaking, with the addition of being employed winters in teaching a town school, in which he was very successful.

In 1835, he left Danville and followed the sea for a year or two, and finally settled in Cohasset, Mass., where he married Mercy Marble, early in the year 1840. There he taught school winters; with most men in that town in those days he went mackerel and cod fishing in the summers; and, when not engaged at fishing or school teaching, he worked at his trade as a shoemaker.

His health failed in a very few years, and he died of consumption, May 12, 1846. His widow survived him but a few years.

The children of Ebenezer C. and Mercy Upton, all born in Cohasset, were — 1606. George Henry[7], born March 26, 1841.

1607. Hannah[7], born 1842; married Warren Fuller.
1608. Mary Asenath[7], born ——. Went South; married.
1609. Mary[7], } twins, born March, 1846; } both died in infancy.
1610. Myra[7], }

883.

HENRY UPTON[6], (Amos[5], Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, born in Norway, Me., Feb. 6, 1813; married HARRIET F. BAKER, daughter of John Baker, of Waterford, Me., March 31, 1847.

He has always lived in Norway. About the year 1844, he bought fifty acres of forest land in the adjoining town of Albany. He cleared and planted ten acres, and then sold to his brother Amos. For several years he was engaged in trade in a country store. When his health permitted, he taught school winters, in which he was very successful. For a number of years he was engaged in law, as partner with Gen. William Wirt Virgin, then Reporter of Decisions, now one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Maine. He now, 1873, owns a nice residence in Norway village, and still practices law to some extent, but is principally engaged as one of a company, in the manufacture of paper stock, technically called "pulp," from poplar wood. He has served the town at different times as Superintendent of Schools, Treasurer and Collector, and is also one of the Trial Justices for Oxford County. In early life he was a whig, and later, went with the great majority of the whigs into the Republican party.

The only child of Henry and Harriet F. Upton, is — 1611. Jennie Irene[7], born Feb. 20, 1848. She lives (June, 1873,) with her father, unmarried.

884.

Elijah Upton[6], (Amos[5], Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, born in Norway, Me., Aug. 6, 1815; married, Jan. 15, 1843, Mary Foye, daughter of Joshua Foye, of Topsham, Me.

With his oldest brother, Ebenezer Covel, he went from Norway to Danville, when he was in his fourteenth year. The same summer he went a "coasting trip" to Richmond, Va. In the fall of the same year he went to live with a Mr. John Williams, in Lisbon — now Webster, — Me., with whom he remained five or six years, in which time through exposure to cold and other hard usage, he contracted a lameness which unfitted him for farm labor, and from which he has never recovered.

After leaving Williams, he went to Danville and learned the trade of a tin-smith, at which he afterward worked in Westbrook and Brunswick, in Maine, and in Boston and Lowell, Mass., and finally in Bath, Me., to which place he went in January, 1841, and where he has since resided, with the exception of a brief period in the years 1845–6, in which he lived in North Yarmouth, Me.

In January, 1857, he entered upon the duties of Register of Probate, having been elected to that office the preceding September, but the salary being small he still continued to work at his trade the greater part of the time till March, 1859, when, having been elected City Clerk, he gave the whole of his time to his official duties.

In December, 1866, Mr. Upton and Maj. H. A. Shorey purchased the "American Sentinel," and the "Daily Times," newspaper office. They published those papers for nearly three years, and then sold the office to William E. S. Whitman, better known as "Toby Candor." Thirteen months afterward, Oct. 1, 1870, Mr. Whitman sold the office back to Mr. Upton, who, in October, 1872, was joined in the proprietorship by his son Joshua F., and the two papers are now, 1873, published by them.

He held the office of Register of Probate for sixteen years, and of City Clerk for seven years, declining, in each case, a further re-election. Besides these, he has been called at different times to hold various local offices.

Mr. Upton's wife was the daughter of Mr. Joshua Foye, a prosperous farmer and one of the most respectable citizens of Topsham. They were married in January, 1843, and therefore have lived together over thirty years. Their children, all born in Bath, except Maria F., who was born in North Yarmouth, are—1612. Mary Jane[7], born Oct. 13, 1843, died in North Yarmouth, Sept. 14, 1846.

1613. Maria Frances[7], born May 13, 1846.
1614. Frederic Eugene[7], born Dec. 16, 1847. Graduated in U. S. Naval Academy, Class of '68; is now holding the commission of Master in the Navy.
1615. Joshua Foye[7], born Oct. 3, 1850. Married Lena E. Percy, Aug. 14, 1870. One child—
1616. Edwin Carleton[8], born Dec. 29, 1872.
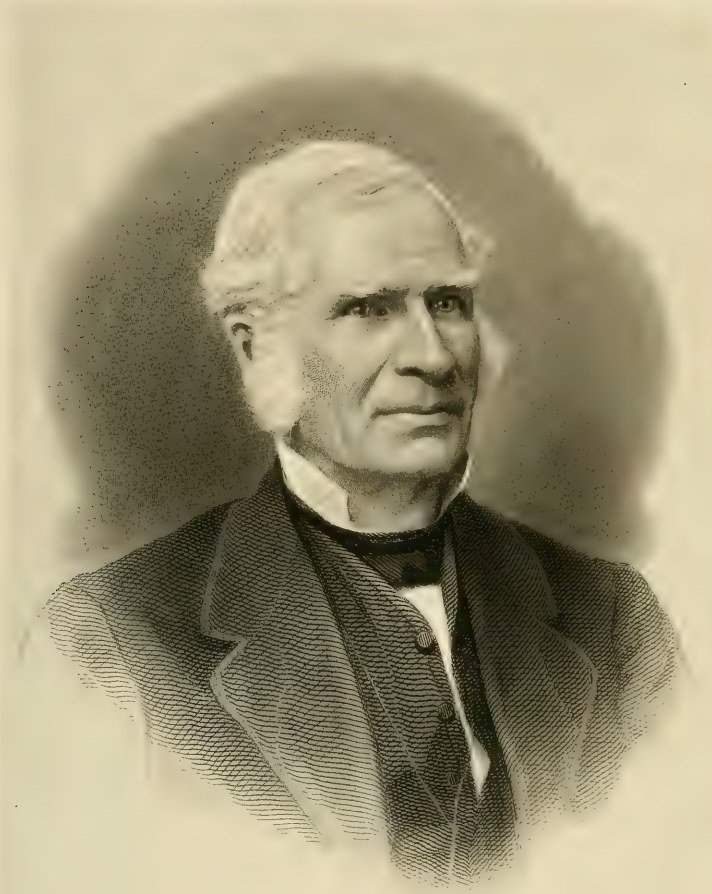
1617. Mary Elizabeth[7], born Jan. 21, 1859.
1618. Henry Covel[7], born Jan. 22, 1862.
1619. Alice Lowell[7], born Nov. 16, 1864.

885.

Amos Upton[6], (Micah[5], Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Amos and Sally (Wing) Upton; born in Norway, Me., April 17, 1817; married, Sarah



Geo. D. Upton

J. Marston, daughter of Brackett and Sarah Marston, of Norway.

He was a farmer. For several years after he became of age he remained with his father, and assisted in the care of both the farm and the mill. After his father's death he disposed of the place, and bought land in Albany of his brother Henry. This he also sold and bought a farm in the neighboring town of Waterford, which was a large one under a good state of improvement, and having a fine water privilege upon which was a saw-mill that had long supplied that section with lumber. He lived prosperously on this farm about twenty years or more, until after the death of his wife which took place in 1868. Her decease affected him to such a degree that he settled into a confirmed melancholy, and finally became hopelessly insane. He was taken to the Asylum for the Insane at Augusta, Me., and died there February, 1870.

Mr. Upton was originally a Democrat, but joined the Republican party at its organization. In religious belief he was a Universalist.

The children of Amos and Sarah Upton, were — 1620. Lydia Jane[7], born in Albany, April 9, 1849; married Wesley Stevens; lives in Waterford.

1621. Elizabeth[7], born in Waterford, Sept. 26, 1851; married George Johnson; lives in Norway.
1622. Benjamin Augustus[7], born in Waterford, Sept. 12, 1854.
1623. Mattie[7], born in Waterford, Sept. 6, 1858.

893.

Uriah Holt Upton[6], (Micah[5], Amos[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) oldest son of Micah[5] and Polly (Patch) Upton; born in Norway, Me., May 31, 1813; married Isannah C. Noble, of Norway, June 23, 1843.

Mr. Upton is a graduate of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, at Kent's Hill, Readfield, Me. He is one of the leading men of the town of Norway, having frequently filled its most important and responsible offices. His family, and that of his father, have always lived happily together as one; and with their joint labors they have made three excellent farms, one after another, in Norway; that on which they now live being one of the best in the State.

Both father and son are exemplary members of the Methodist Church, and liberal contributors to the support of its public worship.

The children of Uriah H. and Isannah C. Upton, all born in Norway, have been — 1624. Ella A.[7], born Nov. 27, 1844; died Aug. 10, 1846.

1625. Ella Adelaide[7], born April 24, 1847; married, Sept. 2, 1868, Amos T. Hall, of Norway; died May 4, 1873. Their children —

Daniel Putnam Upton[6], (Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1].) elder son of Daniel P.[5] and Hannah (Bruce) Upton; born in Eastport, Me., May 1, 1803; never married.

He chose the sea as a profession, and in it became eminently successful. He early rose by his own merit to the command of a ship, and in this capacity was twenty years in the service of Enoch Train, well known thirty or forty years ago as the owner of packet-ships between this country and England. Capt. Upton had command of one of this line of beautiful packet-ships, called out of respect to one of the purest and best of our writers of fiction, the Washington Irving, when he died at the age of forty-six.

He was a man of generous and noble impulses. There was not a selfish ingredient in his nature. He was attentive and kind to all who needed sympathy or help. It was well said of him that "he seemed to be the chosen champion of humanity on the highway of the nations. Those in distress whom others pass by, he rescues, no danger appalling, and no selfish considerations deterring him." On several occasions he incurred much personal danger in saving the lives of others. We have in mind at least three marked instances when he rescued the crews of other vessels from a watery grave. One of these is commemorated by a gold medal which he received from the British Government as a token of gratitude for saving the crew of the British ship Glenview, when in command of the ship Governor Davis, in 1845. He also rescued the crew of the ship Barbara, under very trying circumstances. One of the last acts of his life was the rescue of the crew of the barque Free Trader. He always kept a good look-out, and was ever ready to answer signals of distress, and afford all the aid in his power. An obituary notice in a newspaper, immediately after his death, says,— "As an experienced and judicious ship-master, a faithful and correct business man, and, above all, as a whole-souled sailor, Captain Upton had few equals."

[Medal presented to Capt. Upton.]

He died at the house of his only brother, George B. Upton, in Boston, May 2, 1849, aged forty-six. His remains rest in Mount Auburn cemetery.

George Bruce Upton[6], (Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and younger son of Daniel P.[5] and Hannah (Bruce) Upton; born in Eastport, Me., Oct. 11, 1804; married in Nantucket, May 2, 1826, Ann Coffin Hussey, born March 20, 1807, daughter of Peter and Mary (Mooers) Hussey of that place. Her mother's father was Captain William Mooers,* whose name has be-

* "The Ship Bedford, Capt. Mooers, belonging to Massachusetts, arrived in the Downs. She passed Gravesend on the 4th, and on the 6th was reported at the Custom House in London. She was not allowed regular entry, after some consultation between the Commissioners of the Customs and the Lords of the Council, on account of the many acts of Parliament yet in force against the rebels of America. She was loaded with five hundred and eighty-seven barrels of come historical as the man who first carried the American flag to London, after the war of the Revolution. She is also descended from Tristram Coffin by two distinct branches, and from Rev. Stephen Batchelor, the first minister of Lynn, 1632.

Mr. Upton, at the death of his father was only fourteen months old. His mother immediately removed from Eastport to Billerica, Mass., where he had the advantage of attending the school of Mr. Samuel Whiting, an accomplished teacher. At the age of fourteen, he went to Boston as an apprentice to the dry goods business. Dissatisfied with this employment, he became a clerk in a large business establishment in Nantucket. At twenty-one, he became associated in business with Mr. John W. Barrett, a partnership which continued till 1845, or about twenty years.

During this time, he was at first largely engaged in the dry goods business. Retiring from this he embarked in the sperm whale fishery, at whale oil, and manned wholly with American seamen, and belonging to the island of Nantucket. The vessel lay at the Horsley Downs, a little below the Tower, and was the first which displayed the thirteen stripes of America in any British port." [From a London paper, February, 1783.]

the same time extensively carrying on the manfacture of oil and candles. His reputation as a prompt, earnest man of business was here well established.

While residing at Nantucket, he was twice elected to the House of Representatives of Massachusetts, and three times to the Senate. He removed from the island in 1845, and if the expression of personal regrets deserves regard, he left many friends behind. He went first to Manchester, N. H., as agent in the starting of the Delaine Mills in that new and thriving city. This purpose accomplished, he removed to Boston in 1846, where he has since resided.

Mr. Upton's tastes have been strongly inclined to the sea, and he became the owner of many very fine ships. He has also been largely interested in some of the railway enterprises; having been eight years treasurer of the Michigan Central Railroad, which office he resigned in 1854.

He was in 1853, during the administration of Governor Clifford, a member of the Executive Council of Massachusetts, but declined a reelection. He was also a member of the Constitutional Convention of that year. No man in the United States, probably, has done more to call the attention of the community to the wrongs inflicted by England on this country, during the war of the Rebellion; especially the depredations committed on our commerce by the Alabama, and other cruisers fitted out in English ports. His protest and his letter to Earl Russell upon this subject, and some communications to the press, have met with a hearty response from parties interested. His zeal and activity in recruiting for the army were conspicuous. Too old to take the field himself, he furnished a substitute, and contributed liberally to the equipment of regiments and the Soldiers' Relief Fund.

He has been president of the Boston Board of Trade, a position of honor and influence; and has been a director of several of the Boston banks and insurance offices. He was one of the founders of the Sailors' National Home, situated at Quincy, and was its first president.

After the "great fire" in Boston, Nov. 9 and 10, 1872, he was chairman of the Relief Committee appointed to collect funds for the succor of persons on whom that fearful calamity had heavily fallen. Mr. Upton himself was a liberal contributor to the funds raised for this purpose, although a considerable loser; and he has always been ready to help those in distress.

During a life now verging toward threescore and ten, he has been an active, energetic, successful business man ; in a high degree enjoying the respect and confidence of the community. And now, at a period when most men, either from necessity or choice, retire from business, he seems as alert, active, wide-awake as ever. Depending from childhood upon his own exertions, constant occupation has kept him in health, and business, instead of being irksome, continues to be a source of pleasure.

In short, he may be justly regarded as an honorable specimen of a class, which through the exposures and temptations incident to a long business life, has preserved an unimpaired integrity.*

cy Elizabeth Winchester, born in Danvers, Jan. 8, 1821.

He has always resided in his native town of Peabody, formerly South Danvers. He received a good academical education, particularly in the English branches. He is a man of fine taste generally, and especially in regard to paintings and other productions of the fine arts. He has been in Europe several times, and was the person consulted by Mr. George Peabody in London, with regard to the first donation made by that eminent benefactor and philanthropist to the South Danvers Public Library, and also to the building erected for its accommodation.

He is a man of public spirit, of generous impulses, and of refined manners. He represented his native town in two sessions of the Massachusetts Legislature, one of which was in 1847.

He has steadily and very successfully pursued the business, originating with his father, of making glue. It commenced in 1809, at South Danvers, with making a few pounds annually; and now one million two hundred thousand pounds of the article are every year manufactured. In 1847, Mr. Upton, in connection with Messrs. Theophilus and Nathaniel Walker, built and put in operation the Danvers Bleachery, in which company he still retains his interest. He is also a very large owner of real estate in the flourishing village of Peabody, and was formerly President of the Warren Bank in that town.

Marraton Upton[6], (Amos[5], John[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) son of Amos[5] and Mary (Sheldon) Upton; born in Barre, Vt., Dec. 29, 1828; married, 1st, at Worcester, March 2, 1854, Susan Elizabeth Upton[8] [1904], born Oct. 9, 1831, eldest danghter of Capt. Joseph Upton of Fitchburg. She died in Carson Valley, otherwise called Carson City, Nevada, Jan. 30, 1862, aged 30 years, 3 months, 21 days. Her remains and those of her infant child were brought home for interment and deposited in the cemetery at Fitchburg. 2d, Susan (Parker) Day, widow of Leonard Day of Fitchburg.

He has travelled much, and seen much of the world. He has exhibited much enterprise and vigor. For a time he was a trader in Carson Valley, Nevada, and found his business extremely lucrative. He bought his goods in San Francisco, and sold them at a great advance to the miners in Nevada. High prices were paid there for everything. He has paid $1700 for the transportation of a single wagon-load of goods. Everything there is on a large scale. The mountains are high. The snows are deep. He had known ten feet deep of snow on a level to be deposited in a single night. Coming across the continent, he encountered many dangers. He now has his home in Fitchburg, Mass.

He has had two children, both by first wife, and neither of them now living—

1747. William Marraton[7], born at Fitchburg, Sept. 11, 1856; died at Fitchburg, Oct. 17, 1857.

Ebenezer Upton[6], (Josiah[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) eldest son of Josiah[5] and Sarah (Underwood) Upton of Charlemont, Mass.; born 1783; married Mary Jenkins of Andover, daughter of Joel and Patty Jenkins.

He spent the latter part of his life in North Reading, and was noted for his great strength and agility. He was six feet two inches in height, and weighed one hundred and eighty pounds. He was distinguished as a great wrestler; no one could throw him. A bet of fifteen dollars was made that a man of Boston could overcome him. The man came and tried, but was beaten at every attempt. An Indian, living about twenty miles from Reading, who had found no man equal to him in an affair of this kind, sent Mr. Upton a challenge. They met at the time and place appointed; but Mr. Upton threw the Indian twice, and the Indian retired, satisfied that he had at last found a superior antagonist.

He died in North Reading, Dec. 23, 1827.

1765—1766. He had two sons, supposed to be living in January, 1872. Their names are not known.

Sally Upton[6], (Josiah[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) daughter of Josiah[5] and Sarah Upton; born in Charlemont, Mass., Jan. 15, 1785; married June 10, 1804, Deacon Addison Flint, born in North Reading, May 23, 1782. He was son of Benjamin and Olive (Richardson) Flint, and in the sixth generation from Thomas Flint, the emigrant ancestor. Olive Richardson had a brother Addison, whose name she gave to her son. She died Dec. 4, 1830. He died Dec. 21, 1871, in his ninetieth year. He was a remarkably good man.

The following is copied from an obituary notice in the [Boston] Congregationalist of Jan. 11, 1872:

"Deacon Flint lived and died in the home of his birth. In his active years, he was respected and honored by his townsmen. He held various offices of trust, and discharged them all to general acceptance. He represented the old town of Reading in the Legislature. He was one of the Board of Selectmen. His counsel was often sought and cheerfully given. He was thoroughly reliable in all his relations.

"He united with the church in 1828, at the age of forty-six. Five years later, he was chosen deacon. He held the office twenty eight years, and resigned it in 1861, because of his age and infirmities.

"He was a steadfast Christian. He loved the truth. Its plainest, most direct, most pungent teachings, he most enjoyed. He believed in the advancement of the race, under Christ, and never doubted the final triumph of the gospel.

"When the Master's call to depart came, he quietly lay down, and closing his eyes, like a tired child, he fell asleep."

The children of Addison and Sally (Upton) Flint were—1767. Sally Upton (Flint), born March 11, 1807; married Thomas Rayner of North Reading, May 7, 1826.

1768. Addison Richardson (Flint), born Aug. 17 1808; married Azubah H. Cragin of East Douglas, Mass., March 6, 1840.

Elias Upton[6], (Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) eldest son of Elias[5] and Esther (Newhall) Upton of Charlemont; born there, March 22, 1793; married, Nov. 25, 1813, Tryphena Hathaway, daughter of Josiah Hathaway of Buckland, Mass.

He obtained a fair common school education, such as the town schools of those days afforded. In April, 1812, being then nineteen years of age. he went on foot to Bloomfield, N. Y., a distance of three hundred miles, carrying on his back the provisions needed for the journey; worked there six months, and returned in the same manner. In the autumn of 1814, he served nearly sixty days in one of the regiments ordered out by Gov. Strong from the interior of Massachusetts for the defence of Boston. About that time he bought what was known as the Gould farm in Charlemont, and lived on it until 1819, when he removed to Heath, an adjoining town. He lived in Heath twelve years, and then returned to his farm in Charlemont. In April, 1854, he removed with his sons, James, Hart and Roswell, to Victor, Ontario Co., N. Y. In November, 1856, he and all four of his sons removed to Victor, Clinton Co., Michigan, where he and his sons James and Josiah bought a farm of 235 acres. He now lives in the family of his son James, and enjoys comfortable health most of the time, though at the age of eighty.

They came from the Cheviot Hills, in Scotland. about 1850. Robert's employment there was that of a shepherd

He went to Derry, N. H, with his father's family in 1839, being then five years old. In early life he had strong desires for an education, but no opportunity for their fulfilment. At the age of twenty, 1854, he went on a whaling voyage, but disliking the service, he left the ship in the straits of Sunda, in 1855. After lying sick in the hospital in Batavia several weeks, he shipped as a common sailor in a Dutch merchant vessel bound for Rotterdam. From Rotterdam he went to London, and shipped in the ship John M. Wood for Mobile, Ala. From Mobile he went to New Orleans ; thence to the Rio Grande ; and back to New Orleans in the schooner Chrysolite. He went up the rivers Mississippi and Ohio to Cincinnati, and across the country to Toledo, Ohio ; thence across Lake Erie to Buffalo, and along the Erie Canal to Albany ; thence to New York and Boston ; reaching home July 3, 1856.

The hardships, privations and toils of such a course of life can better be conceived than described.

After this checkered life, he engaged in teaching ; and removed to the West in 1858. He taught school till 1864. During this interval he was married. In 1864 he engaged in the study of medicine. He was on the medical staff of the army during the last year of the war. Took the degree of Doctor of Medicine, Jan. 28, 1867, at Rush Medical College, Chicago, Ill. 1971. Thomas Fairbanks (Burrage), born July 4, 1834; married Harriet L. Battis, Jan. 14, 1857. At the outbreak of the civil war, 1861, he was a manufacturer of varnish in Roxbury, Mass., having succeeded to the business of his father in 1854. He pondered seriously, and during more than a year, the question of duty to his country in the great crisis which had arrived. At length the decision was made. He wrote, July 29, 1862: "The time has come when I can no longer enjoy the peace and comfort of my pleasant home, without a sense of shame and dishonor. My country calls for my aid, and I cannot withhold it." He enlisted as a private, Aug. 13, in a company then forming in Roxbury; a company afterwards known as Company C, in the Forty-first Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, and commanded by Capt. John L. Swift. The regiment, under the command of Col. Thomas E. Chickering of Boston, left Massachusetts Nov. 5; proceeded to New York; and embarked Dec. 4, in the steamer North Star for New Orleans. On arriving in that city, the regiment was ordered to Baton Rouge, and landed there Dec. 17. About the first of January, the subject of this notice, who, soon after enlistment, had been made a sergeant, had an attack of chronic diarrhœa, caused by the miasma arising from the swamp-land environing the city, and was ordered to the hospi tal. Before he had fully recovered, he returned to his regiment, but was shortly after compelled to enter the hospital again; and this was done a second time. Slowly and constantly failing, he died at nine o'clock, on the evening of April 29, 1863, in the peace of God, passing away so quietly that his attendant, Sergeant Horton, knew not when he breathed his last. The following winter, his remains were brought home to Roxbury, and deposited in the Forest Hill Cemetery. Children—

* The following is taken from Willis's "History of Fitchburg during the Rebellion," pp. 161, 162:—

"Lieut. Charles E. Upton, of the Twenty-fifth Regiment, was one of our most youthful officers, being but twenty years old at his death. He seemed to have been born with the elements of a true soldier in him. He was one of the first to enlist in the Twenty-fifth Regiment, and was immediately appointed a sergeant in Company F. Though so young, he showed marked ability in the duties of his office, and secured the respect and love of the men with whom whom he was connected. His efficiency and gallant conduct soon won for him a second lieutenant's commission, which was followed in a few months by promotion to a first lieutenancy. He was placed in command of Company I, and led it in the Battle of Arrowfield Church, where he lost his life.

"One of his comrades, writing home soon after the battle, says, 'In Lieut. Upton's death, we have met with a severe loss. He had just been promoted to a first lieutenancy, and had his life been spared, he would have won higher honors during this campaign.'

"Colonel Picket, in his official report of the battle, says: 'First Lieutenant Upton, in command of Company I, was killed. In the loss of this officer, the regiment and service have lost one whose place it will be difficult to fill. Young, brave and patriotic, he was among the first to offer his services to his country. Entering into all the trials and hardships of a soldier's life, with a cheerfulness of disposition and buoyancy of spirit which won for him the respect and confidence of his superior officers; prompt in the performance of every duty, kind and affectionate to all under his command; he gained the respect and love of all who knew him. He met a soldier's death, dying at the head of his command as victory crowned our efforts.'"

Edwin Upton[7], (Joseph[6], John[5], William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) third son of Joseph[6] and Susan (Thurston) Upton of Fitchburg; born Dec. 9, 1815; married Nov. 10, 1842. Louisa Maria Farwell, a native of Hoosick, N. Y., who is still living.

His parents were poor, and at the age of nine years he was placed with a farmer of the name of Wheeler, six months, for three dollars a month. The most of his time was occupied with work on the farm during summer, and attending the district school in winter, until the age of sixteen. He then went to live with his eldest brother, Joseph, and learned of him the mason's trade, serving him eight and a half months in each year for four years; receiving thirty-five dollars a year for the first three years, and forty dollars for the last year. The remaining three and a half months of each year were employed in attending school, and in cutting and hauling logs for the manufacture of boards and shingles.

At the age of twenty, having obtained his trade, he was hired by the same brother to work at the mason's business, for thirty dollars a month, for eight months ; which was then considered a generous compensation. The next two years he carried on the same trade on his own account. The next twenty years were spent in lumbering, farming and building.

The subject of this notice become connected, at the age of twenty-one, with the volunteer militia of the commonwealth. The connection continued from 1836 until the civil war, 1861. During this period he rose through all the grades of ensign, lieutenant, captain, major, lieutenant colonel and colonel. The last named position he held eight years.

His experience as a military man led to his being authorized, on the ninth day of September, 1861, to raise the Twenty-fifth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, for the then existing war. This regiment went into camp at Worcester, Sept. 26, and left the State on the 31st of October following ; then numbering, including officers and men, one thousand and thirty-one men, all told. They arrived at Annapolis, Md., Nov. 3, remaining in camp till Jan. 6, 1862 ; when they, with the rest of the Division of General Burnside, embarked for the coast of North Carolina ; the Twenty-fifth, under command of Col. Upton, having the post of honor in the Division.

After many dangers and delays, a landing was effected on Roanoke Island, Feb. 7. The Twenty-fifth was the first regiment to land on the soil of North Carolina. On the following day, after a severe conflict, in which many lives were lost, the whole island, though fortified with great skill and at great expense, was in possession of the Federal troops; a result which diffused great joy all over the North. Many heavy guns and two thousand prisoners were taken.

The Adjutant General of Massachusetts, Gen. William Schouler, in his Report for 1862, thus speaks:—

"The Twenty-fifth is essentially a Worcester County regiment. The officers are, with scarcely an exception, gentlemen who have held high rank, and been active in our volunteer militia. Col. Upton is a well informed and capable officer. At the battle of Roanoke Island, this regiment led the centre under Gen. Foster. They advanced at the head of the first column, up the road, and bore the brunt of the fire of the rebel skirmishers. The Twenty-fifth opened fire, and kept it up briskly for more than three hours, under a terrible fire from the enemy's battery; when the forty rounds of cartridge, distributed to the men, having been exhausted, they were relieved by the Tenth Connecticut. They retired in such good order as to draw from Gen. Foster an especial compliment in his official report. This regiment did honor to the State."

Col. Upton was in command of the regiment in the battle of Newbern, N. C., March 14, 1862, and remained with them at that place until Oct. 28, of that year, when he was, on his application, discharged on account of ill health.*

Col. Upton has enjoyed the confidence of the citizens of his native town to the extent of having held the position of Selectman thirteen years, a portion of the time as chairman of the Board; was a number of years Assessor and Overseer of the Poor, and two years represented the town in the State Legislature. About six years he was United States store-keeper in the port of Boston and Charlestown. He has also been a Justice of the Peace, and during three years jailer and master of the house of correction at Fitchburg, which last office he now holds.

He has been a member of the Orthodox Congregational Church in Fitchburg nearly forty years; during which he has contributed liberally for the support of the gospel, as also for the erection of the new and beautiful Rollstone Church, and for the organ in the church; but while thankful for the ability, wishes he had been able to do more for his Divine Master's cause.

* In the autumn of 1863, the regiment was ordered to Fortress Monroe. About first of May, 1864, it went up the James River to City Point, was under fire nearly all the time from May 4 to May 16, and again the first three days of June. It was in the battles near Petersburg, from the commencement of the siege till the middle of September. At the battle of Cold Harbor, June 4, 1864, it was almost annihilated. What remained of the regiment continued in the service till the grand closing up of the war in July, 1865.

Col. Upton has never had but one child of his own, (1980), a son, born in November, 1845, and died soon after. He and his wife adopted a niece of hers, named Emily Jane Farwell. They brought her up from the age of seven to that of twenty one, when she was married to George F. Fay. She died some years ago, leaving two interesting children, Lucy and Alice.

1262.

John Upton[7], (Joseph[6], John[5], William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) fourth son of Joseph[6] and Susan (Thurston) Upton of Fitchburg; born there Dec. 29, 1817; married April 5, 1848, Louisa C. Willis, born 1829, daughter of Hon. Samuel and Cynthia Willis of Fitchburg.

He was a merchant in Fitchburg, and still resides there with his wife and only daughter.

Their children have been—

1981. Frederic Willis[8], born April 8, 1852. After pursuing his studies at the public schools in Fitchburg, he entered the Highland Military Academy at Worcester, and graduated there, June 30, 1870, standing at the head of the class, and holding the commission of first lieutenant of the cadets.

Intending to acquaint himself with the banking business, he soon after entered the Rollstone National Bank, in Fitchburg. He died Oct. 7, 1870, of typhoid fever, after an illness of only ten days.

1982. Amy Louisa[8], born June 11, 1858; lives with her parents, 1872.

Susan Abigail Upton[7], (Joseph[6], John[5], William[4], William[3], William[2], John[1],) sister of the preceding; born in Fitchburg, July 20, 1819; Married James P. Putnam of Fitchburg, May 26, 1840.

She was a superior woman, honored and respected by all. She died at her residence in Fitchburg, of erysipelas, Nov. 26, 1860, aged 41.

Her children—all born at Fitchburg—were—1983. Ann Maria (Putnam), born March 23, 1841; married Horatio Gates Nutter of Pittsfield, N. H., Jan. 25, 1867. They live in Boston. He is head clerk and paymaster of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad.

1984. Thomas Farrington (Putnam), born Aug. 31, 1842; served three years in the Twenty fifth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, under the command of his uncle, Col. Edwin Upton. Was at the battle of Newbern, N. C., March 14, 1862. The latter half of the service was in Boston Harbor. Now, 1872, at Miller's Falls, Mass.

1985. Daniel Cowdin (Putnam), born March 10, 1844. Enlisted in the army, March 21, 1862, at the age of eighteen, joining the Twenty-fifth (Col. Upton's) regiment at Newbern, N. C., early in April. He served till the end of the war; was in the battles of Kingston, Whitehall and Goldsborough, N. C., in December, 1862; was in the terrible conflicts of the 1st, 2d and 3d of June, 1864, on or near the Chickahominy River in Virginia; was wounded, June 3, with a minnie ball; notwithstanding, he continued with his regiment; was in the battles in front of Petersburg, Va., from May to September, and at the close of the war was commissioned second lieutenant. He is now a farmer, and also a teacher, near Springfield, Ohio; farmer in the summer, teacher in the winter.

1986. James Edward (Putnam), born July 22, 1845; married, Oct. 6, 1870, Ellen Elizabeth Brown, only daughter of Jonas and Abby Brown of Princeton, Mass. He went to California in 1863; spent a year there, in farming and lumbering. In 1865, was in Nebraska, at work on the Union Pacific Railroad. Is now, 1872, an assistant to his uncle, Col. Upton, at the jail and house of correction for the county of Worcester, Mass.

1987. Frederic Adams (Putnam), born April 8, 1847; entered the army in 1864, then aged seventeen, enlisting into the Fourth Massachusetts Heavy Artillery; and served to the end of the war. He spent the autumn and winter, 1870–1, in Michigan, in the business of lumbering, employed by some persons as their surveyor and general manager, putting into the river more than six million feet of timber. At Grand Rapids, Mich., he twice narrowly escaped with life; first, while suffering three months under typhoid fever; and after this, the house where he lived took fire and burned to the ground. He is now a cabinet maker in St. Louis, Mo., and is considered a thorough, first-rate mechanic.

1988. Charles Benjamin (Putnam), born Sept. 29, 1848; died July 30, 1849.

Mr. Upton was partly educated at Oberlin, Ohio, commencing there in 1851. His health becoming poor, he gave up his studies for farming, which he carried on for five years. He then commenced the study of law, and removed from Batavia, in 1859, to Lawrence, Van Buren Co., Mich., which was his home for the next nine years. In July, 1861, he was admitted to the bar of the supreme court of that State.

Mr. Upton went from home in August, 1864, as Quartermaster of the Twenty-eighth Michigan Infantry, and remained with the army until June, 1866. His regiment was at first with the Department of the Cumberland, and took part in the battle of Nashville; and was afterwards transferred to North Carolina, where it remained until dischaged. Mr. Upton delivered an oration on the 4th of July, 1865, by request of a branch of the regiment stationed at Shelbyville, being the first celebration in honor of the day ever held in that community.

He has resided since 1868 in Decatur, Mich., and has held for six years the office of prosecuting attorney for that county.

He was in the military service of his country from August, 1862, till near the end of the year 1863. He enlisted as a private at the earlier of these dates, in Company D, in the 104th Regiment Illinois Volunteers; but in February, 1863, was transferred to 121st Regiment New York Volunteers, with the rank of first lieutenant. At the battle of Salem Heights, otherwise known as the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., May 3, 1863, he was dangerously wounded. A minnie ball passed through the apex of the left lung. It also severed some of the tendons of the left arm, broke the collar-bone, and shattered the shoulder-blade. Thus disabled, leave of absence was granted him till the last of October. He returned to the army in season to participate in the battle of Rappahannock station, Nov. 7, 1863. Being found unable longer to endure the hardships of the service, he was soon after honorably discharged. The wound never healed permanently until a surgical operation was performed in July, 1869, when several minute pieces of bone were extracted.

He is now principal of a school at Milan, Ill., and is regarded as an able mathematician.

His children are—

George Bruce Upton[7], (George B.[6], Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1]), eldest son of George B.[6] and Ann C. (Hussey) Upton of Boston; born in Nantucket, July 15, 1829; married June 22, 1858, Geraldine I. Rivers, a widow, and daughter of Hon. Jonathan Russell, one of the negotiators of the treaty of Ghent.

He graduated at Harvard College, 1849. After graduating, he passed sometime in Europe. He then visited San Francisco, where he was engaged for several years in mercantile business. Returning to Boston, he has continued his business as a merchant in that city, with the exception of some four years spent in Europe visiting all places of interest from England to the Nile.

Ann Coffin Upton[7], (George B.[6], Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) sister of the preceding; born in Nantucket, June 28, 1831; married in Boston, Dec. 21, 1853, George Hayward, M. D., son of Charles and Eleanor (Dorr) Hayward.

Her husband graduated at Harvard College,

1839; had the degree of M. D. from the same college, 1843, is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and is now quite an eminent physician in Boston.

Their children are—

2155. Georgiana (Hayward), born Jan. 22, 1857.
2156. Ellen (Hayward), born Oct. 1, 1860.
2157. Frances (Hayward), born April 30, 1865.

1661.

Daniel Putnam Upton[7], (George B.[6], Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1]), brother of the preceding; born in Nantucket, Aug. 19, 1833; never married.

He early followed the sea, and soon rose to be a skilful and accomplished ship-master. During the Rebellion, he served for a time as an acting lieutenant in the United States Navy. A severe sun-stroke at Calcutta, while on a voyage to that port, was a source, occasionally, of great suffering and mental depression, from which he never entirely recovered. He died in Boston, March 27, 1867.

1664.

Mary Upton[7], (George B.[6], Daniel P.[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) sister of the the preceding; born in Nantucket, Dec. 21, 1839; married in Boston, Jan. 14, 1863, Alexander Young, son of Rev. Alexander Young, minister of the New South Church, Boston, the stone church formerly standing on Church Green, Summer Street.

He studied law, and took the degree of LL. B. at Harvard College in 1862, and is now a member of the legal profession.

She died April 27, 1866. Her early death left a sad void in the hearts of her relatives and friends. Beautiful in person, amiable in disposition, having a fine and correct taste for works of art, with a delicate perception of character, having early had the advantage of foreign travel, learned and wise for one of her years, her memory still retains its freshness in the minds of all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

She left one son—

2160. Alexander (Young), born April 9, 1866.

1715.

Maria Louisa Upton[7], (Elijah W.[6], Elijah[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) daughter of Elijah Wood Upton[6]; born in South Danvers, now Peabody, Aug. 4, 1833; married Dec. 23, 1855, Charles Benjamin Farley, born in Townsend, Mass., 1826, son of Charles Farley of that place. They were married by Rev. James O. Murray of South Danvers.

Their children are——

2161. Louisa King (Farley), born March 29, 1859.
2162. Mary Merrill (Farley), born Nov. 27, 1863.
2163. Lucy Rice (Farley), born March 19, 1870.

George Upton[7], (Elijah W.[6], Elijah[5], Benjamin[4], Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and eldest son of Elijah Wood Upton[6]; born in South Danvers, now Peabody, July 8, 1837; married Sept. 6, 1860, Marian Cloutman.

His residence is Peabody, where he has a very extensive manufactory of glue. He is a man of enterprise and ability.

They have one child—

2164. Webster King[8], born April 12, 1862.

1783.

Emily Upton[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) daughter of Elias[6] and Tryphena (Hathaway) Upton; born in Charlemont, Mass., June 17, 1816; married Samuel Booth of Charlemont, June 1, 1835.

She is now, 1872, a widow, and lives with her son Bradford A. Booth, in Victor, Clinton Co., Mich.

Children—

2165. Adeline Augusta (Booth), born April 2, 1841.
2165. Bradford Albert (Booth), born April 18, 1844.
2166. Laurette Deborah (Booth), born Oct. 19, 1847.

1784.

Sarah Upton[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1]), sister of the preceding; born in Charlemont, June 4, 1819; married Justin William Beckwith of Charlemont, Aug. 14, 1846.

He is a farmer; is in good circumstances; lived in Charlemont many years, and now lives in Victor, Clinton Co., Mich., 1872.

Children—all born in Charlemont—

2168. Florencia Alexine (Beckwith), born July 27, 1847; married Emmet Jameson, a lawyer, of Muskegan, Mich., Feb. 5, 1872.
2169. Clarence Augustine (Beckwith), born July 21, 1849.
2170. Osmond Lester (Beckwith), born Dec. 24, 1855.

1785.

James Upton[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and eldest son of Elias[6] and Tryphena Upton ; born in Heath, Mass., Feb. 27, 1821 ; married Aug. 12, 1846, JULIA HOWARD WOODBURY, daughter of Jonathan Woodbury of Brattleborough, Vt.

At the age of eighteen, he went to learn the carriage maker's trade, with H. B. Childs in Charlemont village. In 1842, at twenty-one, he and his cousin and brother-in-law, Shadrach B. Upton, established themselves in the manufactory of carriages, in the same town. The partnership continued two years. After this, he was in partnership with Timothy H. Dole, and later still with James Whitman. In 1852, he removed to Concord, N. H., and worked one year for Lewis Downing & Sons in the making of carriages. He then returned to Charlemont, and worked another year in the making of scythe-snaths.

About the first of April, 1854, he, with his father, his brothers Hart and Roswell, and his cousin Horace Upton [1821], removed to Victor, Ontario Co., N. Y., and for two years cultivated farms on shares. In November, 1856, they all removed to Victor, Clinton Co., Mich., where he still lives. He is now a farmer in prosperous circumstances, a capable and useful man. He has been liberal in supporting the preaching of the gospel, and in promoting social and benevolent enterprises.

He has no children.

1786.

JOSIAH UPTON[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Elias[6] and Tryphena Upton; born in Heath, Mass., April 5, 1824; married, 1st, Sept. 12, 1845, DEBORAH CARROLL, daughter of Micajah Carroll of Charlemont. She died of consumption, Nov. 20, 1846. 2d, Nov. 18, 1847, NANCY A. WOODBURY, daughter of Jonathan Woodbury of Brattleborough, Vt., and sister of his brother James's wife.

He received a good common-school education, and was engaged in agriculture until 1852, when he entered upon the manufacture of snaths, or scythe-handles, in partnership with Luther Bodman, in the village of Charlemont. At the end of two years, Mr. Bodman sold out to H. H. Mayhew of the same place, and the business was continued two years longer under the firm of Mayhew & Upton. They were successful in this business. But Mr. Upton's father and brothers, at this time living in Victor, N. Y., as previously related, had determined on removing further west, and he decided to cast in his lot with them. In November, 1856, the father, with the subject of this notice, and his brothers James, Hart and Roswell, and their cousin Horace Upton, took up their abode in Victor, Clinton Co., Mich. The country at that time was comparatively new; the oldest settlers having been there only twenty years. The father and his sons James and Josiah purchased a farm of 235 acres in company, which relation still continues. Mr. Josiah Upton is one of the directors of the First National Bank in St. Johns, the county-seat. While living in Victor, he held the office of treasurer of the township two years, and some other offices of trust.

In November, 1868, he was elected County Treasurer, and removed to St. Johns, the chief town of Clinton County. This office he has held till the present time, 1872. He is also President and Treasurer of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company of Clinton County.

His children are—born in Charlemont—by second wife—

2171. Frank Wadsworth[8], born Jan. 16, 1849; married Ellen Scull, daughter of Joseph Scull of Victor, Mich., formerly of Muncy, Penn. He was three years a member of Olivet College, Eaton Co., Mich., and has since learned the art of phono-graphic reporting. He taught school in the winter of 1868, near St. Johns, Mich. He has held the office of School Inspector one year, and of Town Clerk two years.

The compiler and the readers of this volume are under great obligations to this capable and enterprising young man for the remarkable care and accuracy with which he has supplied materials for the history of that interesting colony of Uptons at Victor, Mich. He has one child—

2172. Torrence Winfield[9], born at Victor, Mich., Feb. 19, 1871.

2173. Albert Barney[8], born Dec. 7, 1853.

Born in Victor, Mich.—

2174. Arthur Elias[8], born April 17, 1863.

1787.

Hart Leavitt Upton[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Elias[6] and Tryphena Upton; born in Heath, Mass., June 23, 1827; married Oct. 7, 1852, Nancy Sophia Dole, daughter of Orpheus Dole of Shelburne, Franklin Co., Mass.

The earlier part of his life was passed in Charlemont, in agricultural pursuits and in the manufacture of snaths or scythe-handles. With his father, his brothers James and Roswell, and their cousin Horace Upton [1821], as already related, he removed in 1854 to Victor, N. Y., and again in November, 1856, to Victor, Clinton Co., Mich. At that time, he purchased one hundred acres of unimproved land, of which he has made a good farm. He is now in prosperous circumstances, having one of the largest and best orchards in the town.

He was a soldier in the late war for the Union, having enlisted Dec. 23, 1863, in Co. I, of the Twenty-seventh Michigan Regiment of infantry. The regiment belonged to the Ninth Army Corps, under Gen. Burnside. His active service was in the campaign of 1864. He was in the battles of the Wilderness, of Spottsylvania, North Anna River, Bethsaida Church, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and Fort Steadman. He continued in the service till the close of the war.

His children are—

2175. Frederic Raymond[8], born in Charlemont, Mass., June 24, 1853.
2176. Minnie Sophia[8], born in Victor, N. Y., Oct. 23, 1855.
2177. Dean Elias[8], born in Victor, Mich., March 8, 1872.

1791.

Roswell Upton[7], (Elias[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and youngest son of Elias and Tryphena Upton; born in Charlemont, Mass., Aug. 5, 1836; married ELIZABETH PASSAGE, daughter of Christopher Passage of Victor, Mich.

At the age of sixteen, he went to learn the trade of a blacksmith of Sereno Shoffner of Charlemont. He also worked at Whately, in the same county.

He removed with his father and brothers, in 1854, to Victor, N. Y., and in 1856, to Victor, Mich., as already mentioned. In Victor, Mich., he purchased a farm of fifty-seven acres, but works most of the time in the blacksmith's shop.

He is sojourning at present, September, 1872, in Laramie, Wyoming Territory, for the benefit of his wife's health.

His children are—

2178. Lee[8].
2179. John[8].

1808.

SHADRACH BOOTH UPTON[7], (Samuel[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) eldest son of Samuel[6] and Sally (Booth) Upton; born in Charlemont, Mass., Oct. 5, 1821; married June 1, 1843, his cousin TRYPHENA UPTON [1782], daughter of Elias[6] and Tryphena Upton.

When eighteen years old, he began to learn the trade of a carriage-maker with H. B. Child, in the village of Charlemont, his cousin James Upton being at work with him in the same shop. In December, 1842, these two enterprising young men entered into copartnership, and established themselves in the carriage manufacture in the same town. This connection lasted two years; after which the subject of this notice continued in that business five years longer. Subsequently, like his cousins, he made scythe-handles three years. In the spring of 1851, he removed to the farm of his father, who died in 1856. In 1862, he removed to Victor, Mich., where he purchased one-half of the farm of his cousin and brother-in-law, Hart L. Upton [1787]. Since that time, they have carried on farming operations together.

He has held the office of Treasurer of the township of Victor two years, and of Commissioner of Highways, four years.

He has no child of his own, but has an adopted daughter—

2180. Mary, born in Charlemont, Nov. 20, 1856.

1809.

Charles Henry Upton[7], (Samuel[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Charlemont, June 4, 1824; married Nov. 25, 1845, Electa Wing Keyes, daughter of Calvin Keyes of Charlemont.

He cultivated a farm in Charlemont until April, 1865, when he followed in the steps of so many of his kindred and removed to Victor, Clinton Co., Mich. He is there now on a farm, and is in good circumstances.

Before leaving Charlemont, he was trustee and steward, about seven years, of the Methodist society in that place.

His children, all born in Charlemont but the last, have been—2181. Sarah Louisa[8], born Oct. 6, 1847; died Aug. 3, 1853.

2182. Charles Henry[8], born March 14, 1850; died April 2, 1850.
2183. Charles Henry[8], born April 26, 1851; died Sept. 22, 1853.
2184. Herbert Walter[8], born Aug. 6, 1854.
2185. Samuel[8], born Nov. 9, 1856.
2186. Charles Frederic[8], born July 11, 1859; died Sept. 3, 1862.
2187. Harriet Electa[8], born Jan. 15, 1863.
2188. Louisa Jemima[8], born in Victor, Mich., Sept. 11, 1870.

1816.

Horace Upton[7], (Roswell[6], Elias[5], Josiah[4], Ebenezer[3], Joseph[2], John[1],) son of Roswell[6] and Achsah (Hathaway) Upton; born in Charlemont, Mass., July 27, 1828; married, 1st, Nov. 16, 1851, ESTHER BURTON, daughter of Dexter Burton of Charlemont. 2d, March 31, 1853, AMANDA COOK, daughter of Oren Cook.

In 1854, he removed, with his cousins James, Hart and Roswell Upton and their father, to Victor, Ontario Co., N. Y., and in November, 1856, removed with them to Victor, Clinton Co., Mich., where he passed his remaining days. He died Oct. 17, 1869. He was in comfortable circumstances, and an estimable member of society.

Children—by first wife, Esther—

2139. Esther Juramelia[8], born in Charlemont, Sept. 22, 1851; married William Richmond, a farmer, in Victor, Mich., May 1, 1871.

By second wife, Amanda—

2190. Fanny Melvina[8], born in Victor, Mich., Nov. 9, 1858.

2191. Walter[8], born in Victor, June 11, 1861.

SUPPLEMENT No. 1.

[The following information was received too late for insertion in its proper place.]

POSTERITY OF EDWARD UPTON[3] [30].

Third Generation.

EDWARD UPTON[3] [30], the fifth son of William Upton[2] [7], and grandson of JOHN UPTON[1], the original emigrant, was born in the present town of Peabody, which was then a part of the township of Salem, April 16, 1714. His wife was ELEANOR OSBORN.

Our information respecting him is very limited. He bought, Sept. 23, 1740, of Isaac Chandler, five acres of land in Amesbury, Mass., but sold it again, Jan. 9, 1744, to Jonathan Barnard. Up to this time he appears not to have been married, for no wife joins in the conveyance to Barnard. But if not married then, he must have been married shortly after; for we find, in 1771, three sons of twenty-one years of age or more.

In the Massachusetts valuation, 1771, we find him in Bedford, near Boston, taxed for a poll, his third son Adonijah Upton being taxed for a poll at the same time and place. His two elder sons were then residing at East Greenwich, R. I.

His children were—

2142. † Isaac[4], born about 1745; married Phebe Peirce.
2143. † Samuel[4], born about 1747; married Comfort Chase.
2144. † Adonijah[4], born about 1750; taxed in Bedford, 1771; never married.
2145. † John[4], born 1756; married Abigail Kelly. He was of Adams, 1798, and had a son Adonijah.
2146. † Paul[4], married Phebe Smith.
2147. Sarah[4], married George Shove. Had—Eleanor (Shove). Mary (Shove).
2148. Mary[4], unmarried.
2149. Rhoda[4], married Benjamin Chase, probably brother of Samuel's wife. Had—Enos (Chase). Edward (Chase). Benjamin (Chase).
2150. † William[4], born 1770; of Saratoga Co., N. Y.; of Groveland, Livingston Co., N. Y.; afterwards of Ohio.
2151. † Henry[4], born 1775; married Sarah Jacox. He lived in Saratoga Co., N. Y. I am not sure about William and Henry.

Fourth Generation.

2142.

Isaac Upton[4], (Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Edward Upton[3] [30], was, we think, the eldest son of Edward Upton, and born about 1745. He married, 1st, PHEBE PEIRCE, of Yarmouth, Mass.; 2d, about 1786, ANNA SHERMAN, of Danbury, Vt. He doubtless spent his childhood with his father in Bedford, and left that place in the season of youth to engage in a sea-faring life. Had he been in Bedford in 1771, he would have been taxed there, with his father and brother Adonijah. He first comes to our knowledge as a resident in East Greenwich, R. I., Dec. 9, 1771, at which date he and his brother Samuel bought of Thomas Aldrich a dwelling-house and stable in that town. He was then, or subsequently, a ship-master, sailing, it is believed, from Bristol, R. I., or perhaps Providence, to the coast of South America. There is a tradition in the family, that once, on a trading excursion in the interior of that continent, and while at a distance from his vessel, he came near losing his life by Indian ferocity.

In 1783, we find him in Berkley, in the county of Bristol, Mass. March 17, 1783, Isaac Upton, of said Berkley, sold all his interest in the house and land purchased twelve years before, to his brother Samuel. Not many years after, he removed to South Adams, Mass., where he was taxed in 1798 for a house and forty-five acres of land. He died there about 1823 or 1824, at which time he was approaching the age of eighty.

His children were—by first wife, PHEBE, born, it is supposed, in East Greenwich, R. I.—

2152. † Isaac[5], born 1773; married Lydia Eddy.
2153. Phebe[5], married Joseph Shove, of Adams, Mass. They had six children, of whom only one, Mary, is living.
2154. Mary[5], married —— Davis.

By second wife, Anna, born either in Berkley or in Adams—

2155. Hannah[5], died in infancy.
2156. Lydia[5], married Abner Chase. Children—

2157. Rhoda (Chase), married —— Baker.
2158. Phebe (Chase), married —— Carpenter.
2159. Ann (Chase), married —— Mills.
2160. Isaac (Chase).
2161. Amasa (Chase).
2162. Hannah (Chase), married —— Mills.
2163. Charlotte (Chase), married Benjamin Wilson.

All of the above live in Canada.

2164. † John[5], born Aug. 8, 1791; married, 1st, Mary Shove; 2d, Sarah (Haight) Underhill.
2165. Hannah[5], born 179–; married Amos Comstock. Children—

2166. William (Comstock).
2167. Juliette (Comstock).
2168. David (Comstock).
2169. Hannah Maria (Comstock). } Twins.
2170. Phebe Jane (Comstock). }
2171. Isaac Upton (Comstock).
2172. Charles Henry (Comstock).

The preceding children live in Michigan. David Comstock lives at Grand Rapids.

2173. Rhoda [5]. 2174. Sarah [5]. 2175. Eleanor [5].

2143.

Samuel Upton [4], (Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) brother of the preceding, and second son of Edward Upton [3] [30], must have been born about 1747, and probably in Bedford, Mass. His wife was Comfort Chase, probably of Yarmouth, Mass. He was of East Greenwich, R. I., Dec. 9, 1771, when he and his brother Isaac bought of Thomas Aldrich a dwelling house and stable. He was still living in East Greenwich, March 17, 1783, when he received from his brother Isaac, then of Berkley, a deed of all the interest which Isaac had in the same property. This deed conveys not only a house and a lot of land, but also a potter's shop; which leads to the belief that Samuel Upton was a potter. He seems afterwards to have lived in Berkley, Mass.

His children were—

2176. Esther [5].
2177. Sarah [5].
2178. Samuel [5].
2179. Edward [5].
2180. Stephen [5].

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

2144.

Adonijah Upton [4], (Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) brother of the preceding, and third son of Edward Upton [30], was probably born in Bedford, about 1750. We only know of him that he was taxed in Bedford in 1771. As his brother John had a son named Adonijah Upton, it seems probable that the elder Adonijah died early in life, and that the name, so unusual, was given to the younger from an affectionate regard to his memory.

A day spent on the Records of Bedford, and in inquiries of people living there, failed to reveal anything further with reference to the Upton Family.

John Upton[4], (Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and supposed to be the fourth son of Edward Upton [30], was born in 1756, probably in Bedford. He married Abigail Kelly, born 1759. They were probably married about 1780. He and his eldest brother Isaac bought farms in Adams, Mass., apparently about the same time. When that was, we know not. We find them both taxed in 1798, under the U. S. law passed a little before that time. John Upton was then taxed for a house and a quarter of an acre of land, which was the home lot, and twenty-nine acres of land beside. He died about 1825.

He had two children—

2181. † Adonijah[5], born Sept. 6, 1780; married Freeborn Eddy.
2182. Eleanor[5], died young.

2146.

Paul Upton[4], (Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Edward Upton [30]; born perhaps about 1752; married, 1st, Phebe Smith; 2d, Phebe ——.

He lived in Dutchess county, N. Y.; and had the children whose names follow—

2183. Paul[5], was married and had children.
2184. Smith[5], was thrice married, but had no children.
2185. Asa[5], was married, but left no children.
2186. Gaius[5].
2187. Mary[5].

The father, Paul, and these three sons, Paul, Smith and Asa, had farms around "Upton's Pond," near the centre of Dutchess Co., N. Y. Their post-office address was "Clinton Corner." These three sons, if living, are now aged men. Smith Upton[5] [2184] had no children; nor had Asa[5] [2185]. Paul[5] [2183] had a son Paul C.[6], who was living at Upton's Pond a few years since, but is now "gone West." Asa Upton [5], [2185] was some time superintendent of the Friends' School, at Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

William Upton [4], I suppose to have been a younger brother of the five preceding men, and a son of Edward Upton [3] [30]. I have come to this conclusion, because I do not see how it could be otherwise. Saratoga County, N. Y., where William Upton [4] lived, is not far from Adams in Massachusetts, the residence of Isaac and John, and not far from Dutchess Co., N. Y., where Paul Upton [4] and his three sons had their dwelling. The similarity of names lends some probability to the relationship, which after all is not certain. The descendants of William have not been heard from, and the descendants of his brother Henry have no knowledge of those who are here deemed to be his elder brothers. Everybody is so intent on gain, and so inclined to remove to another and a distant location, that a kinship, if not very near, is speedily forgotten.

William Upton[4], at the head of this notice, was born in 1770, and it is said died in Ohio, 1862. He lived in Saratoga Co., N. Y., but removed to Groveland, Livingston Co., in the same State. "He had quite a family." One of his sons, named Daniel[5] [2188], "raised quite a family of boys. I think they are located west. A senator in Michigan, named Daniel Upton, whose wife was an Upham, from Le Roy, Genesee Co., N. Y., I think is one of that branch of the Upton family." Such is the statement of James Henry Upton, of Spencerport, Monroe Co., N. Y.

Henry Upton[4], (Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) was a brother of the last-named William[4], and without doubt the youngest son of Edward Upton[3] [30], though this is not absolutely certain. His own grandchildren know but little about him. As to his remote relations, they only know that he had a brother William.

Henry Upton, they say, was born in 1775; they know not where. He married, Nov. 8, 1797, Sarah Jacox, who was born in 1779, in Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y. He died Jan. 1812, and was "buried on the Jacox Farm," in said

Wilton; whence we may infer that his place of birth and of the residence of his father's family was at a distance. His wife died in 1820, and was also buried on the "Jacox Farm."

Their children were—

2189. Sarah[5], born Oct. 6, 1798; she is now living in California, 1872; but whether a maiden, wife, or widow, does not appear.

2190. Polly[5], born Dec. 2, 1800; she is deceased.

2191. Eliza[5], born March 5, 1804; she is living at Sharon, N. Y. Nothing further is known of her.

2192. † James[5], born July 8, 1808; married Mary A. Moulton.

2193. Hannah[5], born June 25, 1810; she is deceased.

2194. † John[5], born Sept. 8, 1811; married Rachel Travor.

Fifth Generation.

2152.

Isaac Upton[5], (Isaac[4], Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) eldest son of Capt. Isaac Upton[4], of East Greenwich, R. I., afterwards of Adams, Mass.; born at East Greenwich, 1773; married Lydia Eddy, who was born in Dartmouth, Mass., Nov. 3, 1779.

They lived in Adams, with one exception.

They had four children, whose names have not been furnished. Of the four, three died leaving no issue. The fourth is—2195. † Daniel[6], born in Adams, May 26, 1818; married Mary Peckham.

John Upton [5], (Isaac [4], Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) half brother of the preceding; born, probably in Adams, Mass., August 8, 1791; married, 1st, at Freetown, Mass., Aug. 8, 1814, Mary Shove, daughter of Edward Shove, of Berkley, Mass.; 2d, Sarah (Haight) Underhill, of Washington, Dutchess Co., N. Y., widow of Andrew Underhill. His getting a wife in Dutchess County is accounted for by his visiting his cousins, sons of his uncle Paul Upton [4], in that vicinity.

John Upton died in 1821, leaving only one child; others having died in infancy. His widow Sarah then returned to her father's house in Dutchess County.

Their only remaining child was — 2196. † Isaac Haight [6], born Oct. 1, 1819; married Mary A. Quimby.

Adonijah Upton [5], (John [4], Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) only son of John [4] [2145] and Abigail (Kelly) Upton, of Adams, Mass., born Sept. 6, 1780; married Freeborn Eddy, sister of Lydia Eddy, the wife of his cousin Isaac Upton [5], and probably, like her, born in Dartmouth, Mass.

After a residence of some years in Adams, a portion of this family removed to Michigan.

Their children were—

2197. Abigail[6], born June 27, 1800; married —— Ailsworth. She is deceased.

2198. John E.[6], born Oct. 26, 1801; married ——. Had
- 2199. Mary E.[7]
- 2200. Oliver.[7]
- 2201. Henry.[7] John E.[6], the father, is deceased.

2202. Henry[6], born June 4, 1804; married ——. Had—
- 2203. Adonijah.[7]
- 2204. Clinton.[7] Both are living, 1872. And several daughters. Henry[6], the father, is deceased.

2205. Ruth[6], born May 24, 1806; deceased.

2206. Prudy M.[6], born July 4, 1808; married Oliver Arnold. She is living, 1872.

2207. Thomas C.[6] } Twins; born July 10, 1810; d. soon.
2208. George D.[6] }

2209. Lydia[6], born Feb. 21, 1814.

2210. Mary[6], born May 8, 1816.

2211. Adonijah[6], born Aug. 4, 1820.

All of this family who are living reside in the State of Michigan; and all lead a virtuous life, are cultivators of the soil, &c.

James Upton[5], (Henry[4], Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Henry[4] and Sarah (Jacox) Upton, of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y.; born at Ballston Springs, N. Y., July 8, 1808; married at Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1831, Mary A. Moulton.

He lived in Canajoharie, Montgomery Co., N. Y., a few years. In 1837, he removed to Monroe Co. in the same State, and resided in the town of Greece, where he died, Dec. 10, 1868, aged 60. As for his business, his children say he was a "speculator." Another person describes him as a thriving and wealthy farmer.

His children were—born either in Saratoga Co. or Albany—

2212. † James Henry[6], born Jan. 22, 1832; married, first, Sarah M. Bigelow; 2d, Tillie M. Pierce.

2213. Margaret C.[6], born Sept. 13, 1833; died Dec. 17, 1834.

2214. † Elijah Corbin[6], born April 30, 1835; married Martha E. Warren.

2215. Caroline[6], born in Albany, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1836; married Alexander Pomeroy, of Philadelphia, January, 1864. They now live in Rochester, N. Y.

The following were born in Greece, N. Y.—

2216. Willard[6], born Sept. 13, 1838; married Bertha Doty, of Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1862. They live in Rochester. No children.

2217. † Eli M.[6], born July 5, 1840; married Fanny M. Ellis.

2218. Mary[6], born June 20, 1842; died June 22, 1842.

2219. Charles S.[6], born Nov. 24, 1844; unmarried; lives with his mother at Spencerport, Monroe Co., N. Y.; calls himself a "speculator."

2220. George M.[6], born March 31, 1846; married, Jan. 13, 1869, Mary W. Williams. He is a "farmer," and lives at Brockport, N. Y. No children, 1872.

2221. John[6], born Aug. 17, 1848; unmarried; lives with his mother at Spencerport, N. Y.

John Upton[5], (Henry[4], Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and son of Henry and Sarah Upton, of Saratoga Co., N. Y.; born Sept. 8, 1811; married at Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1836, Rachel Travor.

He lived in Albany; was deputy sheriff of the County of Albany; afterwards express messenger for the H. M. Express Co. for ten years. After this, was employed in Kansas by the government as sergeant-at-arms. He died at Albany, Jan. 9, 1858, aged 46 years, 4 months.

He left two children—

2222. Miles[6], born Aug. 29, 1837; married Jeannette L. Brown, Nov. 24, 1870. He resides at Spencerport, Monroe Co., N. Y. Is a dealer in lumber.

2223. Margaret[6], born Sept. 1, 1840; unmarried; resides in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sixth Generation.

2195.

Daniel Upton[6], (Isaac[5], Isaac[4], Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) son of Isaac[5] and Lydia (Eddy) Upton; born in Adams, Mass., May 26, 1818; married, near the close of 1838, Mary Peckham, born in Troy, N. Y., Feb. 2, 1819.

He is a citizen of great respectability in his native town of Adams. Ever since coming of age he has held some public office in the town and county; filling, at different times, nearly all of the offices of trust in the town. He also served in the responsible office of County Commissioner three successive terms of three years each, or nine years in all; and could have held the office still longer, had he been so disposed; and had not his duties to his family interfered. In 1856, he occupied a seat in the legislature of Massachusetts. Disliking the manner in which this branch of the public service is conducted, he has never since allowed his name to be put in nomination as a representative.

He is a devoted christian, and seeks in every proper and hopeful way to aid the progress of the Redeemer's cause, and to be useful to his fellow men.

He is one of the firm of Richardson, Upton & Co., who carry on a large establishment for the manufacture of writing paper, in South Adams, Mass. The firm is known as the Adams Paper Company, and consists of A. W. Richardson, Daniel Upton, S. E. Dean, and H. C. Putnam.

Mr. Upton's children — all born in Adams — have been — 2224. Jane Grey [7], born Aug. 8, 1839; married Ransom B. Dean, 1871.

2225. Edward Livingston [7], born May 26, 1841; died Feb. 8, 1843.

2226. Albert Henry [7], born Oct. 10, 1842; unm. 1872.

2227. Mary Elizabeth [7], born Aug. 11, 1844; died June 12, 1864.

2228. Oliver Arnold [7], born Aug. 17, 1846; married Sarah Duncan, of Shelburne Falls, Mass. They have one child —

2229. Charles Louis [8], born in Shelburne, Sept. 10, 1870.

2230. Anna Norton [7], born Aug. 26, 1848; unm. 1872.

2231. Francis Edward [7], born July 23, 1850; married Mary Dolan, 1870. One child —

2232. Daniel Edward [8], born June 8, 1872.

2233. Daniel Merritt [7], born April 9, 1853; died June 22, 1860.

2234. Ella Josephine [7], born Oct. 14, 1855.

2235. Hattie Gertrude [7], born April 7, 1857; died Sept. 5, 1858.

2236. Ada Belle [7], born June 22, 1858; died Aug. 22, 1859.

2237. Arthur E. [7], born Dec. 11, 1861; died April 26, 1864.

All of these children, except Oliver, with their parents, reside in Adams. No others of the name now reside in that town.

Capt. Isaac Haight Upton [6], (John [5], Isaac [4], Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) only mature child of John [5] and Sarah (Haight) Upton; born in Adams, Mass., Oct. 1, 1819; married, Dec. 16, 1856, MARY ANN QUIMBY, born Jan. 13, 1828. Her maiden name was MARY ANN GARRISON, a daughter of Ira Garrison, of Syracuse, N. Y. She was first married, June 2, 1846, to William H. Quimby, who died Jan. 7, 1851.

Capt. Upton was brought up and educated in Poughkeepsie, in Dutchess County, on the pleasant banks of the Hudson. After a tour through the western and southern States, and some residence there, he became master of a steamboat on the western rivers in the cotton trade. In 1854, he came north, and entered the service of the marine underwriters of New York, continuing therein till 1869, when ill health compelled him to quit that employment. In 1861, he originated and became secretary and general manager of the American Shipmaster's Association, having its seat in New York city. He is well known in that city among those concerned in sea affairs. He spent the winter of 1872–3 in the Island of Bermuda, for the benefit of his health.

2238. Louise B.[7], born June 15, 1859.
2239. Albert G.[7], born June 3, 1861.
2240. George B.[7], born Dec. 28, 1863; died Dec. 8, 1864.

2212.

James Henry Upton [6], (James [5], Henry [4], Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) son of James [5] and Mary A. (Moulton) Upton; born Jan. 22, 1832, it is supposed, in Canajoharie, Montgomery Co., N. Y.; married, 1st, Dec. 3, 1853, Sarah M. Bigelow; 2d, Tillie M. Pierce, daughter of Dea. Pierce, of Greece, N. Y.

His home is at Spencerport, Monroe Co., N. Y., but he transacts business as a cattle dealer between Buffalo and Albany.

His children are—by first wife, Sarah—

2241. Mary E.[7], born Feb. 9, 1855.
2242. Ella C.[7], born Oct. 14, 1856.
2243. Frank S.[7], born Jan. 11, 1859.
2244. Frederic A.[7], born Sept. 15, 1861.
2245. Sarah M.[7], born April 18, 1864.

By second wife, Tillie—

2246. William L.[7], born July 14, 1868.
2247. Seth P.[7], born June 15, 1870.

2214.

Elijah Corbin Upton [6], (James [5], Henry [4], Edward [3], William [2], John [1],) brother of the preceding; born April 30, 1835; married, May 7, 1862, Martha E. Warren, of Warsaw, N. Y.

They live in Spencerport, N. Y. Their children have been — 2248. Harry D.[7], born July 13, 1863; died Sept. 4, 1863.

2249. Charles R.[7], born Jan. 19, 1866; died April 10, 1869.
2250. Edward H.[7], born July 22, 1868.
2251. Bertha M.[7], born Nov. 17, 1870.

2217.

Eli M. Upton[6], (James[5], Henry[4], Edward[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Greece, Monroe Co., N. Y., July 5, 1840; married, Feb. 23, 1863, Fanny M. Ellis, of Charlotte, Monroe Co., N. Y.

He lives in Charlotte, already mentioned. Is engaged in the commission business.

His children are—

2252. Belle , born April 18, 1866.
2253. Carrie[7], born Sept. 20, 1867.
2254. Fannie[7].

SUPPLEMENT No. 2.

POSTERITY IN PART OF TIMOTHY UPTON[3] [33].

Third Generation.

33.

TIMOTHY UPTON[3] (William[2], John,[1],) brother of Edward[3] [30], seventh son of William[2] and grandson of John Upton[1]; was born in that part of Salem which in June, 1757, was incorporated as the town of Danvers, Sept. 4, 1718; married, 1st, HANNAH STACY; 2d, RUTH ——.

He died 1758, at the age of forty.

I have already, on page 56, given the names of two of his children, Nathan[4] [127], and Dorcas[4] [128], who were born of his first wife. I have since learned that he had two children by his second wife, Ruth, to wit—

2255. † Timothy[4], born about 1750.
2256. † Benjamin[4], born in 1754.

These children were young when their father died. Not long after his death they were carried to New Salem, a new town, incorporated June 15, 1753, then in Hampshire County, now in Franklin County, and there lived with a sister of their father's, a Mrs. Hoven. The town was probably settled from Old Salem; hence the name.

Fourth Generation.

Timothy Upton[4], (Timothy[3], William[2], John[1],) the elder of these two brothers, was born in Danvers, then a part of Salem, about 1750, possibly a year or two earlier. It must have been as early as 1750, because he was taxed in New Salem for a poll in 1771. He came to New Salem about 1758, or a little later, and settled in the south part of New Salem, which in 1822 was included in the town of Prescott. He owned and occupied, in 1798, as we learn from the tax-list, a house and one hundred and three acres of land in that town. His wife was Sarah ——. He died in 1821, his inventory being exhibited in the Probate Court in August of that year. In the record of the inventory, he is said to be of Pelham. In the January following, the East Parish of Pelham and south part of New Salem were incorporated as the town of Prescott, in Hampshire County.

His children were—

2257. Samuel.[5]
2258. Isaac.[5]
2259. Timothy.[5]
2260. Hannah.[5]

Strenuous effort has been made to obtain a history of this branch of the Upton Family. The compiler wrote to the Record offices in Northampton, of the county of Hampshire, in which county Pelham and Prescott are situated, and paid liberally for the information, but could obtain nothing of importance. He could obtain only the names of Samuel Upton[5] [2257], who was in 1821 administrator of his father Timothy's estate; of Isaac Upton[5] [2258], who owned land in Prescott; of Timothy Upton[5] [2259], who owned land in Prescott and New Salem; of Anna[5] [2260] (identical with Hannah above), who owned land in Amherst; of Jesse Upton and Esther his wife, of Prescott; Jesse died 1848; and was told there were "several others." Of what use are Record offices, if they fail in the time of urgent need?

The census of 1855 contains the name of Elizabeth Upton, then 78 years of age, residing in Petersham, in the family of Asahel Rickey. She was probably unmarried, and a daughter of the elder Timothy. The same document contains the name of Timothy Upton, then 49 years of age (born 1806), with his wife Morella, aged 45, and their children, Augustus, born 1841, and William T., born 1846. These lived, 1855, in Southbridge. He was doubtless a grandson of the elder Timothy. In Webster, six or eight miles east from Southbridge, was another Timothy Upton, born 1832, a butcher, and a John Upton, born 1840, who must have been sons of Timothy Upton, of Southbridge. In Barre, adjoining Petersham, is the name of Keyes Upton, born 1816, and his wife Lucy, born 1821, and their four daughters, Emeline and Angeline (twins), Lucia and Ella, who must have been of this family. But I cannot distribute them to their proper places.

In the census of 1855, I also find the following, which must relate to the family of Timothy Upton [4], born 1750, of New Salem and Prescott.

Isaac Upton [6], probably grandson of Timothy Upton [4], born 1821; married Emeline M. ——, born 1822. He was a tanner; lived in Greenwich, Hampshire Co., Mass., in 1855, with their children—2274. Lewis I.[7], born 1843.

2275. Mary E.[7], born 1845.
2276. Warren H.[7], born 1847.
2277. Harriet A.[7], born 1854.

2278.

Chauncey Upton [6], grandson of Timothy Upton [4]; born 1822 or 1823; married Samantha ——, born 1825; lived in Greenwich, Mass., 1855; in Prescott, 1848. Children—

2279. Julia M.[7], born 1847.
2280. Jane L.[7], born 1852.

2281.

Otis Upton [6], grandson of Timothy Upton [4]; born 1810. Apparently a widower in 1855; then living in Prescott, Mass., with his children —

2282. Florintha[7], born 1838.
2283. Leroy A.[7], born 1846.

Benjamin Upton [4], (Timothy [3], William [2], John [1],) brother of Timothy Upton [4], and son of Timothy [3] [33] and Ruth Upton, of Danvers; born in Danvers, then a part of Salem, in 1754; was brought to New Salem, then in Hampshire Co., Mass., when four years old, in 1758, after his father's death; and lived with his father's sister, Mrs. Hoven.

He married, 1st, Deborah Goodell, probably a native of Danvers; 2d, Hannah Hixon; 3d, Sarah Trask, born 1761, died 1836, a. 75.

He passed his life, or the most of it, in New Salem. He doubtless owned land there, though none is mentioned in the census return. The U. S. assessors, in 1798, taxed him for one hundred acres of land owned and occupied by him in Shutesbury, a town adjoining New Salem.

His grandson says that he was in the battle of Bunker Hill, and was wounded in the back in the retreat from the intrenchment. He died May, 1829, aged 75. His widow Sarah died 1836, aged 75.

His children were—by first wife, Deborah—2284. † Benjamin [5], born 1775; married Betsey Brown.

2285. Ruth [5], born 1777; married ——— Chamberlain. They lived in Oakham, Mass. She is deceased. Had children.

2286. Sally [5], born 1778; married Spencer Foster, of Oakham. Is still living, 1872. No children.

2287. † Stephen [5], born 1780; married Betsey Lyon.

2288. James [5], born 178–; married Deborah Cotting. He removed to Whitingham, Vt., on the south line of that State, and died there. He had five children whose names have not been furnished to the compiler. His widow lived, 1855, in Rowe, Mass., a town adjoining Whitingham. She was then 65 years of age, and living in the family of Jesse Wheeler.

By third wife, Sarah—

2289. Hannah [5], born about 1788; died young.

2290. † John [5], born 1789; married Lucy Wheeler.

2291. Mabel [5], born 1792; married Isaac Paige. Still living, 1872, in New Salem.

2292. Betsey [5], born 179–; married David Hamilton; had nine children, all living; among them a son David Hamilton, living in New Salem, 1872.

2293. Dorcas [5], born 179–; married ——— Fairbanks. "She and her family are all dead," 1872.

2294. Fanny [5], born about 1800; married David Aiken, of Hardwick; no children.

Fifth Generation.

2284.

Benjamin Upton [5], (Benjamin [4], Timothy [3], William [2], John [1],) eldest son of Benjamin [4] and Deborah (Goodell) Upton; born in New Salem, Mass., in 1775; married, 1800, Betsey Brown, of Winchendon, Mass. Her father came from Lexington, Mass.

After marriage he lived some time in Phillipston, Mass., a town adjoining Petersham, and near to New Salem. In 1813, he removed to Bakersfield, in the northwestern part of Vermont. At that time he had five children; five more were born in Bakersfield. His wife died in January, 1860. He was still living, at the age of ninety-seven, and was able in August, 1872, to write a letter to the compiler, in answer to some inquiries made by the latter. The names of his children who were living in 1872, are as follows: —

2295. James.[6]
2296. Mary.[6]
2297. Harvey.[6]
2298. Olive.[6]
2299. Betsey.[6]

The names of the five deceased were not furnished. The father says the living five all reside in Franklin Co., Vt., and are all married and have children, except Olive and James. The father lives with his son Harvey.

2287.

Stephen Upton[5], (Benjamin[4], Timothy[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding, and second son of Benjamin[4] and Deborah (Goodell) Upton; born in New Salem, Mass., 1780; married Betsey Lyon.

He lived and died in Petersham, a town adjoining New Salem. I am informed that he "has descendants there"; how many, and what are their names, we are not permitted to know, except that he has a son—

2300. Joseph Warren[6], born 1818; a farmer, and, in 1872, one of the selectmen of Petersham. The census of 1855 gives him no wife, but a daughter Mary[7], born 1843, and a daughter Laura[7], born 1847. On being applied to for information concerning his family, he refused to answer.

John Upton[5], (Benjamin[4], Timothy[3], William[2], John[1],) half-brother of the preceding, and only son of Benjamin[4] and Sarah (Trask) Upton, of New Salem; born 1789; married Lucy Wheeler, born 1793.

He was a farmer. He owned and occupied the old homestead in New Salem which had belonged to his father, and where his father died in 1829, and his mother in 1836. He himself died there in June, 1869, aged 80; his wife died there in December, 1866, aged 75. Their children are — 2301. Olive T[rask][6], born 1817; married —— Stetson, a farmer. They had three children:

   2302. Amasa (Stetson), who was a soldier in the late civil war; served during the war; returned home, and died soon after.
   2303. Henry (Stetson).
   2304. Amelia (Stetson).
   These "live at home with their father," but where their home is, does not appear.

2305. † John[6], born 1819; married Cordelia L. Pierce.

2306. † Benjamin W.[6], born 1821; married Elizabeth H. Ayers.

2307. Hiram W.[6], born 1824; married Harriet Taylor. They live in Dunkirk, Dane Co., Wisconsin. They had eight children.

2308. Jacob R.[6], born 1827; married Julia Leonard. He was a farmer. They lived in New Salem. They had — 2309. Leslie L.[7], born 1852.
   2310. Seth Benjamin[7], born 1854.
   2311. Etta.[7]

2312. Flora.[7]

2313. Thera.[7] These children, except Etta, with their father, were all swept off by diphtheria, within one week, in October, 1864.

2314. Luthera S.[6], born 1830; married Henry Hoar. They live on the homestead of her father, and have two children —

2315. Frank (Hoar).

2316. Anna (Hoar).

2317. Lucy D.,[6] born 1832; married Gray Taylor. They live in Dunkirk, Dane Co., Wisconsin. They have seven children.

2318. Sarah C.[6], born 1835; married Seth Leonard, of Shutesbury, Mass., adjoining New Salem. They have had eight children, of whom six were living in 1872.

Sixth Generation.

2305.

John Upton [6], (John [5], Benjamin [4], Timothy [3], William [2], John [1],) eldest son of John [5] and Lucy (Wheeler) Upton, of New Salem; born 1819; married Cordelia L. Pierce, born 1827. He is a farmer, and, as he says, is now the only Upton in New Salem.

His children were —

2319. Emma C.[7], born 1847; married Charles Coolidge. They live in Orange, a town adjoining New Salem on the north. They have — 2320. George A. (Coolidge), born 1868.

2321. Ella E.[7], born May, 1851; died October, 1864, of diphtheria.

2322. John A.[7], born April, 1854; died October, 1860, of canker rash.

2323. Ada D.[7]

2324. Nellie.[7] The two last are unmarried, and live with their father, August, 1872.

2306.

Benjamin W. Upton[6], (John[5], Benjamin[4], Timothy[3], William[2], John[1],) brother of the preceding; born 1821; married Elizabeth H. Ayers, born 1820. He is a farmer; lived, 1855, in New Braintree; now, 1872, lives in Barre, Mass. Has one child —

SUPPLEMENT No. 3.

FAMILY OF SARAH UPTON[4] [152].

SARAH UPTON[4], (Amos[3], Samuel[2], John[1],) daughter of Dea. Amos Upton[3], of North Reading; born April 9, 1757; married JOB BANCROFT[5], of Reading, Jan. 10, 1782.

He was born in Lynnfield, then "Lynn End," April 7, 1754, son of John[4], who was son of John[3], son of John[2], son of Thomas Bancroft[1]; the last named of whom died at Lynnfield, 1691, aged 69; was buried in what is now Wakefield, formerly South Reading, and his gravestone is yet standing in the old cemetery there.

Job Bancroft was a private in Col. John Mansfield's regiment of "eight months' men" in 1775. He was by trade a housewright, and lived in Salem. He had a brother John Bancroft, who went to Norway in Maine, and settled there, in 1800.

Job Bancroft and his wife Sarah died about 1803. Their estate was settled by her brother Benjamin Upton, Esq., of North Reading, and Elijah Sanderson.

Their children were—

Sarah (Bancroft), born about 1785 ; settled in Salem.

Ebenezer (Bancroft), born about 1788 ; never married. He was a dry-goods merchant in Salem, Boston, and New York. Had considerable taste for military affairs, and held the commission of Major in the Massachusetts militia.

Joseph (Bancroft), born about 1797 ; married Martha Mansfield, of Salem, Nov. 8, 1821. He was with his brother in business in Boston and New York.

ADDENDA.

Page 4. The tradition that John Upton, the progenitor of the Upton Family in America, came from Scotland, lingers in several branches of the Family, particularly in the oldest branch, that of Lynnfield.

Pages 10, 29. The land owned by John Upton, the first of the name, is not "now included in the town of Danvers," but of Peabody.

Page 30. William Upton and Samuel Upton lived in that part of Old Salem which is now included in the town of Peabody.—See p. 165, note.

Page 34. Richard Upton [31], born May 20, 1716, married Rachel Rich, June 26, 1746. This we learn from the Wilmington Records. They also record the births of his children by her, beginning with Molly, April 16, 1747, and ending with Timothy, Feb. 2, 1756. She united with the church in Wilmington in 1747. In his will, dated June 11, 1768, he provides for his wife Rachel. He could not, therefore, marry Elizabeth Putnam, of Danvers, July 5, 1757, as the compiler once supposed. See pages 54, 55. Elizabeth's husband must have been some other Richard Upton; possibly a son of Ezekiel[3], p. 46.

Page 34. Dorcas Upton[3] [32], born Sept. 4, 1718, daughter of William[2] and Mary Upton, married, 1st, Stephen Felton, of Danvers, Nov. 16, 1742, and had by him three children. He died, and she married, 2d, Nathaniel Felton, great-grandfather of William H. Felton, now of Peabody, 1872.

Page 35. The house occupied by these two brothers was demolished a few years since.

Page 38. Only a small part of this land, if any, remains "in the line of the grantor's descendants to the present day." —See p. 196.

Anna Upton died in Reading, 1734.

Gilbert Tapley and Phebe Upton were married at Danvers, June 17, 1747.

John Bickford Upton was a deacon of the First Church in Salem in 1741. Whose son was he?

Page 39. Samuel Upton[2] may have had another daughter, next after Abigail,[3] viz., Sarah, born about 1707. Otherwise we cannot arrange in its proper place the following record:

"Sarah Upton, of adult age, baptized in Salem, Middle Precinct [now Peabody], May 26, 1728."

Page 39. Anna Upton[3] [39], daughter of Samuel[2] and Abigail Upton, was married to Joseph Cross, of Reading, July 4, 1751, by Rev. Peter Clark, minister of Danvers. He had previously been married, July 16, 1729, to her cousin Elizabeth Upton[3] [47], daughter of Ezekiel.[2]

Page 44. In the Old Cemetery in Lynnfield, is a moss-covered stone inscribed as follows: "Here lyes buried ye body of Mr. John Upton, who departed this life March 27, 1743, Aged 60 years and 60 days."

Page 48. Hannah Felton, second wife of William Upton[3] [25], was baptized July, 1732. Baptisms then occurred only a few days after birth. Of course she was twenty-nine years younger than her husband. He was 52; she was 23, at their marriage. This union produced no children; at least there are none on record.

Page 50. Tamasin Upton[4] [91], eldest daughter of James and Susanna Upton, married Zechariah Felton, of Danvers, probably about 1756. Zechariah Felton died 1780, and the widow Tamasin married, 2d, John Dodge, about 1788.

Page 56. Timothy Upton[3] had sons by his second wife, Ruth. They and their descendants may be found, pp. 464 et seq.

Page 62. The Reading Record says, that Mary, the widow of Nathaniel Upton, died Nov. 16, 1818, aged 97, which should probably be 1808.

Page 64. Sarah Upton, born 1758, adopted child of Benjamin Upton, of Danvers, died at Danvers, April 1, 1819, in the family of Dr. Joseph Shed.

Page 67, at bottom. Nathaniel Upton[4] [151], son of Dea. Amos Upton, was a Revolutionary soldier.

Page 68, note. The true date of the birth of Amos Upton[4], eldest son of Dea. Amos Upton,[3] as supplied from an old record in the family, was Oct. 30, 1742.

Pp. 70–72. Mrs. Sarah Upton, wife of Ebenezer Upton,[3] of North Reading, died there, Aug. 6, 1789, aged 84.

Page 75. Probably there were other children; perhaps Bethia, who married Nathan Phelps in 1761; Molly, who married Nathaniel Wesson, 1761; or Zerviah, who married Daniel Townsend, of Lynn, 1764. See the ensuing lines.

Nathan Phelps and Bethiah Upton, both of Reading, were married there, March 17, 1761.

Nathaniel Wesson and Molly Upton, both of Wilmington, were married in Reading, April 23, 1761.

Daniel Townsend, of Lynn, and Zerviah Upton, of Reading, were married in Reading, Jan. 24, 1764.

Obed Johnson, of Andover, and Eleanor Upton, of Reading, were married in Reading, May 12, 1773.

Silas Richard Stickney, of Andover, and Sarah Upton, of Reading, were married, Aug. 12, 1774. He was born April 7, 1751, son of Amos Stickney, of Tewksbury. She died 1793.

Page 173. Thomas Evans Upton and his wife Hannah were members of the church in Wilmington, as also their daughter Hannah. Mrs. Hannah (Eames) Upton died in Wilmington, Dec. 15, 1872, aged 85 years.

Page 174. Sarah, wife of Paul Upton [315], was a member of the church of Wilmington in 1832.

Page 176. The three names, next following this notice, were on a paper placed in the hands of the compiler. They are grandchildren of the elder Jeduthun Upton[4] [130], page 102: so much is certain. Probably they were children of his son Jeduthun[5] [332], page 176: but there was nothing to show who the parents were.

Edward Turner Upton,[6] born Nov. 22, 1808.
William Upton,[6] born July 9, 1810.
Caroline Upton,[6] born Sept. 16, 1818.
These dates cannot all be correct.

Mrs. Susanna Upton died in Reading, Oct. 8, 1828.

Mrs. Elizabeth Upton died in Reading, September, 1834.

Priscilla Upton died in Reading, Sept. 28, 1838, aged 32.

David Upton, Esq., who was of St. Stephen, N. B., deceased some time previous to July, 1872. His only daughter was the wife of Hon. John Bolton, of St. Stephen, a native of England, who died July 14, 1872, aged 48.

From the Record of Massachusetts Volunteers, in the War against the Great Rebellion, published 1868–70.

☞ The residence of those whose names follow cannot in all cases be determined, because some are credited to towns where they did not reside:

John S. Upton, credited to Gloucester as a private in a nine months regiment, and to North Andover in Co. C, of the 23d regiment.

Samuel Upton, Charlestown, private in a 9 months regiment.

Lucius E. Upton, Cambridge, private in a 9 months regiment, afterwards in Battery 16. He died at Camp Barry, Aug. 7, 1864.

Augustine Upton, Wilmington, in a 9 months regiment, afterwards in the regular army.

☞ The following enlisted for longer terms, mostly for three years:

APPENDIX I.

SKETCH OF THE PUTNAM FAMILY.

[See page 113.]

I. JOHN PUTNAM[1] and his wife Priscilla, with their three sons, came from Abbotsason, or rather from Aston Abbots, near Aylesbury, in the county of Bucks, England. He settled in Salem, Mass., 1634. He had an original grant from that town of one hundred acres, Jan. 20, 1641, and bought one hundred and fifty acres more of different individuals; making, in the whole, two hundred and fifty acres. This large farm was on the south side of Putnam Hill, and near the present village of Putnamville, in what is now the town of Danvers. He was a man of great energy and industry. He and all his family were members of the church there. His children, who came with him from England, were—Thomas, born about 1618; Nathaniel, born about 1621; John, born 1628; and Elizabeth. These three brothers were persons of influence, had fine farms, and each of them paid a higher tax in 1681 than any other person in "Salem Village," afterwards the town of Danvers. The father died Dec. 30, 1662, when about 80 years of age.

THOMAS [2], the eldest son, settled first in Lynn, but in a few years removed to Salem Village, now Danvers. He was a man of large property, and occupied a distinguished position. He had nine children, of whom Joseph [3], the youngest, was the father of ISRAEL PUTNAM [4], a major-general in the army of the Revolution.

II. NATHANIEL PUTNAM [2], second son of the first John Putnam, married ELIZABETH, daughter of Richard Hutchinson. Besides what he received from his father, he became, through his wife, the possessor of seventy-five acres of land. On that tract he built his house and passed his life. It was east of the meeting-house, and near Hadlock's Bridge. The property remains to this day in the possession of his descendants.

Mr. Charles W. Upham, in his "History of the Salem Witchcraft," Vol. I., 157, from which I have in this Appendix largely borrowed, describes him as a man of great business activity and ability, as possessing extraordinary powers of mind, great energy and skill in the management of affairs, and singular sagacity, acumen, and quickness of perception. He died July 23, 1700, leaving a numerous family and a large estate.

III. Benjamin Putnam[3], a son of Nathaniel[2], married Sarah Houlton, daughter of Joseph Houlton, of Salem Village [Danvers], from whom all of the name in this country have sprung. Benjamin owned a good farm on the northern slope of Putnam Hill. In his will, proved April 25, 1715, he says, "I give my son Daniel one hundred and fifty pounds for his learning." Daniel was then in college.

IV. Rev. Daniel Putnam[4], a son of Benjamin[3], was born in Salem Village, Nov. 12, 1696. He graduated at Harvard College, 1717, and was the first Putnam who graduated at that institution.

From this family of Putnams have originated all of the name in New England, if not in the whole country, including many persons of the highest worth and respectability. Descendants of the family have gone forth from Danvers, in all directions, to all parts of New England, to the Middle, Western and Pacific States, and to British North America. Yet the old hive is by no means deserted. In the town of Danvers, at the present time, on a list of eight hundred voters, fifty Putnams, one sixteenth of the whole number, still remain.

Dea. Edward Putnam[3], of Salem Village, born July 4, 1654, son of the first Thomas[2], died in 1747, in his 94th year. In 1733, he made the following record in reference to the Putnam Family: "From the three brothers [the sons of John Putnam, the original emigrant] proceeded twelve males; from these twelve males, forty males; and from the forty-eighty-two males. There were none of the name of Putnam in New England but from this family."

Dea. Edward Putnam had by wife Mary Houlton, a son Elisha[4], born Nov. 3, 1685, who removed, about 1725, to the new town of Sutton, Mass. [incorporated 1719], where he cultivated a fine farm, and was deacon of the church, and represented the town in the legislature of the Province. He died, June, 1745.

Rufus Putnam[5], son of Dea. Elisha[4], was born in Sutton, April 9, 1738. He was distinguished above all others in the army of the Revolution as a military engineer. He superintended the construction of the works erected by the American forces in Brookline, Roxbury and Dorchester, especially those in South Boston, in the winter of 1775–6, which compelled the evacuation of Boston by the British troops. He also superintended the erection of the formidable works at West Point. Washington pronounced him far superior, as an engineer, to all the foreign officers and all others in his army. After the war he was surveyor-general of the United States, and the founder of the State of Ohio. At Marietta, to which he led the first colony, he died, May 1, 1824, aged 86.

Rev. Daniel Putnam,[4] already mentioned as a son of Benjamin Putnam, of Salem Village, was ordained pastor of the Second Church in Reading—the First Church being at South Reading, now Wakefield—June 29, 1720, and was pastor of the church thirty-nine years, wanting nine days. He was the first pastor of that church, now the church in North Reading. He died there, after a long illness (viz., from Sept. 10, 1758), June 20, 1759, in the sixty-third year of his age.

This venerable man was longer in the ministry than any other minister in Reading, except Mr. Stone, his immediate successor. The parish was incorporated, Oct. 20, 1713. The church, it is believed, was gathered at the time of Mr. Putnam's ordination. At that time, it consisted of seventeen males, and twenty-two females; thirty-nine in all. During his ministry there were added to the church one hundred and ninety-two persons; five hundred and forty-one were baptized.

Mr. Putnam was a warm and decided friend of the "great awakening" of 1742, and was active in its promotion. It extended to his parish, and its influence was long and very happily felt there. In Prince's Christian History, Vol. I., p. 181, there is an interesting account of it, written by him, under date of June 30, 1743. He says: "I know that this was the work of the Spirit of God. . . . There have been large additions to the church, considering the number of the people. Many have found that rest which Christ gives to those weary souls who receive him with the whole heart."

By his wife Rebecca he had—

Daniel[5], born Nov. 8, 1721; married Hannah ——.
Aaron[5], born Oct. 2, 1723; died Oct. 21, 1723.
Sarah[5], born Sept. 7, 1724.
Hannah[5], born July 31, 1726.
Elizabeth[5], born May 28, 1728.
Mary[5], born May 13, 1730.
Joshua[5], born Feb. 23, 1732.

Aaron[5], born Dec. 5, 1733; grad. H. C. 1752; minister at Pomfret, Conn., the residence of Gen. Israel Putnam.
Bethiah[5], born Nov. 29, 1735.

V. Dea. DANIEL PUTNAM[5], born Nov. 8, 1721, eldest son of Rev. Daniel Putnam[4], of North Reading, married HANNAH ——. He was deacon in his father's church.

His children were—

Hannah[6], born Jan. 23, 1745.
Daniel[6], born Oct. 10, 1747.
Joshua[6], born Jan. 27, 1751; married Eunice ——; lived in North Reading, was a man of note there.
Rebecca[6], born Jan. 18, 1752; married BENJAMIN UPTON Esq., of North Reading.
Henry[6], born May 7, 1755; lived in North Reading; was a deacon in the church, and a man of much influence; died Nov. 27, 1806.
Aaron[6], born April 11, 1757.
Sarah[6], born June 25, 1760.

Henry Putnam, Esq. was a son of one of the brothers of the above family—probably of Dea. Henry Putnam. He was born in North Reading about 1782; graduated H. C. 1802; studied law; was admitted to the bar of Cumberland Co., Me., 1807, or about that time; settled in Brunswick, Me., and was in practice there several years; removed to his native town of North Reading, 1815, and died there, Jan. 12, 1827, aged 45.

APPENDIX II.

SKETCH OF REV. ELIAB STONE, OF NORTH READING.

It is proper to preface this sketch with some notices of his

AMERICAN ANCESTRY.

The name of Stone is very common in New England. Most of those who bear the name are the descendants of two brothers, who early came to this country and settled in the colony of Massachusetts. Simon, the elder, settled in Watertown; Gregory, who was five years younger, lived and died in Cambridge. Both were respectable men; both were selectmen in their respective towns; both were deacons. Both took the freemen's oath the same day, May 25, 1636; which is sufficient proof that they were then church members. Simon embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for America, April 15, 1635, in the ship Increase, with his family, being then fifty years of age. It is highly probable that his brother Gregory came with him.

The remainder of this sketch relates to Gregory Stone and his descendants.

First Generation.

Gregory Stone[1], born in England, 1590, came to this country, without doubt, in 1635, being then 45 years of age. He lived in Cambridge, on the west side of the Common, near the College, not far from the Botanic Garden, and not far from Mount Auburn. He was a deacon of the First Church, and the last survivor of its original members. He was also a magistrate, and deputy to the General Court. He owned a good farm, in Cambridge, and another in what is now Lexington, formerly the north precinct of Cambridge. He also owned land in Watertown, which he sold to the agent of Thomas Boylston, in 1639.

He married in England the widow Lydia Cooper, who had, by a former husband, a son and daughter, John and Lydia Cooper, who came to America with their mother.

Dea. Gregory Stone died Nov. 30, 1672. His wife Lydia died June 24, 1674.

His will, which is the foundation of all our knowledge of the genealogy of his descendants, may be found in the Genealogical Register, Vol. viii. p. 69, furnished by his descendant, William F. Stone, of Cambridge.

His children were—

1. Elizabeth[2], perhaps the oldest child, and born in England; married —— Potter, and settled in Ipswich.
2. † John[2], born in England, about 1619; married Anne How.
3. Daniel[2], was a "chirurgeon," first in Cambridge, then in Boston.
4. David[2], settled on the west side of his father's farm in the north precinct of Cambridge, afterwards Lexington. The spot is now in the edge of Lincoln, and part of it is still in the possession of his descendants. Gregory Stone was living in the old homestead a few years since.
5. Sarah[2], born in England, 1633; married, July 12, 1653, Joseph Meriam, of Concord, who died in 1677, aged 47. She lived with the children of her brother Samuel in Lexington, and died there April 8, 1704, a. 71.
6. Samuel[2], the youngest child, was born in the early part of 1635, just before the family left England. He married, June 7, 1655, Sarah Stearns, born Sept. 22, 1635, daughter of Isaac Stearns, of Watertown. He lived in Lexington, about a mile east of his brother David, in the centre of the farm formerly owned by their father. He took a leading part in the settlement of Lexington, was one of the deacons of the infant church there, and died Sept. 27, 1715, aged 80 years and 7 months. For his descendants, see Bond's Watertown Genealogies, p. 521 et seq.

Second Generation.

John Stone[2], eldest son of Dea. Gregory Stone, born in England about 1619; married Anne How, daughter of Edward and Margaret How. Edward How was one of the largest original proprietors of Watertown; Selectman of that town 1637 and four following years; and deputy to the General Court, 1642, 1643.

John Stone was one of the early proprietors of Sudbury, and had several grants of land there. He bought lands of the Indians at the Falls of Sudbury River, which were confirmed to him by the General Court in 1656. He had a romantic and beautiful situation on the banks of that river, near the outlet of Cochituate Lake, where is now the beautiful village of Saxonville. His house stood on the site now occupied by the station-house of the Saxonville Railroad. He went there and settled among the Indians, when all around was a perfect wilderness. In 1655 he was town clerk. He was "elder" or deacon of the church in Sudbury, and was known indifferently as "elder" and "deacon" John Stone.

His will is dated 16. 2. 1683, that is, April 16, 1683, and was proved 12. 4. 1683, i. e.,

June 12, 1683. It may be found in the Genealogical Register, viii. 145. He was then, as he says, of Cambridge, aged about 64. His wife Ann was then living, and was made sole executrix of the will. The four sons and six daughters, whose names follow, are particularly mentioned and provided for. From the language of the will, it appears that the oldest son, John, was of feeble intellect, and incapable of taking care of himself. The second son, Daniel, was to have the care of John and of the property left to John during his natural life.

He had, it is said, twelve children, of whom the will gives the names of ten, as follow—

John[3], non compos.
Hannah[3], married —— Bent.
Mary[3], married —— Fox.
† Daniel[3], born Aug. 31, 1644; married, 1st, Mary Ward; 2d, Abigail Wheeler; 3d, Ruth Haynes.
David[3].
Elizabeth[3], married —— Stow.
Margaret[3], married —— Brown.
Tabitha[3], married —— Rice.
Sarah[3], married —— Hill.
Nathaniel[3].

His posterity have been numerous in Sudbury, Framingham and that vicinity.

Third Generation.

Daniel Stone[3], the eldest son of Elder John Stone[2], born in Sudbury, Aug. 31, 1644; married, 1st, Nov. 22, 1667, Mary (Moore) Ward, daughter of John Moore, of Sudbury, and widow of Richard Ward of the same town. She died June 10, 1703. He married, 2d, Feb. 8, 1703–4, Abigail Wheeler, who died Oct. 28, 1711; and 3d, Nov. 18, 1712, Ruth Haynes, of Sudbury.

He was a deacon of the church in Sudbury, and Selectman of Framingham, 1700, two years.

Children, all by first wife, Mary—

† Daniel[4], born Nov. 22, 1668; married Patience Brown.
Anne[4].
Tabitha[4].
Sarah[4].
Mary[4].
Elizabeth[4].
Abigail[4].
John[4].

Fourth Generation.

Daniel Stone[4], eldest son of Dea. Daniel and Mary Stone; born in Sudbury, Nov. 22, 1668; married Patience Brown, born 1669, daughter of Thomas Brown, of Sudbury. She died Nov. 13, 1722, aged 53.

He lived in Framingham; was Selectman and Town Treasurer of that town; and died Dec. 22, 1702, aged 34.

His children were—

Priscilla[5].
Beulah[5].
Keziah[5].
† Micah[5], born March 11, 1699; married Abigail Stone.
Lois[5].

Fifth Generation.

Micah Stone[5], only son of Daniel[4] and Patience (Brown) Stone; born in Framingham, March 11, 1699; married, April 2, 1724, Abigail Stone[5], born April 21, 1707, eldest daughter of Capt. Samuel[4] and Abigail (Reed) Stone, of Lexington. Her father was son of Deacon Samuel[3] Stone, one of the original members of the church in Lexington, who was a son of Samuel[2], the youngest child of Deacon Gregory Stone[1], of Cambridge.

Micah Stone lived in his native town of Framingham; was Selectman five years from 1732 till his death, and was representative 1734 and 1735. He died of small-pox, Oct. 13, 1738.

His widow Abigail married, Jan. 22, 1752, Col. Joseph Perry. She died Oct. 4, 1796.

The children of Micah and Abigail Stone were—

Josiah[6], born Dec. 23, 1724.
Daniel[6], born April 11, 1727.
Micah[6], born May 30, 1729.
John[6], born March 28, 1731.
Moses[6], born June 26, 1734.
† Eliab[6], born May 5, 1737; married Sarah Hubbard.

Sixth Generation.

Rev. Eliab Stone[6], the youngest son of Micah[5] and Abigail Stone; born in Framingham, May 5, 1737; married, Oct. 17, 1765, Sarah Hubbard, born Jan. 30, 1743, daughter of Ebenezer and Mary (Conant) Hubbard, of Concord. She died June 13, 1815, aged 72.

He graduated at Harvard College in 1758, at the age of twenty-one. He then taught school in Sudbury, at the same time attending to the study of Theology, under the direction of Rev. William Cooke, minister of the East Parish in that town, now the town of Wayland. He was ordained pastor of the Second (now First) church in Reading, May 20, 1761. Here he continued to labor with very little interruption for fifty-five years, or till 1816; when on account of his bodily infirmities and advanced age, he was compelled to retire from the active duties of the ministry. Rev. Cyrus Pierce, a native of Waltham, was installed as colleague May 19, 1819. Mr. Stone died August 31, 1822, in the 86th year of his age, and the 62d of his ministry.

Mr. Stone and Benjamin Upton, Esq. (see page 113 et seq.), were fast friends through life, and their mortal remains were interred side by side in the tomb of the latter in North Reading. The close and endearing intimacy subsisting between them during more than sixty years may justify the space allotted to Mr. Stone in this Appendix.

During Mr. Stone's ministry, there were baptized 876 persons, mostly children. There were 380 marriages, and 303 persons were received into the church. Or rather these are the numbers as given by him in a sermon preached May 19, 1811, at the end of half a century of his ministerial labors.

Mr. Stone was deservedly and highly respected, not only in his parish, but in the region where he dwelt. He possessed many of the qualities which fit men for usefulness. He was a man of great firmness and decision, as well as of gentleness of disposition and suavity of manner. His counsel was often sought in cases of difficulty. He was invited to sit in Ecclesiastical Councils no fewer than forty-four times. An evidence of his prudence may be found in the uncommon degree of union and harmony which prevailed in the parish during his long ministry of more than sixty years. He was sympathizing and social, ardent and generous, affectionate and kind. He took a lively interest in all that concerned the public welfare, whether of the town or country. During the Revolutionary war, his prayers were fervent for the success of the popular cause ; and by his animating exhortations he contributed much to arouse the energies of the people. Through the whole war, he held himself in readiness as a " minute man," and once, on an alarm of invasion, he actually shouldered his musket and marched to Salem to repel the enemy.

In his doctrinal views he sympathized in some degree with the liberal party, while aiming to convince his hearers of sin, and to lead them to repentance. In prayer he was eminent for solemnity of manner and fervency of spirit. He taught not only in public, but from house to house.

His publications were — A Sermon at the ordination of his brother-in-law, the Rev. Ebenezer Hubbard, at Marblehead, Jan. 1, 1783 ; of his son, Rev. Micah Stone, at Brookfield, March 11, 1801 ; at the funeral of Rev. Isaac Morrill at Wilmington, Aug. 20, 1793; of Rev. Caleb Prentiss, at South Reading, Feb. 10, 1803; on the Death of Washington, 1800; on the National Fast, April, 1799; on completing a half century of his ministry, May 19, 1811.

His children were—

Sarah[7], born Aug. 9, 1766; married Rev. Peter Eaton, of Boxford.

Eliab[7], born May 10, 1768.

Micah[7], born Sept. 22, 1770; ordained pastor at Brookfield, March 11, 1801.

Edward[7], born July 9, 1772.

Mary[7], born Dec. 16, 1774.

Abigail[7], born Nov. 9, 1777; married Thomas Brewer, of Boston, Feb. 19, 1804.

John[7], born July 9, 1781.

APPENDIX III.

THE BRUCE FAMILY.

First Generation.

1.

George Bruce [1], in the early records written Brush [the u long], was the first of the name in this country, of whom we have any account. It is said that he came from Scotland; which indeed is highly probable. He settled in Woburn, near Boston; at what time we are not informed; and married there, Dec. 28, 1659, Elizabeth Clark, born in Watertown, Nov. 26, 1642, daughter of William Clark, a weaver by occupation, and doubtless also a cultivator of the soil, who was of Watertown, 1631; freeman, 1639; and who removed to Woburn about 1654. Margery, wife of William Clark, accompanied him from England.

Mary, the elder sister of Elizabeth Clark, born Dec. 10, 1640, married, Dec. 27, 1655, William Locke, of Woburn. They are the progenitors of the Locke Family in America, of whom a full account may be found in the "Book of the Lockes," compiled by John G. Locke, and printed in Boston, 1853.

George Bruce died in Woburn, Aug. 18, 1692. His widow Elizabeth died there, Aug. 13, 1710. [Woburn Records.]

Their children were—

2. William[2], born Nov. 21, 1660; died Jan. 1, 1660–1.
3. William[2], born Oct. 20, 1661; died Nov. 3, 1661.
4. Elizabeth[2], born Jan. 26, 1662–3; died young.
5. Mary[2], born June 15, 1665; married Walter Cranston, June 4, 1683.
6. † William[2], born April 28, 1667; married Elizabeth Gould.
7. † John[2], born June 18, 1670; married, 1st, Rose Wattle; 2d, Isabel Lepingwell.
8. Elizabeth[2], born Aug. 24, 1672.
9. George[2], born Jan. 18, 1673–4; died same day.
10. Joseph[2], born Jan. 11, 1674–5; died Feb. 28, 1675–6.
11. † Joseph[2], born Dec. 29, 1676; married Hannah ——.
12. Samuel[2], born March 28, 1680.
13. Margery[2], born April 24, 1684; married, Feb. 20, 1704–5, Isaac Walker.
14. Lydia[2], born April 10, 1687.

Second Generation.

6.

William Bruce[2], son of George[1] and Elizabeth (Clark) Bruce; born in Woburn, April 28, 1667; married Elizabeth Gould, March 15, 1692–3. They resided in Woburn.

Their children were—

15. Mary[3], born Dec. 6, 1693.
16. William[3], born March 11, 1696; died Dec. 18, 1723.
17. † John[3], born Nov. 9, 1698; married Martha Carter.
18. † Samuel[3], born March 11, 1701; married Rebecca Winn.
19. Abigail[3], born March 29, 1703; married, March 21, 1723, Nathaniel Cutler, born May 23, 1700, only son of John and Elizabeth Cutler, of Woburn.
20. Thomas[3], born May 20, 1705.
21. James[3], born June 16, 1708; died June 27, 1708.
22. Rebecca[3], born Sept. 26, 1709; married Phineas Goodall, of Marlborough, Nov. 22, 1733.
23. Lydia[3], born Aug. 24, 1712.

John Bruce[2], brother of the preceding; born in Woburn, June 18, 1670; married, 1st, Rose Wattle, Jan. 31, 1693–4. So the name stands on the Woburn Records. But as the name does not elsewhere appear on those records, we suppose the true name was Waters. We find Joseph Waters and Samuel Waters inhabitants of Woburn in 1675. To Samuel Waters and his wife Mary ten children were born between 1675 and 1696. There is no Rose among them on the record; but sometimes the record was defective, as in the omission of Isabel Bruce, below. Mrs. Rose Bruce died Sept. 21, 1723, aged 53. John Bruce[2] married, 2d, Isabel Lepingwell, May 13, 1724, probably a granddaughter of Michael and Isabel Lepingwell, who were among the first settlers of Woburn, 1642. The name has disappeared from Woburn for nearly a century and a half.

The children of John Bruce were, by first wife, Rose—

24. † Benjamin[3], born in Framingham, April 1, 1698; married Abigail Morse.

Probably there were others.

By second wife, Isabel—born in Woburn—

25. † John[3], born Aug. 8, 1725; married, 1st, Mehitable ——; 2d, Mary ——.
26. Thomas[3], born Jan. 26, 1727.
27. Isabel[3], born ———; died Jan. 25, 1732.
28. † George[3], born May 18, 1732; married Mary Holt.
29. James[3], born Feb. 12, 1733–4.
30. Joseph[3], born June 20, 1735; married Abigail Wyman, Dec. 20, 1758. They had—

Joseph[4], born in Woburn, Aug. 5, 1759; married Mary ——, 1780.

11.

Joseph Bruce[2], brother of the preceding, and son of George[1] and Elizabeth Bruce; born in Woburn, Dec. 29, 1676; married Hannah ——.

They lived in Woburn some years. About 1718, perhaps a little earlier, they removed to Mendon, a town then just recovering from the effects of Indian hostility, in 1675–6, when it was laid utterly waste. He was living in Mendon in 1735, and we think in 1748.

His children were—

31. † George[3], born in Woburn, Sept. 20, 1703; married Abigail Sampson.
32. Joseph[3], born in Woburn; died 1711.
33. Hannah[3], married Joseph Johnson, of Marlboro', March 9, 1729–30. He was probably a native of Woburn.
34. Joseph[3], married Elizabeth ——.
They had —
35. Simon[4], born Feb. 7, 1756.

There were probably others.

Third Generation.

17.

John Bruce[3], (William[2], George[1],) son of William[2] and Elizabeth (Gould) Bruce; born in Woburn, Nov. 9, 1698; married, Jan. 31, 1721, Martha Carter[3], born July 22, 1702, daughter of Timothy[2], who was the third son of Rev. Thomas Carter[1], the first minister of Woburn.

He removed from Woburn to Marlborough about 1740, perhaps earlier. In that town he had a numerous posterity, as may be seen in the History of Marlborough, by Charles Hudson, published in 1862.

The children of John and Martha Bruce, born in Woburn, were—

38. Martha [4], born Dec. 8, 1721; married Thomas Barney, of Sudbury, Jan. 13, 1743.
39. † William [4], born June 8, 1724; married, 1st, Abigail Kendall; 2d, Sarah Kendall.
40. Elizabeth [4], born Aug. 13, 1726.
41. John [4], born March 12, 1729.
42. Timothy [4], born Feb. 27, 1731–2.
43. Mary [4], born Aug. 14, 1734. In the Record she is said to be the daughter of John and Mary Bruce, which we think to be erroneous.

18.

Samuel Bruce [3], (William [2], George [1],) brother of the preceding; born in Woburn, March 11, 1701; married Rebecca Winn, of Woburn, Feb. 20, 1729. They lived in Woburn.

Their children were—

44. Samuel [4], born March 5, 1730.
45. Rebecca [4], born May 8, 1732.
46. Susanna [4], born Dec. 24, 1734.
47. Sarah [4], born Dec. 26, 1740.
48. James [4], born March 11, 1743; married, 1st, Mary Russell; 2d, Joanna Cowdry. He resided at Woburn, and died there, Sept. 8, 1773, aged 30 years.

24.

Benjamin Bruce [3], (John [2], George [1],) son of John [2] and Rose Bruce; born in Framingham, April 1, 1698; married Abigail Morse, of Sherborn, Dec. 16, 1719.

They resided in Framingham till 1727 or '28, and then removed to Mendon, which at that time included Uxbridge, Bellingham, Milford and Blackstone.

Dec. 25, 1729, Benjamin Bruce, of Mendon, sold one hundred acres of land in Mendon.

His children were—born in Framingham—

49. Lois [4], born Oct. 16, 1719 [possibly 1720]; married Deering Jones, of Mendon, April 19, 1744.
50. Eunice [4], born Jan. 27, 1723–4.
51. Jonathan [4], baptized May 15, 1726.

Born in Mendon—

52. Benjamin [4], born Aug. 8, 1728.
53. James [4], born May 4, 1730.

25.

John Bruce [3], (John [2], George [1],) half-brother of the preceding, and son of John [2] and Isabel Bruce; born in Woburn, Aug. 8, 1725; married, 1st, Mehitable ——; 2d, Mary ——.

He lived in Woburn. His children were, by first wife, Mehitable—

54. Mehitable [4], born Nov. 25, 1747; died young.
55. † John [4], born Aug. 29, 1749; married Sarah Johnson.
56. Silas [4], born Oct. 13, 1750.
57. Mehitable [4], born July 12, 1752; married Samuel Winn, of Woburn, Dec. 12, 1771.
58. Mary [4], born Sept. 3, 1754; married Benjamin Fowle, of Woburn, Sept. 4, 1774.
59. Joseph [4], born June 15, 1757; married, Nov. 25, 1783, Ruth (Wright) Richardson, born June 23, 1750, daughter of Deacon John Wright, of Woburn, and widow of Leonard Richardson. After her marriage to Bruce, they removed to Farmington, Conn.

60. Rhoda[4], born Jan. 22, 1761; married Jonathan Tyler of Woburn, May 1, 1781.
61. David[4], born Nov. 1, 1765.

28.

George Bruce[3], (John[2], George[1],) brother of the preceding, son of John[3] and Isabel Bruce; born in Woburn, May 18, 1732; married Mary Holt.

They lived in Woburn; their children were—

62. George[4], born Nov. 1, 1750 [probably 1754]; died young.
63. George[4], born Nov. 1, 1755; married Esther Leathe, of Woburn, Feb. 24, 1778. We find but one child of theirs on record at Woburn, viz.:
    64. George[5], born Oct. 26, 1778.
65. Thomas[4], born March 10, 1757; married Susanna Wyman, of Woburn, Aug. 10, 1780. He is known on the Records of Woburn as Thomas Bruce, Jr., to distinguish him from Thomas Bruce [26].
66. Anna[4], born Jan. 27, 1759; married Charles Richardson, of Stoneham, June 26, 1777.
67. Lewis[4], born Oct. 27, 1761.
68. Mary[4], born Dec. 13, 1763; married Jonathan Eaton, of Woburn, April 19, 1787.
69. Sally[4], born Oct. 30, 1766; married Edward Johnson, of Hollis, N. H., Nov. 13, 1796.

31.

George Bruce[3], (Joseph[2], George[1],) son of Joseph[2] and Hannah Bruce; born in Woburn, Sept. 20, 1703; removed to Mendon with his father about 1718, and there married, July 11, 1727, ABIGAIL SAMPSON[3], youngest daughter of Stephen[2] and Elizabeth Sampson, of Duxbury, and granddaughter of HENRY SAMPSON[1], who came from England in the celebrated voyage of the MAYFLOWER in 1620, when a boy, with his uncle Edward Tilley, one of the Plymouth Pilgrims.*

He resided in Mendon, and died there, Feb. 15, 1768, aged 64. His children, so far as the Mendon records enable us to trace them, were—

70. † George[4], born Feb. 22, 1732; married Hannah Lovett.
71. Abigail[4], born 1730; married John Hazeltine, of Mendon, June 2, 1757.
72. Elizabeth[4], born ——; married John Rawson, of Mendon, May 26, 1761.

It seems probable also that he had a son ——.

75. Joseph[4], of Grafton.

Fourth Generation.

39.

WILLIAM BRUCE[4], (John[3], William[2], George[1],) eldest son of John[3] and Martha (Carter) Bruce; born in Woburn, June 8, 1724; married, 1st, March 10, 1747, ABIGAIL KENDALL, born Dec.

* A full account of the Sampson Family, from the settlement of the country till the present time, is contained in the "GILES MEMORIAL," by the compiler of this volume, issued in 1864.

29, 1722, eldest daughter of Nathaniel and Abigail (Locke) Kendall, of Woburn. She died April 20, 1763, aged 41; mar. 2d, Oct. 25, 1764, Sarah (Wyman) Kendall, widow of John Kendall, who was a son of Nathaniel Kendall, just mentioned, by a second wife, Sarah Carter.

William Bruce accompanied his father to Marlborough about 1740, and there passed the remainder of a long and useful life. He was a cultivator of the soil, and was distinguished for sterling good sense, for a cheerful disposition and earnest piety. He died September, 1803, aged 79.

His children, all by first wife, were—

76. Abigail[5], born Oct. 22, 1747; married Elijah Flagg, July 3, 1764. They dwelt first in Framingham, afterwards in Townsend.
77. Elizabeth[5], born Feb. 20, 1749; married, 1st, John Wilkins, of New Ipswich, N. H., April 4, 1769; 2d, James Spaulding, of New Ipswich. She died March 30, 1841, aged 92.
78. † Nathaniel[6], born Oct. 26, 1753; married Mary Clisby.
79. Zeruiah[5], born Feb. 27, 1755; married Elijah Morse, of New Ipswich. He was in the battle of Bunker Hill, and in the expedition to Quebec, under Arnold, in the winter of 1775–6. The hardships he then endured brought on a chronic rheumatism, which made of him a cripple for life. He died April 27, 1811.

80. † John [5], born Aug. 31, 1757; married Lois Wilkins.
81. Martha [5], born Dec. 10, 1761; married Abel Severance. They resided at Washington, N. H.—[Book of the Lockes. Hudson's History of Marlborough.]

55.

John Bruce [4], (John [3], John [2], George [1],) eldest son of John [3] and Mehitable Bruce; born in Woburn, Aug. 29, 1749; married Sarah Johnson, of Woburn, Nov. 29, 1770.

They lived in Woburn; their children were—

82. Sarah [5], born Feb. 12, 1773.
83. Jonas [5], born March 25, 1775.
84. Abigail [5], born March 16, 1777.
85. Elizabeth [5], born Feb. 6, 1779.
86. John , born April 20, 1781.
87. Cyrus [5], born Feb. 3, 1783.
88. Timothy [5], born Aug. 1, 1785.
89. Polly [5], born Feb. 19, 1788.
90. Fanny [5], born June 14, 1791.

70.

George Bruce [4], (George [3], Joseph [2], George [1],) son of George [3] and Abigail (Sampson) Bruce; born in Mendon, Feb. 22, 1732; married, March 30, 1758, Hannah Lovett, born in Mendon, March 30, 1738, daughter of Phinehas and Hannah Lovett of that place. Phinehas, born July 13, 1711, was son of Daniel and Abigail Lovett, of Mendon. Daniel Lovett, born Sept. 1, 1680, was son of James and Hannah Lovett; and James was son of Daniel Lovett, who came to Mendon from Braintree with the first settlers of that place in 1663. Of Mendon, Daniel Lovett was one of the original proprietors. As already mentioned, Mendon formerly included Uxbridge, Bellingham, Milford and Blackstone.

George Bruce passed most of his life in Mendon. He died in Leicester, May 3, 1785. His wife Hannah died at Billerica, Dec. 18, 1821, aged 83.

The children of George [4] and Hannah Bruce, born in Mendon, were—

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

91. Artemas [5], born April 12, 1759.
92. Phinehas [5], born Jan. 7, 1762; in March, 1795, he married Jane Savage, sister of Hon. James Savage, of Boston. They had five sons and one daughter. (See the latter part of this notice.)
93. Mary [5], born Aug. 20, 1764.
94. Hannah [5], born Dec. 27, 1766; married Daniel Putnam Upton, a lawyer in Eastport. Parents of Hon. George Bruce Upton, of Boston. [See pp. 205, 338.]
95. George [5], born Nov. 21, 1768; died Sept. 4, 1826.
96. Pattee [5], born May 10, 1771; married Nathan Waite; died at Leicester, July 31, 1794.
97. Abigail [5], born July 14, 1773; never married; died March 31, 1843.

Born in Leicester—

98. William [5], born Feb. 14, 1778; died May 22, 1841.
99. Charles [5], born Sept. 29, 1781; died Aug. 29, 1847.

Phinehas Bruce, son of the above George and Hannah Bruce, graduated at Yale College, 1786. He settled as a lawyer in Machias, Me. Hon. William Willis, in his "Law, Courts and Lawyers of Maine," pp. 151, 152, thus speaks of him:

"Sixty years ago—[dating back from 1863]—he had a name and a fame. He was the first lawyer that entered into practice in the County of Washington. He came to Machias in 1790. He was a good lawyer, and highly esteemed for his integrity and his ability to investigate and analyze any subject to which he applied his powers; but from excessive modesty and diffidence, he never became a successful advocate. He represented the town of Machias in the legislature eight years, from 1793, and was the only representative to the General Court [of Massachusetts] during that time from the county. In 1803 he was elected to the Eighth Congress, which commenced its term in 1804. But a violent attack of hypochondriasis, to which he had been subject, occurring at this time, prevented his taking his seat; and before the close of his term he became of unsound mind, and continued insane until his death, which took place in Uxbridge, Mass., Oct. 4, 1809. His widow died in Cambridge, Mass., in 1854, a. 86."

NATHANIEL BRUCE[5], (William[4], John[3], William[2], George[1],) son of William[4] and Abigail (Kendall) Bruce; born in Marlborough, Mass., Oct. 26, 1753; married, Oct. 13, 1774, MARY CLISBY, who was born 1747, and died Oct. 18, 1829, aged 82.

He resided in Marlborough, was a farmer, a man of much respectability, and noted for wit and humor. He died July 6, 1834, aged 80.

His children, born in Marlborough, were—

101. William[6], born Aug. 2, 1776; married Mary Bruce.
102. Abigail[6], born March 26, 1778; married David Smith. She died June 4, 1832.
103. Moses[6], born April 10, 1780; married Susanna Bruce.
104. Hannah[6], born 1782; died 1782.
105. Ezekiel[6], born Aug. 1, 1784; married Betsey Smith.
106. Calvin[6], born July 6, 1788; married, 1st, Lydia Williams; 2d, Helen M. W. Carr. He was a merchant in Boston, where he died, Sept. 18, 1848, without issue.—[Book of the Lockes, p. 152.]

80.

Rev. JOHN BRUCE[5], (William[4], John[3], William[2], George[1],) brother of the preceding; born in Marlborough, Aug. 31, 1757; married, Dec.

15, 1785, Lois Wilkins, daughter of Josiah Wilkins, of Marlborough.

He graduated at Dartmouth College, 1781; studied Divinity with Rev. Benjamin Brigham, in Fitzwilliam, N. H.; was ordained, Nov. 3, 1785, pastor of the Second Church in Amherst, N. H., which, by the separation of the north-west part of Amherst in 1803, became the church in Mount Vernon. Of that church he was pastor twenty-three years, till his death, March 12, 1809, aged 51 years, 6 months. He was respectable as a man, and as a clergyman.

His children, all born in Mt. Vernon, were—

107. John[6], born Feb. 11, 1788; married Dolly Durant. He was a deacon of the church in Mount Vernon, and died there Jan. 20, 1872.
108. James[6], born Nov. 5, 1789; married, 1st, Sarah Parker; 2d, Elizabeth Wheelwright, of Boston.
109. William[6], born Aug. 7, 1791; married Hannah Jones.
110. Lois[6], born Sept. 20, 1793; married William S. Stinson, of Mount Vernon.
111. Nathaniel[6], born July 26, 1795; married, 1st, Frances Tay; 2d, Lucy Butterfield.
112. Frances[6], born Feb. 16, 1799; married Louis F. Peabody. They live in Orange, Vt.

INDEX III.

NAMES OF PERSONS WHO HAVE MARRIED DESCENDANTS OF JOHN UPTON.

The year of Marriage, when known to the compiler, precedes the name. The figures after the name denote the consecutive number belonging to the Descendant with whom the marriage was contracted.

The interrogation point [?] implies doubt as to the year.
